BANK PROBLEM MAY SPEED UP EXTRA SESSION

Roosevelt Policy on Trade Awaited.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—The resplendent national capital, already overflowing with visitors, is awaiting the arrival of President Elect Roosevelt tomorrow for his inauguration on Saturday. This distressed nation, quivering with mingled anxiety and hope, is eagerly watching for a harbinger of his promised "new deal."

With the banking panic spreading to new regions and thereby adding to the gravity of the depression, the rumor has run like wildfire through the capital that the new President is to make a spectacular move to restore tranquillity and confidence, either in his inaugural address or immediately thereafter. An immediate convocation of the new congress is regarded a strong possibility.

Await Important Action.

Democratic leaders here are privately saying a commanding gesture is what the situation calls for and that is what they expect of Mr. Roosevelt as soon as he takes the oath of office. For this reason they attach much significance to Mr. Roosevelt's summons to William H. Woodin, his choice for secretary of the treasury, to confer in New York today. They believe that the Roosevelt program of emergency action in the new crisis is now being shaped by the President elect, Mr. Woodin and other advisers.

It appears that Mr. Roosevelt was strongly urged by Democratic leaders and business men for several days to issue a reassuring statement to the public, either independently or in conjunction with President Hoover. He declined to do so, declaring it contrary to his conception of the proprieties to take a step of this character before becoming President in fact.

Hope for Quick Change.

Those Democratic "new dealers" with an eye to the main chance of making political capital are wholly content with Mr. Roosevelt's policy of hands off right up to the moment he takes the oath. As they view the situation, the economic condition of the country, which has slumped violently in the last fortnight, will have reached its lowest depths as the Republican régime comes to an end at noon Saturday. Then in comes Roosevelt, waves the magician's wand and things begin to pick up at once, stock market hitting the upgrade and all that the more optimistic "new dealers" anticipate. Of course, this would make Roosevelt look like the savior of his country. The devout "new dealers" already are hailing him as that.

Many Democratic leaders are exhibiting much alarm as the bank scare spreads beyond Michigan, Ohio, and Maryland, where withdrawal of deposits has been wholly or partially suspended.

Capital Banks Affected.

Congress has had visual evidence of the bank scare and the wave of hoarding right at its doors in the last three days as runs on numerous Washington banks have developed, while the Commercial National bank closed its doors, the District National bank limited withdrawals to five per cent, and numerous savings banks invoked the 60 day notice clause.

Democratic leaders in the house were saying today the emergency that has developed clearly calls for the meeting of the new congress as soon after March 4 as is physically possible, in any event before April, the tentative time fixed for the extraordinary session. Some of them intend to urge Mr. Roosevelt in the strongest terms to issue the call at once for a session to convene not later than March 20. It is not doubted that Representative Henry T. Rainey [Dem., Ill.], if chosen for speaker in the Democratic caucus tomorrow night, will take the leadership in this move.

Robinson Remains Neutral.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.] denied that he contemplated urging the President elect to call the new congress at once. He said that was a matter for Roosevelt to decide. The Arkansas senator has held all along that a definite program should be developed before calling congress. He does not see what congress could do to allay the bank scare, except by legislating to guarantee bank deposits, a measure to which he is cold. The Glass banking reform bill would help a good deal, in his opinion. That measure, passed by the senate, has

HOUSE PASSES STATE REPEAL BY 5 TO 1 VOTE

Horner Says He'll Sign at Once.

Illinois house committee recommends 3 per cent sales tax bill for passage over downstate opposition; final vote expected next week.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner will sign measures repealing the Illinois prohibition and search and seizure laws the moment they reach his desk, he said late today. The house approved senate action this morning by sending a repealer to victory by the rousing vote of 120 to 25—the largest liberal count ever registered in that body.

Two weeks ago today the senate repealed the blue laws, and these bills went speedily to third reading in the house and carried this morning. Any fears that the governor would withhold his signature until measures regulating the manufacture, sale and use of intoxicating beverages were passed by the assembly were quickly dispelled after the house action. Regulatory measures now stand on third reading in the senate.

Promises to Sign at Once.

"The regulations are coming along in fine shape," said the governor. "I shall sign the repealers immediately."

Impetus to the determined move to place Illinois among the first of the states to ratify congressional repeal legislation was also given today by introduction in the house of a committee bill calling for a convention of 25 delegates from the state at large, which would meet in Springfield July 10.

Forecasts 20% Slash in Next Tax Valuations

A substantial reduction in 1932 realty assessments was promised yesterday by Assessor J. L. Jacobs, who accompanied the announcement with a warning to taxpayers to beware of tax associations which prey on the public. Money spent on such organizations is wasted, he said, and it deprives the taxpayer of the benefits of the promised reductions.

The assessor explained that the reductions will reflect the shrinkage in general realty values between April 1, 1931, and April 1, 1932. He said that rough calculations already completed in his office indicate that the decrease in values may amount to 20 per cent of the 1931 assessment.

Sees Cut for All Chicago.

"I want the taxpayers of Chicago and Cook county to know well in advance that there will be a universal reduction," Assessor Jacobs said. "Despite the fact that the quadrennial revaluation for 1931 decreased by almost 30 per cent the average realty values, the 1932 values will shrink still lower.

"In conjunction with reductions in valuations, tax bills are reduced. This is bound to happen whether taxpayers employ lawyers or join wildcat tax services, associations, or organizations which prey upon the uninformed taxpayer, or whether they save their money to pay tax bills. The money spent in fighting taxes may better be saved to pay taxes.

Speaks from Experience.

"During the time we were making the 1931 assessment we found that the ignorance of citizens who had no knowledge that there would be drastic reductions in values was the chief stock in trade of these associations. Most of the time when taxpayers were informed by my deputies of the valuations made in the general course of business in my office they were more than satisfied.

"This fact is borne out by the number of persons who are appearing every day at my office to confer with deputies before filing complaints against their 1931 valuations.

"I have placed a staff of clerks under the direction of the board of tax appeals. These men have access to my assessment records and every potential objector is directed to consult with these clerks before filing his complaint. Ninety per cent of those who come to object to their taxes leave the office satisfied."

COLORED FOLKS TO HAVE THEIR OWN INAUGURAL

A mock presidential inauguration will be presented by leading colored citizens of Chicago in the Savoy ballroom at 47th street and South parkway next Monday evening. The affair is sponsored by the South parkway branch of the Y. W. C. A., and proceeds will go to the association's budget fund.

The part of the new President will be taken in the mock ceremony by Dr. Carl Roberts, while the outgoing President will be represented by Lucius Harper, managing editor of the Chicago Defender. Feminine notables who will be impersonated include Mrs. Dolly Gann, Judge Florence Allen, Gov. Miriam Ferguson of Texas, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen.

A guard of honor for the ceremonies will be furnished by the 8th Infantry regiment and the police force.

Thin, Plump Said to Live in Worlds Apart

Durham, N. C., March 1.—(AP)—The slight prick of a pin, when unexpected, causes less pain to a slender person than to a thickset individual. It may even be painless to the slender one.

These and other experiments showing that the two great human body types live in such different worlds that they may not hope to understand each other fully were reported by Elizabeth Enke, of the University of Marburg, Prussia, in "Character and Personality." This scientific quarterly of international psychology has its American editorial headquarters here at Duke university.

The tests were made with electrodes attached to the arms in a setup similar to "lie detectors." They recorded the internal turmoil and electrical currents of even the most poker faced persons.

Feelings in Three Classes.

They showed, according to Miss Enke's conclusions, that among 100 healthy individuals of both sexes from 17 to 70, feelings were divided into three classes, each one corresponding to one of the three great body builds.

The three were athletic, "pyknic," and "lepsotome." "Pyknic" means "well rounded, thickset, with short limbs, enjoyers of eating and drinking, and all the material pleasures." "Lepsotome" means slim bodied and slender limbed.

In most tests the thin ones showed about twice the internal turmoil of the thickset "pyknics," even though some of the slim "lepsotomes" were facially cool as ice.

Slender Ones Surprised.

But in a pin-prick test conditions were mostly reversed. Here the thickset showed the strongest and most lasting reactions. They almost without exception afterward referred to their "pain." But the slender suffered so little that many were surprised to learn that they had been pricked. Some described the sensation as merely an "unpleasant touch."

The thickset showed frequently an ability to react more quickly than the thin, which was interpreted to mean that they could get the result out of their systems with one quick surge, and return to internal calm.

The impossibility of mutual understanding between these two types, Miss Enke states, becomes "perfectly intelligible." The athletic build rated about midway between the other two, except that the athletics took longer than either of the others to reach their maximum internal excitement.

Home Unhurt; Held 16 Days; Ransom Paid?

BULLETIN.

Denver, Colo., March 1.—(AP)—"All obligations in the case have been fulfilled," Claude K. Boettcher said tonight after the excitement of the return of his kidnaped son had died down. He would not say definitely whether $60,000 ransom had been paid.

"This is the beginning, not the end, of the case," the multimillionaire industrialist continued. "I might say this is the end of one story and the beginning of another. What the outcome of the second story will be remains to be seen."

Denver, Colo., March 1.—[Special.]—Charles Boettcher II., 11 year old heir to one of the largest fortunes in Colorado, was released tonight by kidnapers who seized him on Feb. 12 and demanded a ransom of $60,000.

He was let out of an automobile at a street corner about two miles from his home and immediately communicated with his father, Claude K. Boettcher. Father and son met soon afterward at the home of a friend, Sidney Sinsheimer, president of the American Beet Sugar company. It was reported that the kidnaped man appeared to be in good health and that he had been well treated by his captors.

Father Offered to Pay.

Whether a ransom was paid was not definitely determined. Since the abduction the elder Boettcher had made no secret of the fact that he was ready to pay. He even criticized the police for not allowing him to deal without interference with the kidnapers. Chief of Police Albert T. Clark, however, asserted, after talking briefly with Boettcher Sr., that no money had been paid. The chief left soon afterward to meet the Boettchers.

Denver policemen were at once put to work searching for the car in which the kidnaped man, who is president of his father's brokerage concern, Boettcher & Newton, was taken to the spot where he was given his freedom.

Outside police forces also were asked to aid. At Brighton, in Adams county, deputy sheriffs attempted to stop a car answering the description of the kidnapers' and fired several shots when the driver failed to obey their commands. The men in the car escaped.

Some Believe Ransom Paid.

It is generally believed that the ransom of $60,000 was paid. Reports were current that Dr. John Foster, a friend of the Boettchers, handed over the amount at a rendezvous near the Denver stockyards.

Boettcher's story of his captivity, as relayed from the Sinesheimer home, indicated that he could give little information of value in tracing the abductors.

"I was kept blindfolded from the start," he said. "I was driven a long way in a small auto and was kept in a basement. I never saw any of my captors. They took off the blindfold twice to allow me to write letters, but when that was done the men stood behind me and I never had a good look at any of them."

Three Men Free Him.

There were three men, Boettcher said, in the car which brought him back to Denver. One rode in the back seat with him. The trio sped away after releasing him.

The kidnaping was done in the garage of the Boettcher home at 777 Washington avenue. Accompanied by his wife, Boettcher was returning from a party when two armed men met him. They ordered him out of his car. As he complied one of the pair handed Mrs. Boettcher a note, saying: "Give this to Claude."

Fails to Identify Suspects.

This note contained the demand for ransom. Claude Boettcher followed the commands. The police, acting independently after the first few days, rounded up numerous members of alcohol gangs, but none was identified by Mrs. Boettcher.

The kidnaped Boettcher is the grandson of Charles Boettcher, who founded sugar and cement mills in Colorado and became one of the state's wealthiest citizens.

Tries to Feed His Cat and Loses His Life

Raymond Bartlett, 33 years old, of 14 Wisconsin avenue, Waukegan, lost his life last night because he tried to feed his cat. Intending to set down a saucer of milk on the floor, Bartlett stooped sharply and struck his head on the kitchen sink. His skull was fractured, causing death.

CERMAK'S LUNG CLEARING UP, X-RAY REVEALS

Dr. Meyer Returning to Chicago.

Miami, Fla., March 2 (Thursday).—(Special.)—A bulletin issued at 2:30 a. m. read as follows: "Mayor Cermak is resting comfortably after seven hours in the oxygen chamber. His respiration is slower at 30 and his pulse is less rapid at 114."

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami, Fla., March 1.—[Special.]—With the pneumonia in his right lung virtually cleared up, but by no means out of danger, Mayor Cermak of Chicago slept tonight in a spiral oxygen chamber which was rushed by special airplane from New York.

A bulletin issued shortly before midnight stated that the mayor's difficulty in breathing had been "somewhat alleviated" by the oxygen pumped into the large chamber in which his bed now rests.

"His condition remains unchanged from yesterday," the bulletin continued. "Hiccoughs have been a minor annoyance today. The colitis is still present, but less severe. Pulse, 118; respiration, 32; temperature not taken."

Bullet Touches Liver.

Dr. J. W. Snyder, who issued the bulletin, said the continued presence of the colitis probably was due to peritoneal absorption of blood from the liver wound. The patient's liver was nicked by the bullet, which punctured his lung and lodged in his body near the spinal cord.

The only disquieting factor is the white blood count of 25,000, indicating the presence of infection. The normal count should be 8,000 or 9,000.

"The hiccoughs were not constant, but they constitute, nevertheless, a real menace," said Dr. Snyder. "They are weakening and the mayor is feeble enough at present without having his strength sapped by further irritations.

"He will remain in the oxygen chamber for several days at least. He seems to rest easier in it. The continued presence of the colitis makes his condition still extremely critical until it is checked. There is no reason yet for undue optimism."

However, Dr. Karl Meyer of Chicago was so confident of the mayor's eventual recovery that he left tonight on a train for Chicago. He said he felt that his services were no longer essential at the mayor's bedside. His duties in connection with the Cook County hospital necessitate his presence in Chicago.

Lung's Condition Better.

An X-ray of the mayor's lungs revealed that the inflammatory area at the base of the right lung has been practically healed. In three short days, the physicians marveled, the pneumonia had invaded the lung, had doubled in area in the first twelve hours, and had then subsided.

The X-ray also showed no evidence of any abscess such as sometimes develops in pneumonia.

Just before the bed upon which he lies was rolled into the oxygen room tonight the mayor was given another intravenous injection of a glucose solution. These injections had been stopped yesterday when the patient began swallowing small quantities of broth, gruel, and other liquids, but he did not get enough nourishment in that manner to give him the strength he needs, the doctors stated.

Another Favorable Bulletin.

A bulletin tonight from Dr. Frederick Tice stated that the mayor was continuing the restful sleep which he enjoyed most of the afternoon. It continued:

"He is comfortable and has taken considerable nourishment during the day. Temperature, 99.4; respiration, 26; pulse, 116."

The mayor showed some apprehension when his bed was pushed into the oxygen room, but his respiration soon became less rapid when he began breathing the oxygen laden air which was being pumped into the room.

Will Donate Room to Hospital.

The oxygen room was erected in a sun parlor adjacent to the sick room. The room, which cost $1,000 and which will be donated by Mayor Cermak to the hospital, he told the doctors, is eight feet long, seven feet wide, and seven feet high. The walls are of a green rubberized material. Large isinglass windows admit plenty of light.

Four tanks of oxygen are connected to an intricate apparatus which feeds the oxygen into the room by means of a large flexible aluminum pipe eight inches in diameter. A similar pipe takes out the used air.

Small oxygen tents which had been placed over the upper part of the mayor's body for three days, beginning last Saturday, were removed yesterday when the patient complained that he was hot and uncomfortable under them. A special cooling system keeps the new oxygen room at a temperature of about 65 degrees.

The only pessimistic note sounded today, in contrast to the opinions of most of the physicians in the case, came from Dr. Walter Wile Hamburger, heart specialist, who is not in steady attendance at the bedside, but looks in every second day.

"I confess I remain very dubious," said Dr. Hamburger. "The others think the mayor has improved, but I do not think so. He is a very, very sick man."

Dr. E. S. Nichol of Miami, who has consistently been the most conservative in his reports, also refused to be too cheerful about the mayor's outlook.

"I see no gain in his strength since yesterday," he declared. "Although there was an improvement in the 24 hours preceding yesterday, he has just about held his own recently.

"From the electro-cardiograph standpoint, we cannot say that the heart has deteriorated any in the last few days. There is relatively little change shown in the heart action except the variances that result from the use of digitalis. The mayor has now become digitalized, and we merely use a maintenance dose to keep him at that level."

Drs. Frederick Tice, Frank Jirka, and J. W. Snyder joined with Dr. Meyer in expressing confidence that the mayor will recover. They emphasized, however, that they could make no definite statement as to that recovery. A statement that he is surely on the road to recovery would be extremely premature, they stated.

Squelches Zangara Rumor.

Frederick D. Breit of Chicago, former sanitary district trustee, today visited Guiseppe Zangara, the gunman who fired five bullets at President Elect Roosevelt, missing him and wounding Mayor Cermak and three others. Mr. Breit said he wished to check on rumors which he said were still frequent in Chicago that gangsters there had hired Zangara to kill the mayor.

Zangara told Breit, as he has told scores of others, that he had never heard of Mayor Cermak before and that he was sorry he had shot him.

SEIZE PAL OF ZANGARA

Ludwig Rahmer, 40 years old, 923 North Racine avenue, a chef out of work, was seized yesterday by United States secret service operatives, who said he had written a letter of congratulations to Giuseppe Zangara following the shooting of Mayor Cermak in Miami.

The letter which bore Rahmer's return address was in a crude code, mostly unintelligible, and bore references to Mayor Cermak and to President Hoover, giving the latter's Palo Alto, Cal., address. It told Zangara he had done a good job. The letter was opened by the Miami police.

Rahmer was questioned by Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, head of the secret service in Chicago, and then was sent to the psychopathic hospital for observation. He denied writing the letter, but admitted having known Zangara when both of them worked in Hackensack, N. J. Capt. Callaghan left last evening one day earlier than he had contemplated, for Washington, where he will be on duty at the Roosevelt inaugural.

PARTY RIVALRY BIDS IOWA CORN TO $33 A BUSHEL

Clear Lake, Ia., March 1. — (AP) — Democrats and Republicans joined at an auction sale today to send the price of Iowa corn skyrocketing to $33 a bushel when grain purchased by the Corn Exchange bank as a "business booster" was sold.

The grain has been kept in circular cribs in the middle of Clear Lake's main street since it was purchased for 25 cents a bushel and the price paid to farmers in "corn money," a local substitute for currency.

At today's auction, under the direction of Sheriff Jack Robinson, Democrats bid in the bushel at $16.50. George Sheridan added $6 to send the bushel to President Elect Roosevelt.

Republicans, not to be outdone, took the second bushel at $30 through Sam Kennedy's bid and Axel Thompson added $3 to send the G. O. P. corn to President Hoover.

The Republicans united again and the third bushel went for $26. The bidding continued at lower figures as the 12,200 bushels, the entire quantity purchased were sold.

All "corn money" will be redeemed March 25, for cash.

CERMAK BETTER; FRIENDS WILL GO TO INAUGURATION

2 Special Trains to Carry State Democrats.

Continued good news of Mayor Cermak's condition yesterday made it certain that Illinois and Chicago will, except for his presence, have a full delegation at the inauguration ceremonies in Washington.

For days plans for the official train, the "Cermak special," were held in abeyance. There also was thought of cancelling arrangements for another special train planned by President Whealan of the county board. But it was announced last night that both trains, filled to capacity, would leave here for the capital tomorrow afternoon.

Hundreds of Others to Go.

It also became certain that Gov Horner, other state leaders, and city and county officials whose plans were in doubt as long as Mayor Cermak's condition was extremely grave will be on hand to witness the ceremonies.

In addition to the 400 or more who will be on the special trains, hundreds of other Illinoisans and Chicagoans are to go eastward "on their own." Some of them already have started.

Already the vanguard of distinguished delegations has begun to pass through the city en route to the capital. One group that went through yesterday was from Wisconsin and included Gov. A. G. Schmedeman, C. W. Broughton, Democratic national committeeman, and Congressman C. W. Henny.

Attention also was attracted by the brief visit of Francis A. Bishop, 92 year old civil war veteran, who is said to be the oldest holder of the congressional medal of honor. With his wife he was traveling from his home near Seattle to accept a special invitation to sit in the reviewing stand on Saturday.

The "Cermak special," arrangements for which are being handled by George Ross at the Democratic headquarters in the Morrison hotel, will leave over the Baltimore and Ohio at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Horner to Head Party.

Gov. Horner will come to Chicago to head the official party which will include several other state officers, among them Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, State Treasurer John C. Martin, and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan also will be aboard the train if he can wind up pending business matters in time.

This train also will carry several city officials headed by Controller M. S. Szymczak and Collector E. J. Kaindl. The city group will also include a number of aldermen. The county political organization group will be headed by Chairman P. A. Nash and A. J. Horan.

The Whealan special will include county officials and their wives. Among them, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Whealan, will be County Clerk Sweitzer and Mrs. Sweitzer and County Recorder Clayton F. Smith and Mrs. Smith.

This train will also leave over the Baltimore and Ohio and departs at 1:40 tomorrow afternoon, twenty minutes ahead of the Cermak special.

PROCLAMATION OF VOTE RESULTS TO BE MADE TODAY

County Judge Jarecki announced yesterday that a proclamation of the votes cast at Tuesday's aldermanic election, in which six siting aldermen were defeated and four others were thrown into runoff elections on April 4, would be issued today by the board of election commissioners.

The proclamation will show the exact total of the votes received by official aldermanic candidates and the unofficial aspirants who had their names written in on the ballots.

In the wake of the election, John Doe warrants charging assault with a deadly weapon were sworn out before Municipal Judge Leon Edelman at the request of Ralph Fordney, 2248 North Clark street, a precinct captain for Mathias [Paddy] Bauler, who was elected alderman in the 43d ward. Fordney charged that five men had assaulted him, declaring that they were workers for Ald. James B. Waller, who was defeated for re-election.

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith demands that the Democratic party rid itself of "bigots, fanatics, populists, demagogues, mountebanks, and crackpots" in his editorial article in the March issue of the New Outlook. He also, among other things, offers the Roosevelt administration a program for cutting the federal pay roll, urges that real estate be relieved of taxes for the support of education, and advocates a temporary moratorium on foreclosures throughout the country.

"The Democratic party," said Mr. Smith, "in my opinion must rid itself of the counsels of the minority of bigots, fanatics, populists, demagogues, mountebanks, and crackpots who masquerade as leaders and give the party a bad name with sensible people; the fanatics who dragged religion and liquor into politics, the populists who blighted the party for so many years with their free silver and other economic heresies, the demagogues who support the opposing party more than half the time and who are without loyalty to person or principle, the mountebanks with their clownish antics and their irresponsible ravings against millionaires and big business."

Offers Economy Program.

Declaring that the taxpayers have a right to demand economy in the federal pay roll, Mr. Smith suggested the following program to the Roosevelt administration:

"1. Abolish immediately all positions not obviously necessary for the conduct of the government.

"2. Retain in the service, irrespective of party, all present officials of conspicuous ability and long service.

"3. Pick out for exceptional treatment, on an entirely nonpolitical basis, key positions in each department, and let them be filled by the head of the department entirely on his own discretion and with full responsibility for appointing the kind of people who will make the administration of the department a success.

"4. Fill the rest of the positions through recommendation of the local political leaders in the usual way, holding them responsible for selecting competent persons."

Proposes Education Relief.

Mr. Smith said that he was convinced that the "best single remedy" to relieve real estate from its heavy tax burden was "to transfer the cost of education from the locality to the state wherever this can be done." He said the state should finance educational costs through taxes raised otherwise than on real estate. School districts should be reorganized, he added, for greater efficiency and elimination of waste.

"Legislation proposed at Washington," he went on, "to establish an emergency system of mortgage arbitration by boards or agents appointed by the federal courts seems to me the most promising of all the plans for national mortgage relief affecting farms, city property, and property of corporations, such as railroads, which face foreclosure by bondholders.

Arbitration Advocated.

"Similar plans are proposed by a number of states affecting state foreclosure machinery. This is good judgment. It insures intelligent, orderly procedure in place of riots and disorder. It leaves the borrower in charge of his property without destroying the rights and the investments of the lender.

"It is the same principle which was applied with success in the case of the so-called rent laws in New York and other states, which protected the tenant who was in arrears from summary action by the landlord. These were temporary emergency measures upheld by the courts under the police power. They were repealed when the emergency ended. The dire consequences predicted by the landlords never materialized. It is a good principle to apply throughout the nation at this time. Let us have a temporary moratorium on foreclosures."

Georgia Boy Ends Pony Ride to Inauguration

Washington, D. C., March 1.—(AP)—Toby Cook, 7 year old Georgia boy, completed his pony ride from his home at Chula, Ga., to the national capital this afternoon to be the inaugural guest of President Elect Roosevelt. The boy was five pounds lighter from his ride of more than 800 miles which began Feb. 13. On his arrival, the boy rider was greeted by Senator Russell of Georgia.

SUE TO FORECLOSE MORTGAGE ON OLD FLATIRON BUILDING

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—A suit to foreclose a mortgage on the Flatiron building, for many years after its erection in 1901 one of the city's points of interest, was filed in the Supreme court today by the Equitable Life Assurance Society against the Flatiron Building corporation, the United States Realty & Improvement company, at one time interested in the building, and others. The complaint asks that the property in the triangle bounded by Broadway, Fifth avenue, Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets be sold because of default on a mortgage on which $1,175,000 is due.

The suit is brought on the ground that the owner defaulted in the payment of the principal when due, and that semi-annual interest has been unpaid since Dec. 1 last.

MAYOR KLINE OF PITTSBURGH GETS JAIL TERM

Butler, Pa., March 1.—[Special.]—Mayor Charles H. Kline of Pittsburgh, today was sentenced to six months in jail, fined $5,000 and ousted from office. The action followed a futile plea for a new trial on his conviction of malfeasance.

The mayor's counsel immediately announced intention of appealing and Judge Thomas D. Finletter granted a supersedeas, staying the jail sentence, fine and ousting from office.

If the appeal fails, and the State Supreme court again refuses to review his case, the mayor will be sent to the Alleghany county jail.

There he will join his deposed director of supplies, Bertram L. Succop, already serving a year's sentence for the same offense on which the mayor was convicted.

HUEY LONG SUED FOR $500,000 ON SLANDER CHARGE

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Brig. Gen. Samuel T. Ansell, counsel for the senate committee investigating the election to the senate of John E. Overton of Louisiana, today challenged Senator Huey Long of the same state to meet him in the district courts and thresh out the question of whether the "Kingfish" had been guilty of slander in a recent senate speech.

In the speech referred to Senator Long had denounced Ansell in violent language as a "scoundrel, thief, and crook."

Changes Mind on Immunity.

To afford a basis for action, Gen. Ansell filed suit for $500,000 against Long in the district Supreme court. Ansell asserted that Senator Long in a speech in the senate on Feb. 21, 1933, had declared: "I invite him [Ansell] to sue me in any court of competent jurisdiction and I will not defend the suit except on the ground that he is a scoundrel and a thief and a rascal and a crook and has been determined to be such by an investigating committee of congress."

The Ansell suit asks $250,000 punitive and $250,000 compensatory damages. It is based on the assertion by Senator Long that he expressly waived his senatorial immunity when he spoke on the senate floor. In ruling on the case the judge is expected to determine whether a member of congress has authority to waive his immunity from legal action for speeches made on the floor. Later in the afternoon Senator Long said he would not waive his immunity to be tried in the district courts, but would waive immunity if the suit were filed in Louisiana.

Result of Election Inquiry.

The speech from which the action originated was delivered by Senator Long in attacking the procedure of the senatorial committee in the investigation of the Overton election.

Gen. Ansell claimed that he was defamed by Long in the following "false, scandalous, malicious, and defamatory" matter: that he forged his own appointment as judge advocate general of the United States army; that "this scoundrel, the advisor of the chairman [of the senate committee] was condemned by the government as a thief and a scoundrel and a crook."

VOLSTEAD WILL LOSE U. S. JOB AS DRY ATTORNEY

Minneapolis, March 1.—(AP)—The Journal today said Andrew J. Volstead of St. Paul, author of the prohibition enforcement act, and now legal adviser for the northwest prohibition unit, is slated to be relieved of his duties soon after the Democratic national administration takes office Saturday.

According to the Journal, it was reported that Willard J. Moran, St. Paul attorney, probably would succeed Volstead. Moran has been acting chairman of the Veterans' Democratic club and was active in support of the Roosevelt campaign.

JUDGE UPHOLDS STATE FARMER IN MILK BATTLE

BY PAUL POTTER.

Circuit Judge Thomas Taylor Jr. in a ruling yesterday declared that any farmer in Illinois who applies to the Chicago board of health to inspect his dairy farm is entitled to such inspection, and that failure to provide this inspection in the case of George Dimmell, a McHenry county farmer, amounted to a boycott.

Judge Taylor in his decision overruled the Chicago board of health's demurrer against Dimmell's petition for a writ of mandamus to compel Dr. H. N. Bundesen, president of the board, to inspect his farm. The judge ordered that the mandamus writ be presented to him this morning. The board is given five days to answer the petition.

First of Several Cases.

Dimmell's case is the first of a number being brought by dairy farmers in McHenry, Kane, and Boone counties, who have been refused inspection of their farms under a ruling issued in June, 1932, by Dr. Bundesen. This ruling was that the city had a sufficient milk supply under inspection, that it had no funds to inspect new farms, and that every dairy farmer had been given ample opportunity in recent years to meet the city ordinance requirements in milk sanitation.

Judge Taylor held that citizens of the state could not be prevented by the city or its agencies from finding a market for their products in Chicago. He held the city council to be within its rights in establishing health requirements for the milk supply, but declared that the board of health in refusing to examine the Demmill farm had caused Demmill to be "ostracized."

Right of State Citizens.

"He has a right taken from him which is common to all citizens of the state," Judge Taylor ruled. "He is in the caprice, so to speak, of the health department. If there is one thing more than another, the charge here would be that he is being boycotted."

Bernard R. Garner, attorney for Demmill and some 200 farmers who are members of the Northern Illinois Coöperative Milk association, said that when the writ was issued there would be some 500 more Illinois farmers in position to market milk in Chicago than now are able to do so.

Garner predicted the Taylor decision, if upheld in higher courts, would cause a readjustment in the entire milk production areas of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana.

HOLD INQUEST IN SCHILDHAUER CASE TOMORROW

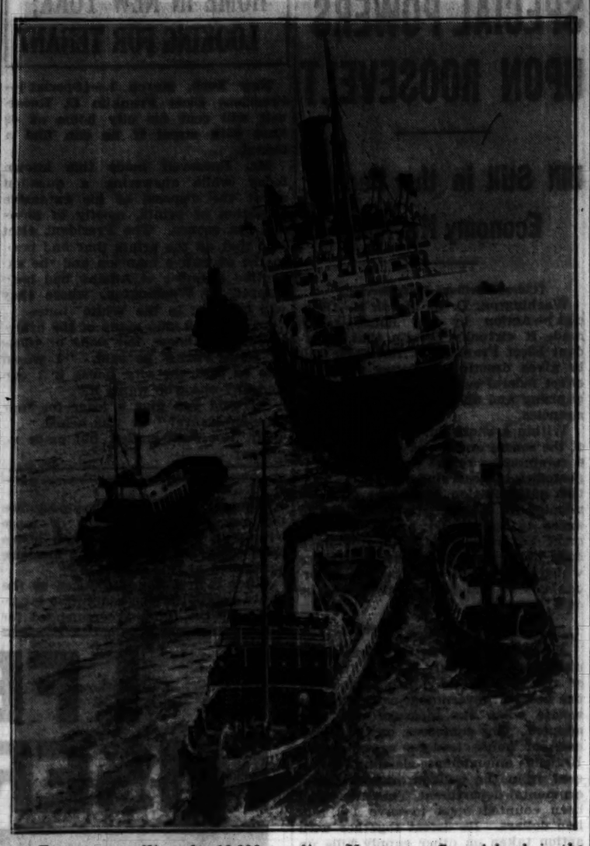

Police Capt. John Stege said last night he had arranged to present to a coroner's jury tomorrow all the evidence the police have obtained in their 3 months' investigation of the murder of Edwin O. Schildhauer, bandmaster of the Austin High school, whose body was tossed from an automobile in Cicero on the night of Dec. 10 after he had been shot twice in the head.

"We will present evidence which convinces us," said Stege, "that Schildhauer was not abducted from in front of his home as his wife, Frances, said, but rather that he was shot while in the alley back of his home."

Bathing Suits of Rubber O. K.'d for City Beaches

William Ball, Chicago salesman for a rubber manufacturing company, called on Walter Wright, superintendent of the city bureau of parks, beaches, and aviation, yesterday to ask Mr. Wright's approval of rubber bathing suits. After examining the samples submitted, Mr. Wright gave formal permission for their use on Chicago beaches next summer. "They're modest enough, and they cover the person," he commented.

INSULL'S WIFE QUITS PARIS ON TRAIN TO GREECE

Says She Is Going to Meet Husband.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 1.—Another one of those secret Insull stage exits was effected at the Gare de Lyon this evening, with Mrs. Samuel Insull doing the disappearing act and Athens as her apparent destination.

"You can say I am joining my husband," she said as she stepped into the Trieste-Athens coach of the Simplon express. She refused, however, to answer when asked if the meeting would take place in the Greek capital.

Leaves Without Farewell.

Mrs. Insull left her hotel without any rush or farewell at 6:30 p. m., accompanied by a tall, dark, handsome young man and carrying a box of flowers, which reached her room a few minutes before his arrival.

After having the baggage, which was all marked with her maid's name, piled into a passing taxi, Mrs. Insull got in and her escort whispered instructions to the chauffeur.

Disembarking at the Gare de Lyon, she took the young man's arm and walked to the platform, where the American Express agent was awaiting her. She was dressed in a light brown fur coat and wore a brown velvet hat. Her escort wore a camel's hair overcoat with a wide red scarf protruding.

Angered by Questions.

Approached by THE TRIBUNE correspondent as she was getting into the coach, Mrs. Insull turned angrily and said:

"How did you find out I was going away?"

Then, "Can't you see I'm sick?" she continued.

"Will you tell me where you are going?" the correspondent asked.

"What do you care!" snapped Mrs. Insull.

JAPAN TO REMAIN IN ARMS PARLEY DESPITE BREAK WITH LEAGUE

GENEVA, March 1.—(AP)—Uncertainty regarding Japan's relationship to the world disarmament conference, created when the Japanese delegation withdrew from the league of nations assembly following that body's condemnation of Japan's actions in Manchuria, was dissipated today by formal notification to the conference chairman that the Tokio government will continue to participate. The Japanese minister at Berne called upon Arthur Henderson, the chairman, to report his government's decision. Subordinate members of the Japanese delegation have attended meetings since the break with the assembly, but have not participated in the debates. The Japanese seat at today's meeting of the league council was empty also.

SET MARCH 14 FOR HEARING ON STEVENSES' CASE

Hearing on the preliminary motions in the embezzlement charges against James W. Stevens and his sons, Raymond W. and Ernest J., was set for March 14, at which time the trial date will be fixed, it was decided yesterday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan. The Stevenses are charged with defrauding the Illinois Life Insurance company of $4,000,000.

Attorney J. Fred Reeve, representing the defendants, asked six weeks to prepare his arguments for a motion to quash the indictments, but the court called the request unreasonable. Assistant State's Attorney Grover C. Niemeyer informed the court that of the three indictments against the Stevenses the one charging embezzlement of $1,600,000, including $600,000 in Liberty bonds, will be pressed first.

The other indictments charge embezzlement and conspiracy to defraud in connection with the tranferring of funds from the insurance company to the Stevens hotel, which the same family controlled.

CHINESE DEFENSE SMASHED; JAPS SURGE ONWARD

Invaders Near Capital; Take Strongholds.

SUICHUNG, Manchuria, March 1.—(AP)—The two great Chinese strongholds which blocked the path of Jehol City, capital of Jehol Province, fell to the Japanese invaders today.

Shortly after nightfall Gen. Heijiro Hattori's 14th brigade entered the City of Lingyuan, only about 75 miles from the capital. Brisk fighting, the Rengo [Japanese] news agency correspondent reported, preceded the occupation.

Earlier in the day the Japanese announced that the Fourth cavalry brigade, commanded by Maj. Gen. Kennosuke Mogi, had seized Chihfeng, which is about 100 miles northeast of the capital.

Blow to Chinese Defenses.

Previous dispatches from the scene of operations said that main Chinese defense forces were concentrated at Lingyuan and Chi feng. Great importance was attached to these two cities by the Chinese, as they are situated at key passes leading through the mountains to Jehol City. Some observers had expected the Chinese to hold the two cities several weeks, as the terrain is excellent for defense.

The Japanese in addition to taking these two key points captured several other strategic towns from the Chinese defenders. These latter included Chienping, southeast of Chihfeng, and Wukungfu, and Peichangyingtze, southeast of Lingyuan.

Only the southern fringe of the western mountain wastes of the province remained in Chinese hands tonight. Japanese leaders spoke of the possibility of a complete breakdown in the Chinese defenses which would enable them to complete the subjugation of the province before March 10, the army's memorial day, and thereby better the time set down in their offense schedule.

Chinese General a Traitor.

Chihfeng, the transportation center of the province, fell without offering any resistance, the Japanese reported. They asserted that the occupation of Jehol City might be only the matter of a few hours. During the afternoon the 11th infantry brigade, commanded by Maj. Gen. Kunizo Matsuda, passed through Foshaoti, 38 miles south of Chihfeng.

From the Japanese headquarters in Kailu, in northeastern Jehol, came a description of Maj. Gen. Mogi's entry into Chihfeng. The east gate of that town was wide open as if in welcome to the conqueror. Gen. Shih Wenhua, commander of the 10th Jehol cavalry in charge of the defense of Chihfeng and who went over to the Japanese, rode alongside Maj. Gen. Mogi with a fanfare of bugles.

The populace lined the streets, watching the triumphant entry. Banners of the rising sun empire and of Manchukuo, the Manchurian government to which Japan aims to add Jehol, were flying along the streets.

Will Help Japanese Drive.

Gen. Shih, after announcing his allegiance to Manchukuo, accompanied Maj. Gen. Mogi to his residence and prepared plans for a further advance towards Jehol City.

Trustworthy evidence substantiating reports that the Chinese governor of Jehol, Tang Yu-lin, also had gone over to Manchukuo was lacking today.

The Japanese, however, from the outset have expected Gov. Tang, so-called opium king of the province, to flee or proclaim his allegiance to Manchukuo as soon as Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang's forces were beaten or the capital menaced.

Launch State Control System.

TOKIO, March 1.—(AP)—Today, on the first anniversary of the declaration of independence by the state of Manchukuo, the authorities of that state announced an elaborate economic program based upon a system of state control.

Combining what are considered to be the best features of capitalism with a necessary degree of state control for the achievement of sound development in the national economic life, the program provides that all key industries and public utilities shall be nationalized or conducted by specially chartered corporations.

The state authorities announced the conclusion of a contract intrusting to the Japanese owned South Manchuria railway the managament of all the railways in Manchuria, stipulating that a debt of $2,600,000 which Manchukuo owes the South Manchuria railway shall be converted into a new loan, security for which shall include all the lines except that between Mukden and Shanhaikwan.

China Protests Embargo.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

NANKING, China, March 1.—There is bitter criticism here of Great Britain's arms embargo against China and Japan. The Chinese foreign office today released two indictments of Great Britain and also announced that it is investigating Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon's mental attitude on the Chinese-Japanese conflict. An official spokesman, commenting on the embargo, said representations have been made to Great Britain protesting against that nation favoring Japan.

"Ostensibly neutral, the act is really preventing China from obtaining weapons," he said. "It should be noted that the embargo may be temporary, and Great Britain declares its readiness to join any international action which may be adopted. That means China is the principal sufferer."

JAPANESE SWEEP ON TO CAPITAL

The shaded portion of the map shows the section of Jehol province captured since the Japanese invasion began last week. The Japanese forces yesterday smashed the Chinese defenses at Chihfeng, Lingyuan, Chienping, Foshaoti, Wukungfu, and Peichangyingtze and are now speeding on to Chengteh (Jehol City), the provincial capital.

The plan for the thermometer was conceived by Chester Foust and Alphonso Ianelli, as advisers to the Indian Refining company, sponsors of the "monument."

ROOSEVELT WILL START TODAY ON INAUGURAL TRIP

Confers with Woodin; See Early Special Session.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—Franklin D. Roosevelt stood for a few minutes today outside his ancestral country home at Hyde Park and surveyed for the last time as a private citizen the peaceful acres, snow covered this day, which he is forsaking to become the President of the United States.

He journeyed by motor over the familiar Albany Post road into New York city, and tonight he sleeps for the last night as Citizen Roosevelt in his father's town house in uptown New York.

Tomorrow afternoon he will ferry across the Hudson once more, board a train for Washington, where are piled up for him the tremendous cares of governing a great nation.

Discuss Financial Situation.

Already the burdens are weighing heavily, for tonight the President elect was in conference with William H. Woodin, who will go with him to the capital to be the secretary of the treasury, and the two men sat for hours pondering the pressing difficulties besetting the banks of the country.

Although neither would comment, reports were freely spread that it will be necessary for Mr. Roosevelt to call the new congress into session almost immediately after his inauguration next Saturday, to cope with the banking situation.

The President elect had planned on issuing a call for a special session to commence the latter weeks of April, but it now appears that congress will be called, possibly as early as March 20, to pass legislation to protect the many millions on deposit in American banking institutions.

Cabinet Men in Party.

Some members of his cabinet will travel along with their chief on the Washington trip, among them being Mr. Woodin; George H. Dern of Utah, the new secretary of war, who also conferred with Mr. Roosevelt tonight, and Miss Frances Perkins, the new secretary of labor.

James A. Farley, new postmaster general, also expects to be on the Roosevelt special train, and all these, with their families, are expecting to make of the trip a triumphal journey into a city which now will become the mecca of democracy, instead of republicanism.

Henry A. Wallace, the new secretary of agriculture, who delayed his departure from Des Moines today long enough to grant an interview concerning his hopes and plans, delivered over a nation-wide radio hookup, was expected also to join the Roosevelt party here, but he may go direct to Washington.

The other members of the new cabinet will meet the President elect in the capital.

Names White House Aids.

Mr. Roosevelt today revealed officially the names of the secretariat of the White House. The man who will "run the shop," as he put it himself today, is Louis McHenry Howe, the chief secretary.

The "front office man," who will see all visitors and determine which of them shall see the President, is Marvin H. McIntyre. The important task of dealing with the press of the nation has been delegated to Stephen T. Early, the third member of the secretariat.

Roosevelt will abolish the position of literary assistant, now held by French S. Trothers.

Miss Marguerite Lehand, who for years has been Mr. Roosevelt's personal secretary, will continue in that capacity. Mr. Roosevelt revealed that he will retain several old retainers of the White House in their ports, including Irwin H. [Ike] Hoover, chief usher,

NEW DEMOCRATS OF HOUSE PLAY AT LEGISLATION

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Advocating remonetization of silver, payment of the soldier bonus, any sort of inflation "even if turnips to pay our bills" and then concentrating an attack upon the chairmanships of the Democratic controlled committees of the house, fifty-odd Democratic members elect tonight held their long-awaited "get acquainted" meeting in the house caucus rooms.

The meeting was so successful in its purpose that a motion was made during the first half hour to adjourn after one of the members elect rose to question how the several candidates for speaker stood on the "power" issue and other controversial subjects. Only a few of the incoming members left the room, however, and peace was restored after the acting chairman engaged in a brief parliamentary tiff with his colleagues.

Representative Elect Rogers of Oklahoma, who with Thomas O'Malley of Wisconsin has been dubbed the "Rover Boys" because of their youthful appearance and forcible approach upon older members, presided at the meeting.

Mr. Rogers used a clawhammer for a gavel, and he banged strenuously upon the oval committee table as often as necessary. Some of the time the meeting proceeded under house rules, and again it was thrown wide open when certain delegates questioned the propriety of "any rules at all."

MRS. ROOSEVELT LEAVES POST AS SCHOOL TEACHER

Has Gowns Fitted and Answers Letters.

New York, March 1. — [Special.] — One of the country's best known school teachers today turned over to her successor the textbooks and notebooks she has used in her classes, bade farewell to her pupils and relinquished with regret the job that she has liked best during the last few years. At the opening exercises of the Todhunter school today Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt made her last appearance as a member of the faculty, promising her pupils that she would return for the annual school party and the June commencement.

She invited the nine girls of the graduating class to spend a week-end with her at the White House some time in April and announced that she would give a prize to the class that turns in the largest number of contributions accepted for the school year book by March 15.

Sing Favorite Songs.

Except for her brief farewell talk and several songs by the school glee club, today's opening exercises at the school did not differ from the usual program. All of the students, ranging from first grade to high school seniors, sang two of Mrs. Roosevelt's favorite songs, "Old Man River" and "Carmela."

After she left the school Mrs. Roosevelt stoped for some last minute fittings of costumes she will take to the White House with her, and went to her office, where she spent the rest of the day answering mail.

Mrs. Roosevelt has chosen a dual purpose gown for wear at the inaugural ball. It is of silver lamé in her favorite shade of Eleanor blue and was designed by Sally Milgrim so that it may be worn with equal appropriateness for afternoon or evening functions. Cut on long molded flowing lines, when Mrs. Roosevelt wears it at the ball it will appear as a formal evening gown with star sapphire clips as its only ornament.

For daytime wear the clip at the back of the neck closes the décolleté and those at the shoulders catch and hold in place long graceful sleeves. Her costume for the inauguration ceremonies, including an Eleanor blue crystelle velvet gown and an Anna blue coat, was designed and made by Arnold Constable.

Daughter's Gown Described.

Milgrim has designed a silk Marocain Anna blue frock for Mrs. Curtis Dall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, to wear at the inauguration ceremonies. It has the new trim straight skirt, belted at the normal waist line and features the short tight-below-the-elbow sleeves tucked into the armhole. Framing her face and throat and trailing down each side of the bodice is a fluting of soft Eleanor blue grosgrain. Mrs. Dall's hat is a matching turban of straw cloth with the narrow pulled-down-in-front brim, edged with a tiny veil. Her coat is of dark blue wood.

Mrs. Dall's inauguration gown was made by Sally Milgrim from the antique ivory white satin Chinese brocade brought from China more than fifty years ago by Mr. Roosevelt's aunt.

FRANCES PERKINS ASKS NEW YORK TO AID WOMEN

Boosts New Wage Bills; Goes to Washington.

Albany, N. Y., March 1.—(AP)—Pleading for minimum wage laws for women, unemployment insurance, a shorter working day and week for every one, Miss Frances Perkins, chosen by President Elect Roosevelt as the first woman member of a presidential cabinet, made her valedictory today as New York state's industrial commissioner.

While her final words were still echoing through the big assembly chamber Miss Perkins hurried down the center aisle and ran to catch a train for Washington. There she will become United States secretary of labor when Mr. Roosevelt is inaugurated as President on Saturday.

Cites Fall in Wages.

She spoke for more than an hour this afternoon before the labor committees of the state legislature on more than 30 bills now under consideration. Several of them call for minimum wage laws for women.

"As heartily as I can," Miss Perkins said, "I wish to urge that these measures to set up minimum wage standards for women be enacted into law.

"In the present depression the wages of women have slipped downward faster than the wages of men and faster than the cost of living.

Fears Loss of Markets.

"There is a grave danger that the depression will feed on itself and that wages will become so low generally that the market for the manufactured product will disappear. These laws would be one of the most stabilizing elements that might be brought about. They would eliminate to a great extent the present situation, in which fair-minded industrialists, willing to pay fair wages, are obliged to compete with those keeping wages as low as they can.

"I have heard of wages for women being as low as $1.50 a week."

In a similar plea for a shorter working week Miss Perkins said:

"As it is now some persons are working seven full days a week while others have no work at all, but are walking the streets.

For Job Insurance.

"The more we shorten the working day and the working week the farther we shall have gone in providing more jobs for more people."

Urging unemployment insurance, she said she thought that "we should have some assurance of aid against future depressions, at least."

BANK PROBLEMS LIKELY TO SPEED SPECIAL SESSION

been blocked in the house by Representative Henry B. Steagall [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the banking and currency committee, because of the refusal of the senate to pass house bills sponsored by Steagall.

Other Democratic leaders in the senate said that whether they would urge an immediate session of congress would depend on the program Mr. Roosevelt brings forward. They do not purpose to commit themselves until Mr. Roosevelt does, being as much in the dark as the man in the street regarding the Roosevelt program.

In view of the fact that Mr. Roosevelt has said his inaugural address would take not more than 8 minutes to deliver, it is concluded that no detailed program will be presented therein. Still, it is conceded that, brief as it may be, it may well shadow forth in outline a program of action that will dissipate alarm and inspire the American people with confidence that the turning of the tide is at hand.

Expect Economy Message.

Conservative Democrats are confident that the inaugural address will contain definite assurance that there will be no inflation of the currency, that the budget will be balanced, that the country will remain on the gold standard, and that the cost of the federal government will be radically reduced.

Assurances against inflation and pledges of an early balancing of the budget, it is contended, would go far toward ending the bank scare and the increased hoarding that started it. Panic has spread among bank depositors, it is asserted, by the continued failure to balance the budget, the increasing agitation for inflation, and the lack of evidence that Mr. Roosevelt will take a strong stand against inflationary legislation.

With the waves of public alarm beating upon Capitol hill, congress today sent the bankruptcy law revision bill to the President after the house had accepted the senate amendments in order to expedite the relief it provides for the railroads and individuals.

The house judiciary committee recommended passage of a bill amending the bankruptcy act so as to enable municipalities to obtain from bankruptcy courts a postponement of payment of interest on bonds for two years at a time up to a maximum of ten years.

HOUSE CONFERS SPECIAL POWERS UPON ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Action by the house today made it virtually certain that President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt will be given drastic emergency power to effect federal economies through reorganizing and abolishing governmental agencies.

Within a short time after conferees of the senate and house had agreed on a compromise report on the treasury-postoffice bill carrying the reorganization authorization, the house formally adopted it. The senate is expected to agree to the report before adjournment Saturday. No estimates have been made as to the possible savings which may be effected through vigorous use of the powers given to the new President.

Many Savings Are Avoided.

As agreed upon in conference, the measure carries only a small fraction of the 165 million dollar savings in the cost of government voted by the senate when the measure was first adopted. The conferees, on the insistence of house leaders, scrapped the Bratton amendment slashing 6 per cent from the budgets of every governmental department. This alone had been counted upon to save 140 million dollars. Its defeat together with action taken on other supply bills up to date indicates that on the basis of budget figures, congress will appropriate many millions more than was recommended in the Hoover budget.

The revamped bill provides for abolition of the bureau of efficiency, cuts four million dollars from 19 millions recommended for air mail subsidies, and extends the 8 1-3 per cent pay cut to all enlisted men of the army, navy, and marine corps who receive more than $1,000 a year.

Veterans' Bill Deadlocked.

The independent offices bill, carrying a billion dollars for veterans' benefits is deadlocked, with the senate insisting that the federal trade commission be given a 1934 fund of $1,101,000 and the house holding out for an appropriation of only $510,000. The house today refused to agree to the senate boost and sent the bill back to conference. The senate figure represents an increase of $101,000 above the budget estimate, while the house total is a reduction of $490,000.

The so-called Byrnes amendment, conferring unprecedented reorganization powers upon the President, gives the chief executive authority to merge or abolish virtually any governmental agency as he sees fit, subject to only an indirect check by congress.

Highly controversial because of its economy rider, the treasury-postoffice bill has been the subject of more wrangling between senate and house than any other appropriation measure considered at this session.

When it first was introduced by the house appropriations committee it carried only the funds recommended for the operation of the treasury and postoffice departments during 1934—approximately 950 million dollars.

As approved today interest rates paid by the government on tax refunds and other claims by citizens is fixed at 6 per cent in accord with the senate position.

A house proposal to lower such rates to 4 per cent was abandoned by the conferees. Likewise the McKellar amendment, subjecting all federal tax refunds over $20,000 to review by the board of tax appeals, was eliminated in conference. This latter provision was estimated to save more than a million dollars annually.

ROOSEVELT TO RENT HOME IN NEW YORK; LOOKING FOR TENANT

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt will rent his city home at 49 East 65th street if he can find a tenant.

Mr. Roosevelt made this known today while answering a question about the disposal of his extensive collection of prints, mostly of ships and sea scenes. The President elect said that all the prints that had been in the executive mansion and the executive chamber at Albany had been shipped to Washington, where they will be hung in the White House.

"I also will ship many of the prints in my city home, but none of those at Hyde Park," he said. "I would like to rent the city house if I can find any one who wants it."

"Would you give a lease for four or eight years?" he was asked.

Mr. Roosevelt smiled, but made no answer.

Begin Talks Immediately After Inauguration.

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 1.—Beginning next Saturday, the same day on which President Elect Roosevelt is inaugurated, the British government will get into touch "officially and formally" with the new United States government on various questions and mutual difficulties facing the two nations.

This announcement was made by Prime Minister MacDonald today in a speech at a luncheon of the London county council. He spoke hopefully of the results of the forthcoming war debt negotiations with Washington.

"By a mutual understanding of each other's difficulties and problems, I am convinced that we can reach an agreement which will assist the world to greater and more rapid recovery of economic prosperity," he said.

Can't Be Solved by Bits.

The world, MacDonald continued, faces a problem which cannot be settled in bits or by mere internal national policy. It can be solved only when the nations are led by a vision of their essential unity, he said.

"On Saturday a new government will be installed at Washington," he said, "and we will at once get into touch with it—as a matter of fact we have been in touch with it, with a certain amount of irregularity, I confess, and I hope that no questions about that will be put to me on a constitutional point in the house of commons, because there really is no satisfactory answer.

"But from Saturday on we are getting in touch officially and formally with the United States government and with them shall get at close quarters with questions which mutually we have to settle."

Hopes to Restore Confidence.

"Our common troubles should bring us intimately together in a determination to end the influences which, starting with the great war and extending into the years of outward prosperity, as well as those of stark misfortune, have been undermining the economic fabric of our civilization, producing unemployment all over the world, and threatening to involve whole nations in bankruptcy and ruin."

The British government, MacDonald added, will enter the negotiations with the single minded desire to restore confidence, remove existing trade barriers, and establish the peace which is essential to world prosperity.

"In that work," the prime minister concluded, "gladly will we meet America. Hopefully we will face problems with no idea of dominating here and there, but with the sole idea of reaching an agreement."

France Gets Debt Report.

PARIS, March 1.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour said in a report to the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies today that debt talks with President Elect Roosevelt and Cordell Hull, who will be secretary of state in the new American cabinet, had opened under good auspices.

After the meeting the foreign minister was quoted as saying that Mr. Roosevelt's friendly feeling toward France was a guarantee that the discussions would be conducted in a calm and amicable atmosphere.

A COP HANDLES FLEEING BANDIT IN HIS OWN WAY

Policeman Michael Carey, who has been stationed as traffic director at La Salle street and Jackson boulevard for eighteen years, has his own way of handling robbers. He handled one yesterday.

MICHAEL CAREY.

Shortly before 3 p. m. the robber entered the Chapelle sandwich shop with his pistol and demanded money. Miss Chapelle handed over $47.50. As the man ran to the street she screamed and several patrons followed.

The chase led directly toward Policeman Carey. He drew his pistol as the bandit approached him, but disdained to use it. Instead, as the fugitive came within his reach he started a left hook that connected with the chin of the bandit. It was a clean knockout.

When the man was revived he was taken to the central police station. He said that he was Michael Graff, 25 years old, of Barrington, and that several of his teeth were loose as a result of Carey's blow.

WOMAN HURT IN FALL DIES.

$9,200 OF BONDS ARE FOUND IN DRAINAGE CANAL

Roy Van Heck, 1263 Pratt boulevard, and Jerry Terwilliger, 1229 North Dearborn street, yesterday delivered to the police $9,200 in bonds which they said they found in the drainage canal at Howard avenue and the north channel road.

The men said they were hunting water fleas as food for tropical fish in aquariums when they discovered, in the shallow water, a large envelope which contained the bonds. Police believed the envelope had been dropped from the Howard avenue bridge.

The bonds are issues by the village of Lansing, the Ozark Trail road, the Exchange building of Seattle, the city of Des Plaines, Western Maryland railroad, Alden Park Manor service station, Detroit, and Baker corporation. Lieut. John McGinnis of the detective bureau began a canvass of brokerage firms in an effort to learn whether the bonds were stolen.

LITERARY GIFT OF ROOSEVELTS SHOWS ITSELF

Regard Book and Articles as Pointing Way.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—The literary gift which automatically comes to heavyweight champions, world series athletes, and lady tennis players, but which seems to desert them with the same abruptness when they are through, has suddenly manifested itself in the family of the President elect. Judged on the basis of quantity, if on no other basis, the writing Roosevelts are the most literary family in the country just now, with one book and numerous magazine articles to their credit, and it is apparent that they have just begun to write.

Mr. Roosevelt's mother has written a book which, by a happy coincidence, comes out just at inauguration time, when the sales are likely to go better than at any other time. Mr. Roosevelt himself has developed a magazine practice such as few journeymen writers achieve in long years of diligent effort, Mrs. Roosevelt is an editor as well as an author, and Mrs. Curtis Dall, their daughter, has editorial duties calling for the exercise of talents which were not generally suspected prior to the election of last November. Moreover, Mrs. Dall is expected to break into publication herself with the suddenness of a Dempsey, a Babe Ruth, or a Trudy Ederle, any moment.

Takes In More Territory.

Genius, when it struck the presidential family elect upon the basis of the early returns of the elections, took in much more territory than is generally the case.

Babe Ruth, for instance, abruptly found himself literary when he broke the old home run record in 1919, and he has been one of the most prolific American essayists on current topics ever since then. But the members of his family were cruelly slighted. Mrs. Ruth has been a minus quantity from the literary standpoint and neither of the Ruth children has so much as a book of poems to her credit. When the daughters of an author of Mr. Ruth's reputation, enjoying Mr. Ruth's facilities for painless or absentee writing, cannot turn out so much as a book of verse about the doggy and the kitty between them, you have to conclude that they simply are not gifted that way.

I notice also that Col. Lewis McHenry Howe, the man who made Franklin D. Roosevelt, has returned to journalism in a bigger and better way since the first scattered precincts began to come over the wires foretelling the Democratic landslide.

Col. Howe Writing Again.

Col. Howe is an old Albany legislative correspondent, or what the newspaper boys describe as an old former ex-newspaper man himself, which is a familiar type often encountered by journalists who are neither former nor ex. But he was never so successful, taking the demand for his copy and the source of that demand as the gauge of success, as he has been since he received the inspiration of the election figures. Journalism was his true love all the time.

But Mr. Roosevelt was not a one man job. There are many other men who made Franklin D. Roosevelt scattered about in the ranks of the Democratic party, including some more old former ex-newspaper men themselves, who doubtless will suddenly discover the elusive knack of telling a story in a manner suitable for the high priced magazines and also for the syndicates. Altogether this one bids fair, as the saying goes, to become the writingest administration in the history of the White House, and there is already some talk of making over the blue room into the editorial room.

Reaction Is Feared.

Naturally journalism will be flattered and happy to receive such distinguished recruits to the profession, but there is certain to occur a reaction having to do with the question of what constitutes fair competition. This question was raised and disputed with considerable bitterness many times in the cases of Babe Ruth, Dempsey, Knute Rockne, and others. Certain writers of the journeyman type decided that it was unwise to build up reputations for potential rivals who might suddenly discover that they were natural born journalists themselves, and certain publishers took the attitude that they did not wish to advertise heroes in their own columns who were appearing simultaneously as journalists in the columns of rival publications.

The magazines are not buying much copy nowadays and the appropriations for the stories which they do buy are seriously curtailed, as you will learn by sitting in at any of the little round table discussions in New York where the writers sit and talk about the things which they are going to write. And now, if the writing Roosevelts and the various men who made Mr. Roosevelt are going to invade this crowded market, demanding high prices for their compositions, that will mean that the journeymen writers will have fewer opportunities to sell their little pieces when they do break away from the round tables long enough to write them, and will get much less money for them when they sell them. This will be deplorable, no doubt, but it seems to be just the way of the world.

Yale Rules Against It.

In the case of the football coaches it was often held that this writing was an unethical exploitation of their official position and this view was confirmed at Yale university with a ruling which forbade the coaches to engage in journalism.

But that is an artificial device which is bound to fail in time. When genius breaks out suddenly in a champion athlete or a coach, or in the family circle of a celebrated public figure, the only thing to do is to let them write. And genius is always breaking out with startling unexpectedness. Sometimes it is a tap on another man's chin that stirs the latent gift of literature in the subject, sometimes it is a victory on the tennis court, and sometimes it is a batch of early figures on election night giving the returns from sixteen scattered precincts in Fall River, Mass.

REDUCTION IN NUMBER OF ARMY OFFICERS IN WASHINGTON PLANNED

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—A new order providing for a greater decentralization of the regular army and a reduction in the number of officers detailed at Washington has been prepared by the general staff for the signature of Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley. Reports today were that the order will be issued within the next three days.

At present the army in the continental limits of the United States is administered through nine corps areas with Washington the main headquarters. In many instances regular army units in a corps area are controlled direct from Washington. In these instances, the corps area commander has no authority over the excepted units.

Under the new plan, every army unit within the limits of a corps area would be under the immediate command of the corps area commander. There would be no excepted units. The commanding general would report direct to Washington and would be responsible for his area. The net result of such a policy would be to reduce the number of officers needed at Washington for administrative purposes.

Inspector generals of the army in recent years have often criticized the practice of allowing so many officers to remain in Washington. Out of 12,000 officers more than 1,200 have been assigned to the capital.

COUNTY BOOSTS TAX ESTIMATE TO BALANCE BUDGET

Board Speeds Up to Get Away for Inaugural.

The finance committee of the county board last night balanced the 1933 county budget by raising the estimate of anticipated revenue by $246,821. The committee's action is expected to be approved by the county board this afternoon in time to permit Democratic commissioners to take a special train to Washington for the Roosevelt inauguration.

As prepared for presentation to the board the 1933 budget stands in comparison to the 1932 budget as follows:

Corporate fund	$17,776,213	$19,301,749
Bonds and interest	6,612,880	4,786,375
Highway	1,943,286	3,061,414
Employés' pension	500,000	no levy
Totals	$26,832,379	$27,149,538

The corporate fund total of $17,776,213 is $246,821 more than the revenue estimate of $17,529,392 which was set last week. In order to make up the difference the committee authorized Deputy Controller Michael J. O'Connor to raise the anticipated revenue estimate from tax penalties by $246,821. This estimate was increased a week ago by $300,000 when the commissioners found they were short of departmental demands by that amount.

Unable to Make Choice.

The commissioners met yesterday to bring the corporate budget within the revenue estimate of $17,529,392. In order to keep within this figure the commissioners had to choose between refusing to allow overdrafts of county officials in 1932 or cutting out increases of $246,000 allowed in sessions during the week.

A week ago the commissioners voted to refuse to honor the overdrafts, but reinstated them when the revenue estimate was increased by $300,000. State's Attorney Courtney had given a legal opinion to the board holding that the commissioners could refuse to honor overdrafts made after department heads had exceeded their appropriations. The staff of the board reported, however, that there was not time to examine all overdrafts to determine which might be excluded.

After debate yesterday the commissioners agreed to include the overdrafts in the budget. They reached the same conclusion after debate on the $246,000 of increases.

Urges Further Salary Cut.

As the commissioners prepared to vote to authorize raising the revenue estimate, Commissioner William Busse proposed to balance the budget by cutting all salaries above $100 a month an additional 5 per cent. All county salaries were cut 15 per cent in 1932 and the same scale was adopted in the 1933 budget. Busse argued the further cut would save $250,000 and balance the budget.

Busse was supported by his Republican colleague, George A. Miller. The Democratic commissioners charged that Busse's proposal was a last minute effort to defeat the budget. His motion was lost.

Commissioner Miller moved that the committee go over the budget item by item and cut salaries of employés in the higher brackets. It was pointed that such a motion would keep the committee in session for several days. Mr. Miller replied that he is a Republican and does not wish to go to the inauguration.

Weber Offers Substitute.

Commissioner Charles Weber offered a substitute motion that all salaries above $3,000 be cut 10 per cent in addition to the present 15 per cent cut. Commissioner Peter Kelly offered a substitute to Weber's substitute that salaries above $3,000 be cut 10 per cent, those above $4,000 be cut 15 per cent and all above $5,000 be cut 20 per cent in addition to the present cut. Kelly's plan would cut the commissioners' salaries of $7,500 by $2,625, it was stated.

President Emmett Whealan moved that the motions be tabled. There was no objection and the talk of wage cuts ended. Immediate afterward the committee passed the 1933 budget with instructions to raise the revenue estimate. Miller and Busse cast the only dissenting votes.

M'DONOUGH TO BEGIN SATURDAY TO SEIZE PERSONAL PROPERTY

County Treasurer McDonough announced yesterday that next Saturday a force of his deputy collectors would begin to seize the personal property of business concerns and individuals who have refused to pay 1928, 1929, and 1930 real estate taxes. Warnings to several hundred large taxpayers whose objections to these tax levies recently were dismissed by County Judge Jareckl, have already been sent by registered letter.

Yesterday a force of collectors under the direction of Attorney Thomas D. Nash, counsel for the treasurer, made telephone calls to all taxpayers warned by letter. Each was asked if he would pay his tax bill. All those with whom communication was had yesterday promised to send attorneys to confer with the treasurer today.

After seizing personal property of the taxpayers the treasurer will hold public auctions under a statutory power which allows him to sell personally under distraint warrants. The proceeds will be applied to the delinquent tax bills.

1,200 HUNTSMEN HUNT WOLF PACK; HERE'S THEIR BAG

Litchfield, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Twelve hundred hunters armed with shotguns held a wolf drive near Butler today against a pack of wolves which have been preying on farmers' poultry and live stock.

They formed a 14 mile circle and then closed in.

Casualties so far reported are:

SHEP, pet collie of Russell Stevenson Jr., 12, shot and killed, a victim of mistaken identity.

TOWSER, a small dog of obscure and devious lineage, an innocent but excited bystander, died of wounds and fright.

P. S.—They killed one wolf, too.

Sanitary District Defaults on $326,180 Bond Debt

The sanitary district defaulted yesterday when payment of $326,180 in bond principal and interest became due, making a total default on bond obligations since January of last year of $13,939,201. Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the board's finance committee, said that until taxes are collected the district will have no way to meet its obligations.

Legislature to Study New Relief Measures.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Two bills to provide a statutory limit upon tax rates have been introduced in the legislature, and that method of guaranteeing citizens against excessive tax bills is expected to receive serious discussion at Springfield when the legislature buckles down to work next week.

One of the bills was introduced by Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield. The other was proposed by George F. Nixon of the Cook county board of tax appeals. In addition, the effects of tax rate limitation upon the present financial troubles of Cook county governments are being studied by the Sargent committee on public expenditures, the joint commission of real estate valuation, of which George O. Fairweather is chairman, and the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency, of which Douglas Sutherland is executive secretary.

Limit of 1 Per Cent.

The Searcy bill would provide a limit of 1 per cent of the assessed value upon all tax rates except those for state purposes and bond and interest payments. Since the bill fixes the assessed value at one-third of the appraised value of property, this would mean that the owner of a $10,000 home could not be taxed more than about one-third of one per cent of its value, or $33, for the running expenses of all the governments to which he contributes. Such a taxpayer's bill this year for those purposes is about $180.

The Nixon bill would limit tax rates for all purposes other than the state government and bonds and interest to 1 per cent of the full appraised value of property.

Fiscal authorities assert that both limits are too low. Under the Searcy bill, they point out, the city, school, and other local governments would have to cut all operating expenses financed from taxes to one-fifth of their present level. Under the Nixon bill, they would have to be cut down about 45 per cent.

Incentive to Payment.

The actual figure to be set as a limit is not so important, however, as is the setting of a limit of some sort, according to authorities on taxation. Such a limit, it is pointed out, would be a powerful incentive to the payment of taxes, since it would be a guarantee to the taxpayer that if he clears up his present high tax bills, he will be protected against a recurrence of them in the future.

Tax rate limitation is not new, either in this state or others. There is now on the statute books of Illinois the Juul law, passed some 25 years ago, which sought to limit the total tax rates to be levied against any piece of property. The history of that law is an explanation of the failure of such legislation to keep down taxes in Illinois.

From time to time various local governments went to Springfield to seek increases in their tax rates. Such increases could not be made under the provisions of the Juul law, so the bills to boost the rates specified that the particular rate in question should be exempt from the provisions of the law.

Most Chicago governments now have statutory limits upon their tax rates, but these limits are exempt from the provisions of the Juul law, and the aggregate rates, of course, are far above the limit set by that law. The legislature, having passed the Juul law originally, naturally had the power to amend it and in amending it, gradually rendered it inoperative for practical purposes.

The remedy of such a situation, as adopted in a number of states, is to embed the tax rate limitation in the constitution, beyond the reach of the legislature. New York has such a limitation in its city charter which has had a powerful effect in curbing the public spending of the Tammany organization.

DEFAULT JUDGMENT ENTERED AGAINST JAMES J. WALKER

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—A default judgment for $13,506 for clothing bought but not paid for by Mrs. James J. Walker was entered today in Supreme court against the former mayor. It was obtained by Hattie Carnegie, Inc.

The judgment was obtained automatically when the former mayor, who is resting on the Riviera, failed to file an answer to the suit within the twenty days allowed him by Justice Richard P. Lydon on Jan. 25.

Nathan Burkan, attorney for Mr. Walker, attempted to have service on the suit vacated after Mr. Walker had been "served" by leaving copies of the complaint at the Hotel Ambassador and St. Luke's place, his former homes.

Herman Carnegie, secretary of the gown company, said Mrs. Walker made purchases totaling $30,059 between Sept. 7, 1928, and March 5, 1931, and her husband recognized his liability by paying $8,000 on account. The judgment was for the balance due, $12,059, interest of $1,425, and costs of $22.

ZEALAND'S DOLE RECEIVERS CLASH WITH TAXPAYERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUCKLAND, N. Z., March 1.—Great as is the money cost of unemployment insurance in New Zealand it is doubtful if it eclipses the human cost of a system as unpopular with the idle themselves as with the heavily taxed workers who provide one-twentieth of their wages each year to aid their unfortunate fellows.

A major consequence of the state aid scheme here is the creation of a social cleavage undreamed of in this democracy before. New Zealand, despite her sentimental regard for Great Britain, is as devoted to the doctrine of equality as the United States. For the first time there is a sharp differentiation of classes into taxpayers and the receivers of benefits from taxes.

The idle here, even at the high of 70,000, which with unregistered women and boys takes the total to the 100,000 mark, numbered only about one in six of the employable population. They were the unfortunate minority depending upon the good will of those still in work. They knew it, realized their receipt of grudged relief and grew bitter.

Taxpayers Antagonized.

The leaders among this minority, agitating for more liberal benefits and leading demonstrations, antagonized the taxpaying workers by wild talk of their rights and extravagant demands for full wage rates at the level they were accustomed to receive before the slump.

A primary indictment of the workless insurance plan thus is its division of the community into two camps and the raising of a spirit of resentment on both sides. It is this state of affairs which has caused the government to deny the idle the right of assembly and to strengthen the powers of police.

Idle Herded Into Camps.

On the part of many workers this resentment has been heightened because the scheme cannot possibly be of any use to them. Many older men with comfortable salaries contribute to the dole, knowing that if they were to lose their posts they would not be able to gain benefits. The state will not extend aid until a man is totally destitute and even then it will grant moderate benefits only if he will take up pick or shovel.

On the other side of the picture is the spectacle of men out of work herded into camps from all parts of the country, poor, resentful, determined not to give an ounce more effort than is required by their overseers, and bitter at a state which allows them to be sent to camps like animals. Feeling that they are not wanted, that they are condemned to stay there and cannot escape, these men are ready material for radical agitators. Cunningly agitators have penetrated the camps and there the doctrine of communism has made rapid headway.

The drive to force these men into camps has succeeded to an unprecedented degree. The state's move, looked at from another angle, is the most resounding failure it has suffered in years. It is breeding revolutionists and does not know it.

"What have we to hope for?" asked one man in a camp recently visited. "We have lost home, possessions, jobs, even our liberty. We are here for the duration of the slump and it may last ten years. There is no escape for us except the world revolution."

The world revolution. That is what they wait for. Most of them were good citizens a year ago, but misfortune and the constant chatter of communists have robbed them of their old social values and given them the doctrine of force.

Want Revenge.

After months of heavy toil in places many hundreds of miles from their homes, living in primitive conditions and enjoying few luxuries, these men have an eager anticipation of civilization's collapse. They would like to see this nation's leaders sentenced to endure what they have endured, and if the opportunity came they would give no mercy. Only the youngest and most light hearted of them survey their exile without bitterness. The rest merely await their chance.

How these men are to escape from their bonds no one can see. A primary danger of the unemployment scheme recently underlined by J. S. Jessep, deputy chairman of the unemployment board, is the creating of a permanent class of workless. The operation of the scheme here appears to have made this inevitable.

Instead of "keeping up the morale of the unemployed," the effect has been to destroy that morale and to make of the men in these camps one of the greatest social problems this country has ever faced.

SEE WATERWAY AIDING TRAFFIC THROUGH LAKES

Crowds Hail Tribune Boat on Pioneer Voyage.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Havana, Ill., March 1.—Peoria, Pekin, and Havana, river ports now connected with the seven seas, greeted THE TRIBUNE'S Sea King, the first boat over the Illinois waterway, with warm receptions today. Leading citizens assembled at the docks and dwelt upon the opportunities that the lakes to golf route, now open, offers for extension of trade northward through the great lakes.

As the Sea King swept up to Watts' fish market dock in Havana citizens pointed to a federal barge on which was being loaded 35,000 bushels of Mason county corn for the foreign market. It is shipped to New Orleans and transhipped to Liverpool. In November and December more than a quarter of a million bushels of corn was sent from this port by the water route to foreign countries.

Civic Leaders Meet Boat.

The citizens who welcomed THE TRIBUNE'S boat were L. A. England, Robert Watts, John Schulte, M. Gillan, Karl Dierker, secretary of the Havana chamber of commerce; C. Kellersman, Barry Smith, R. A. McGinley, Robert Eaton, R. Roy Bruning, editor of the Mason County Democrat; Quilla Mann, W. E. McFarland of the Crescent Forge and Shovel company; F. S. Tarbell, nationally known poultry judge; C. H. Kreiling, president of the chamber of commerce and nationally known sewage and drainage expert; Mayor Adam Engler, Edgar Dreier, clothier and John Furrer, banker.

Havana takes a deep interest in the opening of the waterway, as it has been one of the river ports already enjoying a revival of old river trade because of the corn movement.

"The sooner commerce begins to develop on the new Illinois waterway," says Mr. Dierker, "the better it will be for the entire Mississippi valley. We have had no outlet to the great lakes from this city. A bargeload of grain is being sent abroad every two or three days. We have the finest port for loading in the state and farmers are bringing in their corn from all over Mason county."

Ships Abroad by Water.

Peoria already has water borne foreign commerce with many countries through New Orleans, and when the Sea King sailed down Lake Peoria and docked a large delegation of leading citizens was present, while whistles blew a noisy welcome. The boat tied up to the sternwheeler Comanche at the United States engineer's station for an hour, and, following a program arranged by the citizens committee, moved down to Peoria's $400,000 waterway terminal, where it remained until 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon to give the townsfolk opportunity to visit the first boat through the new waterway. They flocked down to the river edge.

Long a Waterway Booster.

Peoria has always been a great waterway town, and a generation and more ago it took a prominent part in stirring up interest with conventions and mass support of water traffic measures.

Peoria products now are being exported to thirty or forty foreign countries by water. Last year its water traffic at the terminal was 43,118 tons. A. G. Heidrich of the Peoria Cordage company said his concern had been bringing in a carload of materials a day through New Orleans—sisal from Mexico, Java, and Africa and burlap from India. The Bemis Bag company reported last year that it imported by water, from foreign countries 2,185 tons of fiber. On March 6 it expects a cargo of 650 tons.

As part of the Peoria celebration, a package of tractor parts consigned to Bahia, Brazil, was placed on the Sea King by G. A. Bahler, traffic manager of the Caterpillar Tractor company. It is to be transferred to the Federal barge lines at Cairo. This tractor company, Peoria's largest industry, which now employs 3,000 men and normally about 6,500, is shipping its products all over the civilized world.

Peoria Large Exporter.

Peoria is sending tractors, harvesting machinery, road graders and other products by water to South and Central America and to Pacific coast points, while a foreign trade is being built up in live stock feed, washing machines, and malt products.

The city is importing through New Orleans sisal, wood pulp from Sweden, coffee, sugar, pineapples and canned goods. It is not bulk freight like coal, but is in bales, bags, boxes or bundles. Small cargoes of newsprint have been brought in from the south, and a growing movement of newsprint is now expected from the great lakes.

A. T. Griffith, Peoria harbor master, an old timer in the waterway movement, estimates that the saving in transportation costs has averaged a dollar a ton on all commodities. On sugar and coffee from New Orleans to Peoria he places the savings in transportation cost at $2.50 a ton as compared to the rail rates.

The crowd of leading citizens gathered at the dock made a ceremony of the delivery of the first packages of freight to come over the new Illinois waterway from Chicago to Peoria. The shipments, which were small packages, but regarded as of historic interest, were delivered from the Sea King to representatives of the following Peoria business houses by George Schreiber of THE TRIBUNE, who is acting as navigator for the voyage:

CLARKE & CO.—Dry goods from Fields.

There was also a shipment of canned soup from George A. Hormel & Co.

Clarke & Co., incidentally, was the first Peoria concern to receive an air shipment when that method of transportation was young.

The crowd that met the Sea King at Peoria included: L. E. Roark, secretary of the Manufacturers and Merchants' association; E. J. Hamilton, G. N. Block, and F. H. Barthell, Block & Kuhl company; Jacob Mathis, Jobst Bethard company; Sid Smith, C. M. Cruikshank, and Ben Kowalske, P. A. Bergner & Co.; W. H. Porter and Charles Hewitt, Clarke & Co.; O. F. Smith, Penny Grocery company; A. G. Heidrich, Dr. Fred Meixner, Dr. George Michell, and J. G. Conquerer; G. H. Kirk, Oakford & Fahnestock; Sol York, Mrs. E. O. Bukken, Harbor Master Griffith, Fred Stowe, editor of the Peoria Transcript; George Kinsey and Clifford Klauss, Peoria Journal; Edwin Corwin, Fern Mustard, and Fred W. Tuerk, Peoria Star; Capt. H. H. Pohl, general agent, and Frank Addison, general superintendent of the River Rail terminal.

From the Peoria area last year about a million bushels of soy beans were exported by water last year, some of the shippers pointed out. The cargoes went to Holland and other European countries.

FEDERAL TOWBOAT TO BEGIN WATERWAY TRIP TO CHICAGO TODAY

The towboat Gouverneur, owned by the United States engineer's department, the first stern wheel, river type towboat ever to navigate the Chicago river, will leave Lockport this morning for Chicago. In order to clear fixed bridges along the sanitary canal and enable its use along the newly completed Illinois waterway, the superstructure of the craft has been trimmed to 15½ feet.

Lieut. Col. Dan I. Sultan, district United States engineer, who made the announcement of the trip, said that future barge traffic on the waterway and into the Chicago area would be handled in large tows 600 feet in length and made up of numerous barges carrying 5,000 tons of cargo or more, with towboats of 700 to 2,000 horsepower.

"It is only with tows of this kind that the full economies of cheap barge transportation are possible," said the engineer. "Until the bridges of the sanitary canal are equipped with operating machinery, less economical equipment, such as the Gouverneur, must necessarily be used."

The Gouverneur will be used by the government mainly for maintenance and operation work. It will do no commercial towing.

LINKS VAST PROJECTS

During the stay of the Sea King in Pekin visitors to the boat stressed the fact that the new Illinois waterway now links up 630 million dollars' worth of projects, formerly unconnected.

On the south is the Mississippi inland water system. Up to 1932, the government had spent $377,227,000 on this system. This does not include 219 millions spent on flood control, of which 22 million has been of benefit to navigation.

To the north of the valley lie the great lakes, on the harbors and channels of which the government has spent $155,000,000. There is also the Chicago sanitary district, which spent $75,000,000 in the sanitary and ship canal.

All told, it is figured that some 630 millions of dollars have been spent at both ends of the lakes to the gulf route. But they failed to connect and the Illinois waterway now furnishes the connecting link.

In 1931 the Mississippi system had a traffic of 62 million tons, valued at 860 million dollars. In 1931 the great lakes carried a traffic of 150 million tons. The river towns look for an expansion of water traffic, now that the two systems are united.

Pekin's chief industries are corn products, malt syrup, yeast, industrial alcohol, box board, and grain. For thirty years and more the Turner Hudnut company has been assembling grain up and down the river. It has a string of elevators and a fleet of barges, and it brings the grain from river points into Pekin, whence it ships by rail. Now that the Illinois waterway is open, plans are being considered for the shipment of more than half a million tons of coal a year by barge from mines three miles west of Pekin into Chicago.

See Boon to Industry.

"We are expecting the new waterway will mean a lot in commerce and industry to Pekin and lower Illinois," said Mayor Russell.

"We are hoping," said Henry B. Koch, president of the Association of Commerce, "that now that the Illinois waterway is open its operation will not be interferred with by any undue action at Washington concerning water diversion in the St. Lawrence treaty with Canada."

A shipment of hosiery consigned to N. Reuling Co. was landed at Pekin. It was sent by Carson Pirie Scott & Co.

Identified by Companion of Murder Victim.

Clarence Eckman, alias James Hardy, 2908 West Washington boulevard, was identified in the courtroom of Judge Harry A. Lewis yesterday as one of the two men who killed Miss Norma Newby in Elk Grove forest preserve two years ago today.

Eckman, who was in the court on a robbery charge, will be charged with murder on the complaint of F. J. Murray, Miss Newby's companion on the night of the killing.

The robbery charge on which Eckman, together with Louis Jacobs and George Tanner, were scheduled to go on trial Monday involved the holdup of a gambling house at 4007 Sheridan road.

Sees Picture in The Tribune.

According to the story Murray told authorities, Murray saw a picture of Eckman in THE TRIBUNE in connection with the robbery case recently and recognized him as the slayer. He then waited for the trial date and went to court to make sure of the identification. According to his story, however, Eckman also recognized Murray and slipped out of the courtroom. Because of his absence the defense obtained a continuance until yesterday.

When the case was resumed yesterday Murray again was waiting, but this time he had been concealed behind the jury box by Sergt. George Melican. Sergt. Melican pointed to the three defendants when they arrived and asked Murray if he recognized any of them. Murray, without hesitation, pointed to Eckman and declared: "That's the man."

One of Killers Confesses.

One of Miss Newby's murderers, Paul Harrison, is now an inmate of the state hospital for the criminal insane at Chester, where he was sent following his confessions of the murders of Miss Newby and three others.

"I remember distinctly the twitch in his eyes and the shape of his head," Murray said upon viewing Eckman again at the detective bureau.

Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker said that while awaiting trial Harrison gave the name of his accomplice as Hardy.

Eckman, who snarled at police when they attempted to question him, said he "didn't know what they were talking about." He was taken to the scene where Miss Newby's body was found in the forest preserves in the hope that he would confess.

Tells of Kidnaping.

Murray, a middle aged admirer of the slain woman, had reported to police on the day following the killing that he had met Miss Newby in the loop and that she had driven with him to the plant of the Malleable Steel company in Melrose Park.

While he was parking his automobile another car drew alongside and one of the two men in it got into the back seat of Murray's car and ordered him to drive north. Obeying instructions, Murray drove to the county's Elk Grove forest preserve, about two and a half miles south of Arlington Heights, where Miss Newby was killed.

The other three victims of Harrison, the alleged accomplice of Eckman, were: Dr. James Shaffer, a dentist who was slain in his office at 3801 Broadway; Earl Davis, a watchman, hammered to death in a garage at 3740 Sheridan road, and C. S. Johns, alias Charles Pagel, killed in the Alpin hotel, 27 East Harrison street.

GOVERNOR SIGNS INDIANA'S STATE DRY LAW REPEAL

Sets Up Regulations to Control Liquor.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—[Special.]—Legalization of beers and wines and prescription of medicinal whisky subject only to federal regulations was effected here this evening when Gov. Paul V. McNutt signed legislation repealing the state bone dry law and setting up a malt and vinous products control system.

An excise director will supervise manufacture, distribution and sale of the beverage by license. Stills will continue illegal, by state law, and there are restrictions as to places of consumption, sales to minors and brothels, and to legally determined habitual drunkards.

Liberals celebrated joyously as the governor officially approved the bills which were pledged by the state platform on which Indiana Democrats rode into complete domination of Indiana politics last November.

The state senate today advanced to second reading the house bill providing for a convention system for Indiana's voting on ratification of the eighteenth amendment.

New Tax Law in Effect.

Indiana's new intangibles tax law took effect tonight, having been pushed through the state legislature under rules suspension.

All intangibles, money on deposit, stocks and bonds heretofore subject to property tax are exempt from the general tax and a special excise levy is imposed.

Intangibles have always been subject to Indiana property tax, but many owners failed or refused to list them for taxation or set up fictitious debts to cancel them.

Under the new laws the excise tax is so small relatively that owners will be induced to pay. For failure penalties are virtually confiscatory.

The new laws repeal the mortgage filing law of 1932.

Banks and trust companies are required to pay the tax of 25 cents on each $100 of money on deposit. Building and loan associations are required to pay 25 cents on each $100 share of stock and surplus.

Stamp Tax on Securities.

Owners of other intangibles, such as taxable bonds, notes, stocks of foreign corporations, mortgages, etc., are required to buy stamps to place on these instruments annually. The tax is 5 cents for each $20 of actual value.

Market exchange valuations of today decided valuation of bonds and stocks for this year. Notes and stocks not listed, but bearing a face value, are worth full value, unless assessed at a lower rate by the county assessor or state board of tax commissioners.

Banks are exempted until Jan. 1, 1934, because bank stock was assessed as property in 1932 and is paying property taxes this year.

PLANS REPEAL ACTION

Lansing, Mich., March 1.—[Special.]—The first step toward submitting to the voters at the April 3 election a proposal for calling a ratification convention to act on the prohibition repeal amendment to the federal constitution was taken late today. The senate judiciary committee reported favorably the Heidkamp bill, which would set up machinery for such a convention here April 10.

The committee had been considering this bill and a concurrent resolution sponsored by Senators Leo G. Katwick and Lee A. Gorman, Detroit, which would have permitted a more direct referendum on the question, but which was held liable to attack in the courts.

WISCONSIN SPEEDS ACTION

Madison, Wis., March 1.—[Special.]—By an 88 to 6 vote the Wisconson assembly tonight passed a Democratic administration bill setting up machinery for election of delegates to a state convention at which ratification of the eighteenth amendment repeal will be voted upon.

The bill provides that any person seeking nomination as a delegate may file nomination papers with a minimum of 1,000 signatures with the secretary of state.

It stipulates that the secretary of state is to select fifteen candidates who have the greater number of signatures, on each side of the issue and place these names on a ballot to be voted upon at the next election, April 4. Delegates elected are to vote on ratification, April 25.

Idaho Legislature Acts.

Boise, Idaho, March 1.—(AP)—The twenty-second session of the Idaho state legislature adjourned sine die at 11 o'clock tonight, one day ahead of its legal limit, after providing machinery for acting on the proposed repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Delaware Passes Bill.

Dover, Del., March 1.—(AP)—A bill to permit possession of unlimited quantities of liquor for personal use in the event repeal of the eighteenth amendment is ratified was passed by the Delaware house of representatives today by a vote of 24 to 9. The measure, passed by the senate last week, was sent to the governor.

BROKER IS HELD TO GRAND JURY FOR AUTO DEATH

Jos. R. Patton Charged with Manslaughter.

Joseph R. Patton Jr., 421 Melrose street, a broker, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by the coroner's jury which investigated the death of Mrs. Margaret Murray, 60 years old, 13 West Delaware place. The inquest was held in the county morgue.

Immediately after the verdict was returned a mittimus for Patton's detention was made out and he was ordered to be taken to jail.

Avoids Finger Printing.

The mittimus and prisoner were turned over to Chicago avenue police. At midnight it was learned that Patton had not been taken to the detective bureau, and had not been finger printed or photographed, as required by the department rules. At the Chicago avenue station it was said that he was brought into the station at 8 p. m. and released at 11 p. m. on a $1,000 bond approved by Judge Jerome Dunne in the night court.

Mrs. Murray was killed Jan. 20 when Patton's automobile struck her at Oak and La Salle streets. The jury returned its verdict after two witnesses testified that Patton was speeding and passed a red light just before striking the woman.

Patton, whose offices are at 120 South La Salle street, took the witness stand and denied that he had driven through a red light when he struck Mrs. Murray. He was traveling at 35 miles an hour or less when he hit her, he said.

Two Witnesses Accuse Broker.

Testimony concerning a woman companion who was in the auto was halted by the objection of Patton's lawyer, Francis X. Busch. Busch charged that attorneys for the relatives of the dead woman were trying to "make a newspaper case" out of the accident.

The witnesses who accused the broker were Robert Schaefer, 16 West Ohio street, and Lawrence Gustafson, 1008 North La Salle street. Schaefer testified that Patton passed a red light going "about 70 miles an hour" and that his car carried Mrs. Murray's body 200 feet before it was brought to a stop. Mrs. Murray was almost instantly killed.

Attorney W. J. Moran, who represented Mrs. Murray's family, clashed during the inquest with John E. Law, a witness who testified that he saw the accident from the window of his rooming house at 1010 North La Salle street. He testified that Patton was driving at a moderate speed. He did not remember, he said, whether Patton drove past a red light.

Denies Seeing Lawyer.

Attorney Moran then asked Law if he remembered pointing out the scene of the accident to him through his window, when Moran visited his boarding house.

"I never say you before," retorted Law.

"Didn't you tell the policeman who served a subpoena on you last night that you were afraid to testify because of Patton's influence?" demanded the attorney.

Law denied this and denied that he had discussed the inquest with any one.

Hope for Mayor

Ald. John Coughlin [1st], whose reelection Tuesday started him on his 42d consecutive year in the city council, presided at the council meeting yesterday in which business was confined to the adoption of a resolution expressing hope for Mayor Cermak's recovery.

Ald. John S. Clark [30th] would ordinarily have presided in the absence of the mayor by virtue of his position as chairman of the finance committee, but yielded the position to avoid political controversy over a possible successor of the mayor, in case of his death. Ald. Clark nominated Ald. Ald. Coughlin, who had been apprised of the honor in advance and had purchased a new necktie for the occasion.

Ald. Henry Sonnenschein [22d], for many years secretary to Mayor Cermak, presented the resolution, expressing the grief of the council over the wounding of the mayor and its hopes for his recovery. The resolution was adopted by a rising vote.

Ald. Clark then announced that out of respect for the mayor no further business would be taken up. Ald. John Toman [23d], who has never failed to present a resolution during nearly 20 years in the council, announced that he would withhold the one he had ready yesterday until the next meeting, and the council recessed to March 15.

LEWIS ASSUMES FULL CONTROL OF ILLINOIS UNION

Selects New Officials; Walker Resigns.

Springfield, Ill., March 1.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, international president of the United Miners of America, today assumed full control of the union in the Illinois district and named officials to assist him in operating affairs of the district with the view of bringing peace to the long troubled coal fields.

John H. Walker, who was active in 1929 in preventing Lewis from supervising mine affairs in this state, surrendered the Illinois district charter and voluntarily stepped out of office "to take a long rest."

Sneed Succeeds Walker.

Lewis appointed William J. Sneed, Herrin, former state senator long connected with coal mining affairs, to replace Walker as provisional president. Fox Hughes, Herrin, was retained from the old district roster of officers as vice president, and Thomas Hunter, Springfield, was selected to replace the veteran treasurer, William Nesbit, Belleville.

Lewis in designating the provisional officers of the Illinois district said the executive board made up of the officers and the presidents of legally chartered subdistrict units "will execute the policies of the United Mine Workers of America, carry out the instructions of the international executive board, and regulate the internal workings of the district organization."

Mine Strife Continues.

Strife continued in the state's coal mining areas. Three homes were damaged and the lives of several persons were endangered in Springfield when a bomb exploded. No one was injured although the beds of two sleeping children were sprayed with glass.

At Ashburn six men were beaten and bricks were tossed into automobiles in a brush between strikers and workers. John Wallace, employed at the Cora mine, was knocked unconscious. A minor skirmish was reported between strikers and workers at Harrisburg.

Meanwhile at Hillsboro, leaders of the Progressive Miners' union, the organization opposed to contracts negotiated by the United Miners, sat in conference with several independent coal operators seeking to complete plans for a new wage scale.

DIVORCE REFORM BILLS ADVANCED IN STATE SENATE

Springfield, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Bills to liberalize the Illinois divorce laws received a favorable reception in the senate judiciary committee tonight. They were reported out with a recommendation that they pass and will be on first reading in the senate tomorrow.

Presented by Richard V. Graham of Chicago, the majority leader, the bills were pushed tonight by Chairman Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago] in Mr. Graham's absence. The president pro tem is in Miami at the bedside of his father-in-law, Mayor Cermak.

One of the features of the bills is that they provide for dual alimony—that is, that the wife shall pay for the support of her husband if he is incapacitated and she is working. Another measure abolished the temporary alimony evil, setting a limit of two years upon such payments.

Miss Kirk's Bankruptcy Hearing to Be March 15

The board bill of Miss Beatrice Kirk's horse, which she said amounted to $800 when she filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition some weeks ago, will continue to increase till March 15. Hearing on the petition was continued to that date yesterday by Referee Garfield Charles on motion of two creditors, Herman Goldberg, with a claim of $2,000 for the horse, and Harry Owen, who is boarding the animal.

HOUSE PASSES STATE REPEAL BY 5 TO 1 VOTE

Gov. Horner Says He Will Sign at Once.

A. B. Lager [Dem., Carlyle], picked by the administration to handle the bills in the house, made a brief appeal for passage when Speaker Roe called them on third reading. His thesis was that "the noble experiment has proved a dismal failure," and he asked the house to rectify the mistake.

In high contrast to the searing oratory which featured consideration and final passage of repeal last session, today's incident was brief and to the point. Only one voice was raised against passage. Representative Solomon Handy [Dem., Marshall] voted for repeal of search and seizure but balked at abolition of the Illinois prohibition laws, saying that in his opinion both the radical wets and radical drys were wrong.

But Handy's was the only objection. The proceedings were confined almost exclusively to a roll call and not half a dozen members explained their votes as they cast them. Those who explained were liberals. The drys voted and kept quiet about it.

Second Bill Passes.

The second bill—calling for repeal of the Illinois prohibition laws—obtained a vote of 115 to 29, a number of the members having left the chamber or chose to hold part of their former dry allegiance at least. But typical of the sentiments expressed by the liberals was the explanation of Glenn H. Sunderland [Rep., Newton].

"I come from the driest district in the state," said Representative Sunderland. "Since prohibition went into effect I am the first from my district to vote other than 'no' on any repeal legislation. But I feel that we should follow the thoughts of our President elect, Mr. Roosevelt, and vote 'yes.' I so cast my vote."

SALES TAX BILL GIVEN APPROVAL BY COMMITTEE

Springfield, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Without changes—although some may be made upon the floor—the house judiciary committee today recommended passage of the pending three per cent sales tax bill. The measure will be on first reading tomorrow and a show of strength is expected.

The vote on the recommendation was 18 to 14, downstaters opposing the impost. This was an indication that there will be a battle of considerable magnitude when the bill is called for final passage—probably next week.

Much interest was displayed in a telegram read to the committee by its chairman, Benjamin S. Adamowski [Dem., Chicago]. The message was sent by William Hale, attorney for Marshall Field & Co. of Chicago. The message read:

"Marshall Field & Co. not opposed to sales tax and satisfied with form passed by senate. Believe that a provision for use of stamps would be unwise because it would complicate accounts, would require use of fractional stamps given to customers, many of which would be lost in stores and by customers and would involve so much waste as to defeat its purpose."

According to many authorities, some 80% of the people of today have acid stomach. This because so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

It usually makes itself felt in headaches, nausea, "gas," "biliousness," and most frequently in stomach pains that come about thirty minutes after eating. So you can easily tell if you have it.

HITLER'S GERMAN VISE TIGHTENED BY NEW DECREE

Edict Boosts Penalties for Subversive Acts.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 1.—A new decree "against treason to the German people and activities of high treason" was signed and issued by President Paul von Hindenburg today. Introducing new death sentences, the new edict further tightened the martial grip with which Chancellor Hitler's government has been bearing down on communists and other opposition elements since the burning of the reichstag building two days ago.

Death is threatened for high treason, betrayal of military secrets, and military espionage in today's decree. While the death sentence is the sole penalty for "serious betrayal of military secrets," less serious similar offenses may alternately be punished with life imprisonment. Spies may be let off with 15 years.

Penalties Boosted.

A person who publishes or discusses news—true or false—which in the interests of the reich should be kept secret from a foreign government, will be liable to at least three months in jail. A ten year sentence may be imposed for the forgery or falsification of news to be conveyed to a foreign government.

Treasonable activities against the reichswehr and police will now make the offender subject to long prison terms. Printing, circulating, or possessing any literature which incites resistance against the state or which incites a serious strike makes the offender liable to three years' imprisonment.

The government continued its nation-wide drive to arrest communists today and seized several hundred more. Many Reds are hiding. Others are fleeing the country. Marie Weese, woman communist reichstag member, reached Copenhagen today with a party of German comrades.

Litvinov Entertained.

Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, tonight ordered all German states to proclaim the communist party illegal, to raid and close all local communist offices, and to seize all communist newspapers.

Meanwhile, Germany's foreign minister, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, was entertaining Maxim Litvinov, soviet commissar of foreign affairs, at a formal luncheon. Litvinov is on his way to Moscow from Geneva. The soviet embassy declared it felt certain Litvinov voiced a protest against the "persecution and threats to Russian nationals living in Germany."

Hitler personally reported to Von Hindenburg today on recent developments. The president also conferred with Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of war.

It was announced that the auxiliary police formed by Hermann Goering, National Socialist minister of interior in Prussia, would consist of one-half Nazi storm troops, one-third Hitler's picked defense troops, and the rest Steel Helmet men [war veterans]. There are about 60,000 in all. The storm troop units, which have already been armed, are planning to celebrate with marches Saturday night at the end of the election campaign. Voting takes place Sunday.

French See Nazi Plot.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, March 1.—With growing anxiety the French are watching events across the Rhine and Adolf Hitler's repressive measures, in which they see a determined intention to achieve Fascist dictatorship. France, judging by today's press, seems distinctly inclined to blame the Nazis themselves for the fire which destroyed the reichstag hall. They see in it simply a crude excuse on Hitler's part to crush the opposition just before the elections.

Leon Blum, Socialist leader, is particularly outspoken. He calls the fire a "gross cynical camouflage which could not fool the public of any other country but Germany."

The semi-official Temps likewise throws considerable doubt on the authenticity of the charges against the communists and points out certain weaknesses in the story.

"All that can clearly be said," the Temps concludes, "is that the German crisis is now degenerating into civil war and pushing the nation toward anarchy and political chaos."

Britain Watching Situation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 1.—The British foreign office is keeping a line open to the embassy in Berlin, but the government sees no reason yet to demand that the lives and property of British nationals in Germany be protected during the election crisis, Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, said today in the house of commons.

"Of course, I receive frequent reports from his majesty's ambassador in Berlin on the situation in Germany," Sir John declared. "As regards the safety of British lives and property, it must be assumed that the German government will continue to discharge its responsibilities."

WIDOW TELLS OF GHOST VISITS AT BOMBING TRIAL

Defends Efforts to Buy Back Old Home.

The "living hell" in which she was stalked by the ghost of her dead husband was described on the witness stand late yesterday by Mrs. Ella Hopkins, 50 years old, on trial with Dr. Lester Offner in Judge Thomas J. Lynch's court for the bombing of the filling station of William Lambert, 5758 Higgins avenue.

The state contends the filling station was bombed because of Lambert's refusal to sell back the Higgins homestead on which the filling station stands and which the widow sold for $7,500. The deathbed warning of Lafayette Higgins that his spirit would return and haunt her if she sold the house, and his subsequent spiritual visitations, were the subjects of the widow's testimony.

Charges Sale Was Forced.

"Lambert came to our house with his brother, Hugo, and brought two bottles of wine," said Mrs. Higgins "We drank the wine and he began urging me to sell the house. I finally took a check for $100 as a down payment and signed a receipt.

"The next day I insisted that he take his check back, but he refused. He threatened to "take me for a ride" and forced me to go through with the deal. After he had got the house I told him my dead husband would put a curse on him if he didn't give it up. I told him the last thing my husband said was, 'Never let this house go to anybody without the name of Higgins, or I'll return and haunt you.'"

When she went to Washington to visit a brother, Mrs. Higgins testified, her husband began to return and haunt her at night. She would see him in her dreams.

Old "Spook" Angry Too.

"One night," she said, "he told me his father was with him and that the old man was angry about the house. He hold me I'd better get it back."

On her return to Chicago, she testified, she met Dr. Offner and suggested that she'd like to get somebody to give Lambert a couple of black eyes because he still refused to give up the house, although she had offered him a profit on the deal. She was still on the stand when court adjourned.

Mrs. Mary Allen, mother of Mrs. Higgins, a spry little woman of 83, told of the wine drinking on the night Lambert induced her daughter to sell the house.

"I told her not to sign that receipt," she said. "I told her she'd been drinking and to wait until her head cleared up."

After the state had rested its case Defense Attorneys James M. Burke and George Crane succeeded in getting the substantive charge of bombing a dwelling house dismissed, thereby eliminating a possible penalty of 1 to 20 years. Conspiracy, with a maximum sentence of 1 to 5 years, is all that remains. James De Milio, a third defendant, was granted a severance.

IRISH FREE STATE ABOLISHES OATH TO BRITISH KING

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 1.—(AP)—The dail eireann today passed by a vote of 75 to 49 a government bill abolishing the oath of allegiance to the British crown.

When the Irish Free State was created there was written into the constitution a provision that all officers of the state, including members of parliament, would take an oath of allegiance to the crown. From the beginning of his political career President de Valera has campaigned for the abolition of that provision.

The bill which the dail passed today deadlocked both houses of parliament at the last session. If the senate adopts it the oath will disappear immediately. If the senate should reject it, which is not expected, it will become a law in sixty days anyway.

KENTUCKY KILLS INDICTMENTS OF DREISER, PARTY

Pineville, Ky., March 1.—(AP)—Indictments against Theodore Dreiser and members of his party who sought to investigate conditions in the eastern Kentucky coal fields in November, 1931, were dismissed today in Bell county Circuit court here.

The New York novelist and Miss Marie Pergain, Mrs. Adelaide Walker, Charles Rumford Walker, Lester Cohen, John Dos Passos, Sam Ornitz, A. Gahms, Celia Juhn, and Melvin Levy were charged with criminal syndicalism. In addition, Dreiser and Miss Pergain were named in a separate indictment which also was dismissed.

The visit of the Dreiser group, who held meetings and asked the governor for protection, was followed by visits of numerous other parties and ejection of some of them.

LEAGUE ORDERS INTERVENTION IN WAR AT LETICIA

Asks Peru to Quit Colombian City.

GENEVA, March 1.—(AP)—The league of nations council gave its approval today to a proposal for intervention in the controversy between Peru and Colombia over the Amazonian part of Leticia by an international commission acting under league auspices.

Colombia accepted immediately, but Peru's representative requested and received a postponement of decision for several days to receive instructions from his government.

Asks Peru to Withdraw.

The plan calls for sending a league commission to the scene of the trouble, where it will be given temporary command of the Colombian forces, and Peru's troops will withdraw from the Leticia area, which is Colombian, to their own territory.

Thus for a time the troops of Colombia would become a league of nations military force, but the forces of no other country would be introduced.

Should Peru reject the proposal, it was indicated, the league council will abandon conciliatory procedure and draft a report and recommendations as was done in the Sino-Japanese dispute.

New Peace Plan for Chaco.

The chancellery answered a proposal for conciliation between Bolivia and Paraguay advanced by Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru. Details of the proposal and of the reply were kept secret.

The general staff announced that a strong Paraguayan counter-attack in the Toledo sector of the Gran Chaco was repulsed yesterday. Airplanes successfully bombarded important enemy positions, the communique said.

Report "Bloody Battle."

ASUNCION, Paraguay, March 1.—(AP)—The minister of war announced today that Paraguayan forces had repulsed Bolivian attacks in the Toledo and Corrales sectors of the Gran Chaco. Enemy planes, the announcement said, have reconnoitered over the Herrera sector. A communique from the war ministry said:

"In the Toledo and Corrales sectors, we repulsed the enemy in a bloody battle and forced them back to their former positions. They left mountains of corpses. Skirmishes at Fort Nanawa were unimportant."

The "day of heroes" was observed here today to honor the men killed in the Gran Chaco warfare.

Nellie Picks a Tough Foe and Master Comes to Aid

Louis Fortino, 932 South Leavitt street, was aroused early yesterday by an uproar in his back yard and descended to the yard to find his dog, Nellie, locked in combat with a bushy gray animal. Fortino got a gun and went to the assistance of the dog. Her opponent, which he shot, turned out to be a raccoon, believed to have been one of the three which escaped from Lincoln park recently. Attendants at the zoo said that Fortino's intervention was probably fortunate for Nellie, because the raccoon in its wild state, can usually whip or kill any but specially trained dogs.

FOUND HANGED IN ATTIC.

ONTARIO RUM BOARD REPORTS $6,632,420 PROFITS; SALES DROP

TORONTO, Ont., March 1.—(AP)—The annual report of the Ontario liquor control board, issued today, shows a sales decrease of $9,736,145 for 1932. Total sales amounted to $36,099,562, compared with $45,835,707 for 1931. Total profits of $6,632,420 were made by the board.

The decline in sales and purchase of permits were attributed to the "continuance of the world-wide depression which has had a profound influence on the board's operations." Practically every branch of the board's activity showed declines. Imported liquors and wines dropped off heavily.

"The outstanding reason for the decline in business was unquestionably the reduced purchasing power of the people," the board reported. "This was a condition which applied equally to our own people and to the large number of tourists from the United States."

WHEATON UNION AGENT DIES OF AUTO INJURIES

Peter Cavanaugh, 928 West Roosevelt road, Wheaton, business agent of the teamsters and chauffeurs union in Du Page county, died yesterday in Westlake hospital at Melrose Park of injuries incurred Tuesday night.

Cavanaugh's automobile struck the truck of William Crasey, a farmer, of Bloomingdale, at St. Charles road and 49th street, Bellwood. Crasey had stopped to adjust his motor. Crasey also was critically injured and is in the Westlake hospital.

Cavanaugh's death and one other yesterday increased the 1933 traffic toll in Cook county to 133. The other victim:

Kenneth Johnson, colored, 7 years old, 21 North Oakley boulevard. Died of injuries incurred Tuesday afternoon when he was struck by a truck in an alley at the rear of the Hayes school, 258 North Leavitt street.

The body of one of the two men crushed between two Cottage Grove avenue street cars near 69th street, was identified last night as that of William G. Matthews, 21 years old, of 818 East 38th street. The other killed was C. Leonard Talbot.

CUBAN RAIDS NET HUGE SUPPLIES OF REBEL ARMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, March 1.—The police and army, in raids at numerous towns and cities, today confiscated large quantities of arms and ammunition which was to have been used in a revolt against the régime of President Machado.

Chief of Staff Gen. Alberto Herrera said the raids netted 851 twelve pound bombs, nearly two tons of dynamite, twelve anti-aircraft guns, 65 German made machine guns, 500 Springfield rifles, 600 carbines, 500,000 rounds of ammunition, and several hundred olive drab trousers and black shirts which were to have been the opposition's official uniform.

Secret dispatch of army troops started today when five trains, carrying about 2,000 soldiers, left Havana for unannounced destinations in the central and eastern provinces. Unconfirmed reports early tonight told of "abnormal conditions and marked political unrest in various cities of Camaguey and Santa Clara provinces."

What to do: Solve the series of Crossword Puzzles appearing in the Chicago Daily Tribune. A new puzzle will appear each day, excepting Sunday, until 48 have appeared. The official seal and name of one of the 48 States of the United States will appear in each puzzle. Solve the puzzles and write the name of the State below each puzzle.

Dramatizations: Each evening, excepting Saturdays, W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune Station, will broadcast a dramatization of the State whose seal appears in the puzzle the following morning in the Tribune. Tune in. These dramatizations will furnish clues to help you.

Where to Send Entries: Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "State Seals," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Puzzle No. 48 has been printed. Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, Postage Prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department.

The Awards: The Chicago Tribune will pay 179 cash prizes totaling $2,500.00 to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved and neatest complete sets of puzzles in accordance with these rules. You do not necessarily have to solve each of the 48 puzzles correctly to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank highest. Elaborate entries are not necessary and will receive no greater consideration than simple ones. Therefore make your entry simple and neat. (See Prize List at right.)

KING ALEXANDER OFFERS REFORMS TO AVOID REVOLT

Jugo-Slavia Suspicious of Italy's Moves.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Feb. 15.—[By Mail.]—By ambiguous promises of electoral reform and a return to parliamentary government King Alexander is seeking to forestall a possible catastrophe in Jugo-Slavia. Reform measures now are before the skupshtina [chamber of deputies], half of whose members the king appoints, but the changes are not acceptable to the opposition generally and are not taking effective shape.

Because of this and renewed persecution of oppositionists, the European press, notably in England and Austria, has freely predicted that Jugo-Slavia is on the eve of a revolution. The Italian press, interested particularly in Croat separatism, for many months has been predicting calamity.

French Aid Lessened.

Belgrade politicians and bureaucrats admit the government's position is "deplorable." They fear that unless the house is set in order, the Croat opposition will achieve its object. Too, there is some concern whether the army will continue solidly to back the present situation. Adding further to the welter, there is a public debt of $43,000,000. French pursestrings have been tightened and there is little market abroad for agricultural products.

Outwardly Belgrade appears to be quietly going about its business—the street scene is as normal as that of Rome or Vienna. But there are evidences of disorder in public life and turmoil elsewhere. Spying and suppression are common in political circles and no one dares give utterance to his political opinions. Frequent acts of violence occur along the Macedonian frontier between Jugo-slavia and Bulgaria. Workers may no longer cross the border and return to their homes at night.

Distrusts Italy.

If reforms and liquidation of the dictatorship relieve some of the pressure, Jugo-Slavia will still have other preoccupations. Across the western frontier they look to Italy as a good customer commercially, but a perennial enemy along the Dalmatian coast. The teapot tempest over the Trau statues incident is just now dying down, but it has sequels. Jugo-Slavia is alarmed at reports that Italy was forcing a customs union on King Zog with a purpose to plant colonies in southern Albania.

Then there were the claims that Italy was supplying arms and planes to Hungary. Belgrade wonders how far Mussolini will go, how strong a ring he will form around Jugo-Slavia as a Balkan counter league to the little entente. Revisionism, as it is called, haunts Belgrade and all the Balkan backyard of Europe. The successor states of the little entente, Jugo-Slavia, Czechoslovakia, and Rumania, at their recent Belgrade conference, laid dow lines for strengthening the military alliance between themselves.

Governor to Get Plan for Suburban Policing

The executive committee of the Suburban Area and Country Towns association of Cook county yesterday approved a plan for coördinating metropolitan police work without consolidation of the suburbs. This plan will be sent to Gov. Horner as an answer to the recommendation to consolidate the suburban police forces. It will be introduced in the senate if any effort is made to force consolidation. The association says the police forces of the suburbs already coöperate, that the average cost per capita is $2.27, but that consolidation would boost that cost.

CLERK SHOOTS YOUNG MOTHER AND KILLS SELF

Irving Lowenthal, 3409 15th street, a butcher's clerk, shot and gravely wounded Mrs. Helen Cox, 33 years old, 6448 North avenue, yesterday and then fatally wounded himself. Lowenthal died in the county hospital last night and physicians said Mrs. Cox's wounds, caused by three bullets, probably would prove fatal. She was taken to the Lutheran Deaconess hospital.

Mrs. Cox told police that Lowenthal shot her when she repulsed his advances. She said he had called to deliver a bottle of milk. In a bedroom sleeping at the time of the shooting was Mrs. Cox's daughter, Marion, who is three years old. The husband, Timothy P. Cox, a photographer employed by the W. F. Hall Printing company, 4600 Diversey avenue, hurried to his wife's bedside when told of the shooting.

Lowenthal's widow, Sarah, 32, is in Mount Sinai hospital, where she gave birth to a son, their fourth child, on Monday. She was not told of the tragedy because of her weakened condition. The husband was employed in the butcher shop of his brother-in-law, Philip Goldstein, which is in the same building in which the Coxes live.

CHICAGO IS ENTERED IN NATIONAL HEALTH CONTEST OF A. OF C.

With official figures showing Chicago's death rate last year to have been the lowest in its history, the Chicago Association of Commerce has entered the city in the inter-chamber health conservation contest under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce. This was announced yesterday by George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago association. The association believes, he said, that Chicago will rank high among all the cities of 500,000 or more population.

The claims of Chicago are based on the annual report of the board of health prepared by its president, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen. This report points out that there were nearly 1,000 fewer deaths in 1932 than in the best previous year. Also, fewer babies died in 1932 than ever before in proportion to the number born. More than $400,000 less was spent last year than in the previous year on the work of the board of health, despite the good records achieved.

LENTEN SEASON OPEN; CROWDS GO TO SERVICES

Churches Mark Occasion Throughout City.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Ash Wednesday was observed yesterday with what pastors said was the greatest fervor of recent years. Catholic churches were overflowing with quiet worshipers, who received ashes on their foreheads from the hands of their priests in token of penitence. At the Grand Opera house Bishop George Craig Stewart opened the Episcopal noonday Lenten services before one of the largest Ash Wednesday crowds in the 35 years of the loop meetings.

At the First Methodist church of Wilmette more than 300 Methodist Episcopal pastors of Chicago and northern Illinois met for a retreat led by Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Chicago area. The retreat lasted throughout the day. Bishop Waldorf was assisted in the leadership of the services by Prof. W. D. Schermerhorn of Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston.

Cardinal Gives Regulations.

For the observance of the 40 days of the Lenten period Cardinal Mundelein has issued regulations which distinguish between days of fasting and days which require both fasting and abstinence. He pointed out that each day of the season is a fast day, except Sundays, and that Wednesdays, Fridays, Saturday of Ember week, and Holy Saturday are days of fasting and abstinence. A day of fasting and abstinence, Cardinal Mundelein explained, is one in which meat is altogether forbidden.

A fast day is one in which only one full meal with meat is allowed, Cardinal Mundelein's regulations explain. However, all workingmen and their families are excused from abstinence, and thus, the regulations say, days of fast and abstinence are actually merely fast days for working groups.

Rule for St. Patrick's Day.

The regulations point out that St. Patrick's day, March 17, this year falls on a Friday. In order to foster "the large number of public dinners usually held on this day," Cardinal Mundelein's regulations provide that "by virtue of a special papal indult, we are dispensing both fast and abstinence for our subjects everywhere and for all who are actually within the confines of the archdiocese that day."

The word Lent comes from the Anglo-Saxon "lenchen," or spring. The origin of the period is obscure, although its observance has been recorded since the fourth century. The number of days recalls Christ's forty days of fasting in the desert.

50 OFFICERS BATTLE TEN HOURS TO SEIZE BARRICADED MANIAC

Depue, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Armed only with a shotgun and a box of shells, Lawrence Fox, 50, an escaped patient of the state insane asylum at East Moline, stood off a posse of fifty men equipped with an armored car, machine gun and tear gas bombs for ten hours in a farmhouse here today before he was subdued.

Unharmed when he was finally captured, Fox was lodged in the Bureau county jail at Princeton tonight to be returned to the asylum tomorrow. His 90 year old mother, who remained in the house throughout the siege, was recovering from the effects of tear gas at the Perry Memorial hospital at Princeton, while in the same hospital Deputy Eugene Flaherty was being treated for a wound resulting when Fox fired a charge of buckshot into his face. Flaherty will recover.

Fox, adjudged insane ten years ago, made his third escape from the asylum yesterday.

Seize 'Skyscraper Burglar' on Con Game Charge

Melville Reeves, known as the skyscraper burglar, was locked up in the Evanston jail last night on a confidence game charge. Evanston police arrested him at his home in Glenview on a warrant obtained by Miss Gertrude Kroger of the Kroger furriers, 701 Main street, Evanston, charging that he had defrauded the house of $62.50. Reeves is alleged to have put a $100 government bond as security for a cleaning bill. Returning the next day, he took the bond to get it cashed, saying he would return, but he did not keep his word, police said.

"I SOUGHT REST," LIEBOLD SAYS ON TRIP HOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 1.—[Special.]—Ernest G. Liebold, confidential secretary to Henry Ford, was hitting the back trail to Detroit this afternoon accompanied by his son and two Ford Motor company secret service men.

While wandering about this state for 36 hours he covered a circuitous route of about 600 miles, his pleasure tour ending in Traverse City. There he literally "found himself" Tuesday evening at 10:30 o'clock after state police had made a radio broadcast, fearing he had been kidnaped.

He explained he needed rest and couldn't get it at home as the phone always was ringing.

"I needed rest more than anything else, and that is what I want to get," he stated at Traverse City this morning. "I was both patient and physician. I prescribed for myself and filled my own prescriptions. Right now, after a good night's sleep, I feel better than I have at any time in several months."

Decorator Shoots Himself in Home; Condition Serious

Edgar M. MacCartney, 50 years old, of 7321 South Shore drive, was taken to the Lakeside clinic and post-graduate hospital last night, suffering from a bullet wound over the heart. Police said he had shot himself while in bed in his home. The shot was heard by his wife and the maid. MacCartney is a designer and interior decorator. He had been ill and resigned his position with a downtown concern on Tuesday on the advice of his physician, Dr. Fred Sonnenfeld, 11349 Michigan avenue. His condition is serious.

O'Connor, 3644 North Irving avenue, of $7. The damage to the clothes was estimated at $100. Chapman told police he operates a union shop.

You'll do it better on DATED coffee

Science says coffee gives you greater endurance, makes you faster, mentally and physically. But beware of stale coffee.

People should be afraid of stale coffee. But any normal, healthy grown-up, science says, can safely enjoy as many as 5 cups a day of fresh coffee.

That is why Chase & Sanborn instituted Dated Coffee. An expiration date on every pound, and no can allowed to stay on your grocer's shelf after its date has expired.

Order Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee tomorrow and notice the difference in richness of flavor and in the effect it has on you.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE GREAT PARADOX.

Though the eyes of the nation are now fixed upon the incoming President in anxious hope, some thought may be stirred by the retiring figure of Herbert Hoover. Most of our chief magistrates have been accorded a second term. Those who have not, when they survived the first term, have been the victims of some crisis which overbore the usual political influences favoring the incumbent of a powerful office. Chester Arthur did not wish renomination. More memorable, Calvin Coolidge did not choose to run for reelection, though, unlike Arthur, he was assured of success. Mr. Hoover earnestly sought it as an indorsement of his trusteeship. He won renomination but not reelection, and it is perhaps for the historian of the future to judge comprehensively the causes of his failure. Contemporaneous judgment is likely to be either too simple or too personal. The easiest explanation is obviously that Mr. Hoover was the victim of an impulsive desire for change, any change in intolerable circumstances. Governments and political leaders in any country almost invariably succumb to such conditions, and no doubt Mr. Hoover was heavily, if not indeed fatally, handicapped by them. Whether or not he did as well with the problems of his stormy hour as another might, it must be admitted in fairness that he suffered politically in considerable measure for conditions which no President could be expected to master.

Nevertheless this view of his defeat is far too simple and superficial, whatever allowance must be made for it. A more important consideration in any final judgment is that Mr. Hoover, quite apart from the special circumstances of the depression, had not acquired public confidence as a strong and consistent leader. He entered upon the presidency with the great advantage and the great responsibility of a reputation for disinterestedness. It was expected that he would eschew partisan expediencies and drive a straight furrow regardless of immediate penalties. So far as his views on public affairs were known it was assumed that his utterances were a reliable index to his firm purpose.

It cannot be said that this expectation was fulfilled. On the contrary, he has achieved one of the most interesting paradoxes in our political history. For example, we have had few if any better expressions in our political literature of the principles of American individualism than Mr. Hoover has contributed. But in practice and accomplishment he has been the greatest state socialist in our annals. The violent emergencies he has been compelled to meet do not account for this paradox. They no doubt compelled unusual resorts to government action, and to some extent Mr. Hoover sought to condone them on grounds of necessity. But this does not account for his enforced and persistent tendency, even before his presidency, to increase the scope of federal activity and expenditure. He was, as one political observer has said, government-minded. He could praise individualism with eloquence, but he could also build Boulder dam.

In foreign policy a similar paradox is presented. Mr. Hoover has been strong in his utterances on stalwart Americanism, but his foreign policy has in the main subordinated American interests to European. He immediately gave ground on the question of American cruiser types, but that was only a foretaste. His secretary of state, with, of course, his blessing, has been jettisoning American tradition and American policy at a dizzy rate and interpreting us into the league of nations as fully as if we had entered with all the formalities of adherence. He has abandoned our right to neutrality and embarked upon an enterprise of international censorship and regulation which Woodrow Wilson in his most aspiring moments might have hesitated to propose.

But in the present natural preoccupation of our people with their private difficulties these aspects of Mr. Hoover's public character probably impressed the public judgment less than they would in other circumstances. This cannot be said of his course on prohibition. In his first campaign for election Mr. Hoover did not indeed take an emphatic stand either one way or the other on this outstanding issue. We think it was here distrust of the theory of Mr. Hoover's elevated disinterestedness was planted. Mr. Hoover's device was to promise a thorough and candid inquiry into the consequences of prohibition and it was justifiably assumed that this pledged him to forthright acceptance and action upon the findings of his inquiry. This was not a satisfactory compromise for the great mass of Americans, who considered the facts too notorious and conclusive to need official exposition. And it was even less satisfactory to those who were opposed to prohibition on principle. But it was accepted as a compromise with immediate political expediency. The compromise was quickly demonstrated to be fallacious. Mr. Hoover delivered himself of the agencies of prohibition bigotry and permitted them without rebuke or restraint to carry on a system of terrorism which violated the American spirit and the essential principles of American individual liberty which Mr. Hoover in speech repeatedly celebrated. When his ambitious inquiry transpired its findings were first announced from Washington in a form so garbled as to give an entirely false impression and break the first impact of its conclusions. When fully examined the report was found to support in fact and overwhelmingly the demand for relief from the prohibition régime, but with obvious efforts to avoid logical conclusions from its admissions. From Mr. Hoover nothing of use to the public was heard then or since. The people drew their own conclusions and among them was that Mr. Hoover had failed to keep faith, had failed to abide by his own contrivance. Confidence in Mr. Hoover could hardly survive that exposure. The demand for relief from the régime of oppression swept on, but not with Herbert Hoover.

When the campaign for indorsement came there was no solid ground of consistency upon which Mr. Hoover could take his stand. His acts had betrayed his words, and upon his acts he was judged as every statesman must be.

SECOND CLASS RATES.

According to the postoffice department's accounting, second class matter is handled at a total loss of more than $102,000,000. Of this sum, daily newspapers are carried at a loss of more than $36,000,000; other newspapers at a loss of $11,000,000; all other publications at a loss of $28,000,000; and the free distribution within a county of its local newspaper adds more than $8,500,000 to the government's annual bills. Another $16,000,000 of loss is accounted for under the heading of "publications exempt from zone rates on advertising."

The figures, to be sure, were compiled by postoffice accountants and are subject to examination and review; but assuming that the picture presented is not wholly false, it follows that the newspapers of this country are shown to be the beneficiaries of a subsidy the cost of which is a charge upon all the taxpayers. There is no excuse for such favoritism, and if the figures of the department are correct the abuse ought to be stopped. Newspapers should pay what it costs to distribute them through the mails, and the principle holds true, needless to say, whether the newspapers are large or small. Neither THE TRIBUNE nor the smallest of country weeklies has a franchise to raid the pocketbooks of the taxpayers.

Under the circumstances it would seem to be the plain duty of the various associations of publishers to study the accounting and find any flaws that may exist in it. When that has been done, if it is disclosed that the rates charged are insufficient to meet the costs which second class matter properly bears, the rates should be raised. This may result in forcing the newspapers to provide alternative methods of distribution, such as trucks; but at any rate the newspapers can then no longer be accused of using their influence to get something for nothing at the expense of the taxpayers.

CORRUPTION OF THE PRESS.

Radicals in Wisconsin, having enjoyed a newspaper subsidized by the state, made a frantic effort to retain that advantage. It was of value to them both for the reward it provided for one of the faithful and because it gave an official appearance to legislative news completely written and interpreted from the political standpoint of the radical group.

Democrats, no less alive to opportunity, prepared at once to transfer the advantage to National Committeeman Broughton's paper, the Sheboygan Press, and succeeded. Their program had been halted in the senate by the scheming of the united opposition, who, if they were unable to keep the plum, were unwilling to see it transferred to a newspaper of opposing political thought.

The official title implies a veracity in news reporting that has seldom been warranted. The distinction has not been sought by any paper of general circulation in the state. In addition to a cash return of about $7,500 for the biennium, the official paper profits from the subscriptions of several thousand attorneys and politically minded business men who require it for the concise listing of reports on bills introduced and legislative procedure, facts reported without public expense by the press associations and newspapers generally.

The only beneficiary of an official state newspaper other than the man who owns one is the political party which controls it. To tax the citizens to subsidize a newspaper to spread the doctrines of any political faction or party is vicious political practice.

It was just one of the La Follette customs which the Democrats now in control in Wisconsin could profitably smother and abandon.

Editorial of the Day

[Adrian Daily Telegram.]

At a recent meeting of the Detroit Bar association the president of the organization, Matthew H. Bishop, former prosecutor of Wayne county, announced in rather startling terms his conversion to the principle of nonpartisan selection of judges. Mr. Bishop's announcement is the more impressive because a committee of the bar association is now studying this question, with a report due to be made soon.

"I've come to my senses at last," Mr. Bishop said before the assembled attorneys and justices. "The present system of electing justices of the supreme court, or any judicial officer for that matter, as a partisan is indefensible. I admit I had to have a brick wall fall on me before I reached that decision. The brick wall was the recent election when lawyers of whom I had never heard were elected to the bench.

"The party system in the selection of judges is all wrong. What have the tariff or prohibition or the sales tax or war debts to do with the administration of justice? Absolutely nothing.

"How far the bar committee will go in its recommendations I don't know. The field is wide open. It may recommend nonpartisan election of judges or it may even suggest the appointive system with life tenure, the system in vogue in England and in Canada. But we certainly are going right to the mat on this question and will push through at least a measure of reform. We mean business."

At the same meeting Justice Henry M. Butzel of the state supreme court expressed the opinion that partisan judicial elections are an abomination.

Mr. Bishop's remarks are the more interesting in view of the refusal of the state bar association at its last annual meeting to take a decisive stand on the issue of appointment of judges. It voted to delay a decision until this year. If the Detroit association should go on record favoring appointment and ending the present situation in which a judge must play politics to get and keep his place on the bench, a considerable leverage will be exerted to bring the state group into line behind a reform which the people can hardly fail to approve, once they give the matter thoughtful consideration. If there is to be any progress made in the war on crime a judiciary freed from politics must be the first weapon.

Then you'll see Prosperity coming around that corner and Old Man Depression takin' it on the lam. By the middle of the week I expect to see all the unemployed back to work, wages put up to what they used to be, and stocks and bonds jest a skyrocketing. Now, you 'member what I say. I'm tellin' yuh." "You were flashin' a handful of change when you paid your fare," said the man with him. "Lemme have a buck 'til next Thursday." "Can't do it," said the optimist, quickly; "you gotta hold on to your coin these days. Nobody know what's a goin' ter happen."

OUT OF STEP.

Where are the tramping feet of yesterday,
The tramping feet that proudly marched to war?
Not all are meekly resting in green fields
Beyond blue waters on a foreign shore.
I saw them toes-uplifted between sheets,
In narrow beds whose spring-coils creak to pain.
I saw them folded crosswise on wheel chairs—
Those helpless feet that shall not walk again!
I saw the tramping feet of yesterday

I saw them standing grimly near the docks
In gaping shoes soaked through with mud and brine!
Only the echo now remains of days
When their proud tramping made the people stare,
When doors and windows opened as they passed,
Today the tramping feet are very quiet—
What matters if they saved the soil they tread?
A crutch, or cross, can not be traded now
For one hot bowl of soup or rented bed!

IT'S JUST TOO BAD that farmers down in Illinois had to organize a great wolf drive in order to kill the varmints that were feasting on their sheep. It's too bad, because the story will get to London very soon and then the newspapers will carry headlines such as "American Peasants Forced to Hunt Wolves for Food" or "Chicago Helpless as Wild Beasts from the Forest Prowl the Streets; Indian Uprising Threatened." And yet sometimes you thoughtlessly say that the English have no sense of humor. My dear! you should read their news from these United States.

FROSTING OF WINDOWS.

THE furniture often goes bad in wintertime in any section where house heating is necessary. It gets rickety and creaky and falls to pieces.

When air is heated its thirst increases. Thirst is a basic urge in all life processes, more basic than hunger or the urge to reproduce, or even that of preservation of life. So universally is this recognized that the wets mendaciously claim that the regulation of alcohol consumption runs counter to a basic urge in that it is an attempt to regulate by law a man's thirst.

Such an argument against the use of drug, opium, would be equally valid. It would be far more valid as an argument against laws for the suppression of red light districts and the component parts thereof.

If air is so thirsty that it will take the water from a chair, why will it not cause a man to shed a leg here, an arm there, and an ear yonder?

Man gets water from many sources in addition to his food and drink, and besides he burns hydrogen, adds oxygen to it, and water results. He can give up no small part of water to the air around him and, in that way, keep his members. Nevertheless, being dried out during most of the hours of the day and night is not good for the constitution. The ideal degree of saturation of air at 70 degrees is 70 per cent. If we could have air that moist we could sit in comfort when the room temperature was 65 degrees.

However, until we build our houses with far better insulation than is now the custom a humidity of 70 is not feasible. The walls would sweat enough to wash off the paper or streak the calcimine. With present wall building methods a humidity of 40 per cent is about as much as the paper will stand. In a rough way, when there is 14 to 15 degrees difference between the temperature as registered on wet and dry bulb thermometers when the heat is on the humidity is 40 or very near it.

Air of this humidity will cause the skin to be somewhat dry and harsh, but not enough to be uncomfortable to most persons. The skin of old persons will be too dry and may need some goose grease and, here and there, some younger person will complain of winter itch, but the average person will live in such air in a fair state of comfort.

EPIDEMIC OF ITCH.

A Desperate Mother writes: Will you please tell me how to get rid of the itch mite? My little girl caught it from other school children. The school is full of it. I had never heard of decent people having this trouble and I am ashamed to see my doctor about it. I thought she had nettlerash and every member of my family, including myself, got the infection before I found out the trouble. A friend gave me some vile smelling, dark brown ointment which helped some but left the skin so tender I am afraid to use any more of it. I have been careful about changing bedding, clothing, etc. I am not sure but what the children are still getting the trouble from school. Will you tell me how to avoid that and also what to use to kill the mite? Would soap help any?

REPLY.

If the town has it and the schools are spreading it don't you think it is time to get over being finicky? Sulphur ointment, properly used, will cure any case of scabies. Danish itch ointment is better than the old kinds because it is more penetrating. This ointment can be bought in drug stores under various trade names. The use of soap has a place in the cure. It is of service in removing scabs and dead skin, making it possible for the sulphur to reach the parasites. The ointment must be repeatedly applied until all parasites have been killed. It should be used as a follow-up a few times to kill the parasites that have hatched since the cure. Clothing is a prolific source of spreading. Laundering and hot ironing will kill the parasite. Exposure in school is an important agency for spreading the disease. If your local school population is badly infested it is advisable for the school authorities to do their bit. The disease is often called seven year itch. The name is descriptive when the people concerned are indifferent or not well informed. The disease can be cured in seven days or less.

COMPENSATION.

H. B. writes: You often write of "compensation." Please inform an ignorant layman how and where it is effected.

REPLY.

You refer to compensation of the heart capacity. Organic disease of the heart valves increases the work the heart muscle is called on to perform. If this extra work is well carried we say compensation is established. This usually means an increase in size and in tone of the heart muscle. To bring this about the physician usually begins by prescribing rest in bed. This is followed by a prescription of exercise. The exercises are carefully regulated by the patient's muscle tone. In building up compensation such drugs as digitalis are often used—but not always.

MORTGAGE RENEWAL.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own a bungalow in Oak Park and have a small first mortgage on it. It will be due in a month or so and I have reason to believe that the party will not renew said mortgage. 1. Can they go ahead and foreclose on the property? Taxes, interest and all assessments are paid. 2. What about the new law that Hoover put through? 3. Is there any place or building loan where they will take over my mortgage? 4. Also, if they should foreclose, what about the equity I have in the place? R. N.

1. Yes.
2. Perhaps you have in mind the Home Loan bank law, but the Home Loan bank at Evanston will not deal with you unless you have exhausted the possibilities of borrowing through local building and loan associations.
3. The way to find out is to apply to such associations.
4. Unless you are represented at the foreclosure sale it is not likely that there will be any bid large enough to yield an equity in your favor.

GARNISHMENT.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My daughter bought a radio on the installment plan, agreeing to pay $2 a week. She signed my name to the contract and left me two months later. In order to avoid trouble I finished paying on it, making my last payment a month ago. The creditor has garnisheed my wages, saying I still owe him $4 interest for not paying the installments on time. I paid twice a month, as my income is only $40 a month. The creditor is taking action against me, but I mentioned to him that I did not sign the contract. He claims I did. M. K.

He has no right to bring garnishment proceedings without first getting judgment against you. Your defense should be presented in the proceedings looking to such judgment. If you mean merely that he has caused a demand notice to be served upon you, without first securing judgment, then this is an improper procedure and if an attorney is involved it should be reported to the Bar association. The employer should ignore such unauthorized notice.

DESTRUCTIVE TREES.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—[Friend of the People.]—We have two large poplar trees in front of our house. The roots are raising the sidewalk above the level of our neighbor's, therefore making it dangerous for pedestrians. Would we be allowed to take down these trees and replace them with some smaller trees?

B. G. M.

Investigation showed that the roots of two live 30 inch poplars were breaking up the sidewalk. Inasmuch as the plantins of poplars in the parkways of the city is now prohibited, and the owner agreed to remove these two trees and replace them with a better variety at his own expense, he was given a permit for their removal.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 2, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—Unless the Berlin government promptly establishes its innocence of the charge of plotting to incite Japan and Mexico to war upon the United States the American people soon may find themselves at war with Germany. President Wilson's accusation of Germany, given to the world through the medium of the Associated Press, fell like a thunderbolt upon official Washington. The senate, astounded by the charge and by the indirect and mysterious manner in which the President conveyed the information to the American people, adopted a resolution calling upon the executive for "whatever information he has" concerning Foreign Minister Zimmermann's note containing the plot instructions. Mr. Wilson promptly replied to the senate by declaring that the published version of the Zimmermann note is authentic, that the note itself is in the possession of the United States government, and that the document and other information concerning the plot were obtained by the United States within the last week. Further information concerning the matter, the President informed the senate, would be incompatible with the public interest to disclose at this time. It was learned on high authority that the President has much more sensational evidence of the German plot to disclose if circumstances warrant.

WASHINGTON.—The administration's measure empowering President Wilson to arm American ships and appropriating $100,000,000 for the purpose was passed by the house of representatives by a vote of 403 to 13. The bill, however, does not contain the grant of authority to use "other instrumentalities," which the President specifically desires, and would prevent government war insurance for munition ships, a prohibition which the President does not approve. When the house bill is received in the senate tomorrow, the senate bill, with its provision for "other instrumentalities," will be substituted, and that is expected finally to be accepted by both houses as the law.

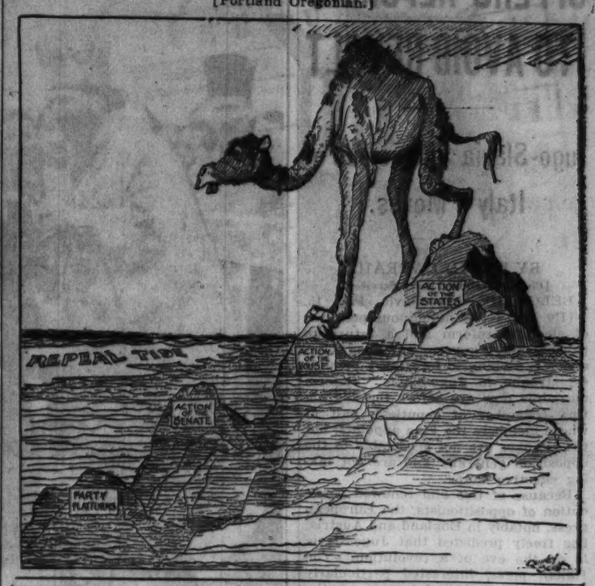

WASHINGTON.—Immediately after reading reports of the German plot the Japanese ambassador and the Mexican chargé issued statements announcing that their governments would not countenance an alliance against the United States. Mr. Sato, the Japanese ambassador, said: "With regards to the alleged German attempts to induce Japan and Mexico to make war upon the United States, made public in the press, the Japanese embassy, while lacking information as to whether such invitation ever reached Tokio, desires to state most emphatically that any invitation of this sort would under no circumstances be entertained by the Japanese government, which is in entire accord and close relations with the other powers on account of formal agreements and our common cause and, moreover, our good friendship with the United States, which is every day growing in sincerity and cordiality. Germany is much mistaken if she thinks my country would combine with Mexico and herself to make war against the United States. Germany would stop at nothing in the present state of affairs, and this makes the conception of the plot probable. In saying this I speak authoritatively for my government." Ramon De Negri, Mexican chargé, said: "As chargé d'affaires of the Mexican embassy I desire to deny the participation of my government in the reported plot. I expect the official denial of my government will be made in reply to the report, which I have forwarded to the foreign office."

WAR SUMMARY.—Unofficial reports from Paris say the Germans have evacuated Bapaume, one of the British objectives. London officially reports that the enemy continues to give ground. Berlin admits retirement of its troops. Fighting of a violent character was resumed on the Rumanian front. Petrograd reports partial success in the region of Jacobeni-Kimpolung road. Rome reports the defeat of Austrian troops on the slopes of Monte Mosciagh after violent artillery preparation. The British continue their pursuit of the Turks in Mesopotamia. The Moslems are reported in rout on retreat to Bagdad. Submarines sank three British, one French, one Belgian, and one Norwegian ship yesterday with a total tonnage of 9,003.

CHICAGO.—Supporting the plan for a unified local government for Chicago, Ald. Charles E. Merriam addressed the City club and scored the existing government scheme as "a twenty-one ring circus." "It really is a confederacy of governments," he said. "I look to see the time when Chicago will have a body of trustees with an appointive chief administrator or city manager who will be given the job of conducting affairs on proper and sound administrative lines. To accomplish this we must divorce local from national issues."

THE BUDGETING SEX.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 27.—Question: "What is a budget?"

Gentlemen say: "A long list of all the things you have to have and all the things you'd like to have with their approximate costs, the sum total of which equals the income you must acquire [somehow and anyhow]."

Ladies say: "As long a list as possible of the necessities that can be purchased from the income that is actually within your hands."

May I suggest that the city fathers turn the financial ship over to the city mothers for a year or two, at the end of which time I know they would have all bills paid and money in the bank?

ELSIE GRAHAM.

MARK TWAIN'S WAY TO GET A JOB.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Apropos the great problem of unemployment, in reading Mark Twain's autobiography recently the writer was particularly interested to learn how our good friend solved this same problem for his friends, and, incidentally, for a few of his relatives also. Mark had a unique plan, which, I believe, he originated himself, viz.: When requested to assist in obtaining employment for some one the great humorist would instruct him to go to the prospective employer of his choice and tell him that he was tired of being idle and wanted nothing in the world so much as work—any kind of work—and that he did not want wages, but would support himself. In every case the applicant landed the job [which was not surprising under the circumstances] and from then on it was up to him to make good.

Invariably, after working without remuneration for a week or so, the employer, recognizing in him a desirable addition to his force, would put him on the regular pay roll.

This scheme was always successful and Mark Twain used to be highly elated over it. Of course, in those bygone days conditions were not so bad as at present; there was but a small fraction of the unemployment we have today. Nevertheless, to the writer at least, it still has possibilities. For instance, suppose a certain Monday were designated as "get-a-job day" and on this particular day some three or four million of the unemployed trooped into shops, factories, offices, etc., throughout the country and agreed to work without pay. If the various employers were not too dull-witted and short-sighted after the first week they would pay these men and women as much per week as their business could possibly afford in line with their individual worth and keep them on the pay roll as long as they could. Simultaneously, to throw off the lethargy and to absorb the products of this additional army of workers, all stores would have bargain days, accompanied by a huge "buy now" campaign.

Of course, with these three or four million men and women withdrawn from the ranks of the unemployed, with their morale improved, their spirits lifted, they would once more look hopefully to the future. In addition they would constitute a new purchasing power which in itself should serve as a decided impetus in accelerating the business recovery that is now peeking its nose timidly around the famous corner. AN ERRAND BOY.

Berwyn, Ill., Feb. 27.—In this morning's TRIBUNE an interview with Representative Richard Yates, congressman at large from Illinois, is reported. He is quoted as saying, "I have no plans. For twelve years I've run errands for other people. Now I'm going to take a vacation."

Illinois has long been a state whose citizens as a majority voted wet. Yates has voted dry on every prohibition question that has come before the house during the last two years.

No doubt he's been doing something for twelve years that requires little mentality such as running errands, and he certainly has given Illinois voters the run around.

This egg and his ilk are the class of men who have put this country in the hole it is in. Just an errand boy telling us to go to hell. F. C. BRIGHTLY JR.

RECORD OF KANKAKEE PATIENT.

Kankakee, Ill., Feb. 21.—There appeared in THE TRIBUNE of Feb. 20 an editorial entitled "Not So Crazy as We Are," in which the case of John Labadie, a former patient of this institution, is cited.

In that article certain statements were made that do not conform to the facts as they appear in the records of this patient. The statement is made that Labadie was admitted here in March, 1931, and the findings were one of organic brain disease; that he was discharged as improved in April. In May he was recommitted. In October he escaped. In December he was recaptured and sent this time to Dunning.

Our records show that admission occurred here Feb. 20, 1931, by commitment from the Cook County court. He was then 16, and the grouping or classification of undiagnosed psychosis was made. He was discharged from the institution with the record, condition improved, March 12, 1931, to the custody of his mother, Mrs. Jennie Labadie, R. F. D. No. 3, Howard City, Mich., to be taken by her to the home of his parents where he was to remain.

There is no record of his subsequent admission to or escape from this institution.

It seems but fair that any future editorial reference to this case should be a vindication of the facts as they appear in the records.

IN FAIRNESS TO HARVARD.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Your editorial, "In Fairness to Harvard," has some error mingled with its truth in denying that Harvard is a den of snobs or aristocrats.

Harvard was not "born in the blood" of Pilgrims but of Puritans. And Harvard is not the oldest of American "schools" as stated, but is antedated by William and Mary college.

The title of your editorial implies that Harvard is unfairly attacked by its critics, whereas its purport seems to be that Harvard couldn't be "aristocratic" in any event, springing, as you claim, from "a band of small, small-town shopkeepers" in whose footsteps "their descendants have loyally followed."

In a social sense neither Harvard nor New England is covetous of acclaim. Their leaders are largely descended from the sturdy middle class of English yeomanry. Theirs is the aristocracy of high thinking rather than high birth. Had they possessed only the "small, small-town shopkeepers'" outlook their institutions had not survived with the vigor and soundness with which they are weathering these times.

Instead of offering a defense of Harvard against inconsequential criticism would it not be more worth while to point out that, as President Lowell announced to the alumni, "By being provident the university is succeeding in getting along without reducing its academic salaries"? That the number of alumni contributing in 1932 to the Harvard fund increased to 6,535, the largest number recorded since the fund was organized!

"In fairness to Harvard," that is the best answer to her critics.

A LESSON BUT NOT WONDERFUL.

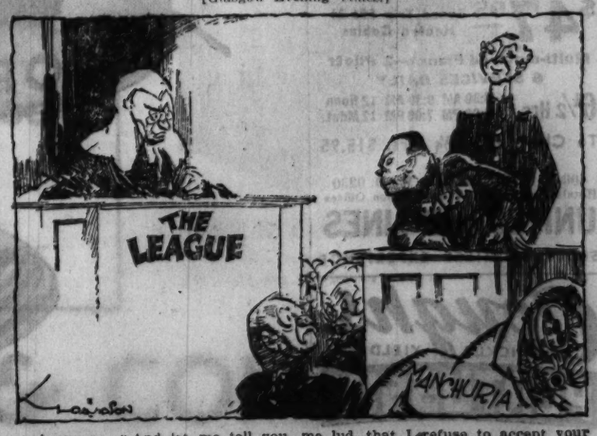

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 21.—On Friday, Feb. 10, 1933, 4:40 p. m., a man came into the office where I am employed in Oak Park asking to use the telephone. I overheard his conversation, telling the party he called that he had run out of gas three blocks from Harlem avenue and that he had been to several gas stations and they would not cash his check. When he got through I asked him how far he had to go and he said Evanston and that he was driving a Pierce-Arrow. I told him I would be glad to help him out and gave him the last fifty cents I had. He said he would return the money to me the next day by mail. To date I haven't received my fifty cents. No doubt this is just another racket, so I am passing this on to others.

Although I am out the fifty cents, I feel it has taught me a wonderful lesson.

FIND GIRL SLAIN ON ROAD; ESCORT IS UNDER ARREST

Prisoner Son of Former Mayor of Pontiac.

Pontiac, Ill., March 1.—[Special.]—Asher Earle Bentley, 35 year old son of a former mayor of Pontiac, was held in jail here tonight as county authorities continued their investigation of the death of Miss Aldine Younger, 20 year old heiress.

Miss Younger's body was found at 1:30 a. m. on a roadside four and a half miles west of Pontiac. Her skull had been fractured and there were cuts and bruises on the body.

Bentley was taken into custody after Sheriff John Heckman learned he had been with the girl for several hours last night. This was readily admitted by Bentley.

"We were at a roadhouse and had several drinks together," he said. "Then we got into my car. I drove out in the country and parked. I dozed off for a nap and when I woke up Miss Younger was gone. I don't know what happened to her."

Bentley was vague as to where he had parked. One theory advanced was that the girl, leaving her sleepy companion, got out of his car and started to walk to Pontiac and was struck either by his car or by another. Dr. William D. McNally of Chicago tonight made a post mortem examination of the body and took samples of bloodstains found on one fender of Bentley's car. He will attempt to determine whether the stains are of human blood.

No charges have been placed against Bentley. He is married. His father, William H. Bentley, is now a Pontiac alderman. Miss Younger was an orphan. She inherited $20,000 on the death of her father several years ago. The amount was left in trust and recently the trustee, Herbert Powell, was found guilty of embezzlement and sentenced to prison.

DEAD ANIMALS ARE "REVIVED" BY MISSOURIAN

Joplin, Mo., March 1.—(AP)—A woman laboratory worker, Miss Pearl Moorman, has announced discovery of a chemical formula for reviving animals pronounced dead from asphyxiation by gas.

In a demonstration before the Jasper County Medical society here last night she restored to life two rabbits in which a committee of physicians determined all heart and respiratory action had ceased. The rabbits had been asphyxiated by natural gas.

Miss Moorman injected a solution into the veins of the animals. She said the formula contained a hydrochloric acid. Physicians said the rabbits began to breathe and the heart action was resumed.

Dr. M. O. Coombs, president of the medical society, said:

"It is my belief that this discovery will have a great practical effect in saving human life, since the physician will be able to carry a supply of this restorative when he is called to attend cases resulting from asphyxiation.

"I see no reason why this restorative should not have the same effect upon human life that it had on rabbits."

No test has been made as yet on human beings.

GOVERNMENT OF RUSSIA TO OPEN MEAT MARKETS

MOSCOW, March 1.—(AP)—The soviet government tonight forecast its reentrance into high priced business operations in food commodities by announcing that it is opening shops in which meat and bread would be sold to the people at prices prevailing in the open market.

Ostensibly the move is designed to compete with "speculators" in the private markets, and at the same time to increase the supply of bread and meat available to a large section of the populace which has no regular source of supply.

The Evening Moscow, the only afternoon newspaper here, carried a perfunctory article announcing that 21 shops selling meat at the open market prices will be opened tomorrow and 50 stores selling bread on the same basis will open on Friday.

This action, marking the first time in nearly two years that the state itself has gone into the open market food business, puts the prices of bread and meat slightly under those now prevailing in the peasant private markets.

CITY HAULING CONTRACTOR IS SHOT BY GANG

James C. McCarthy, 46 years old, a hauling contractor frequently employed by the city, was shot in the left arm last night by machine gunners who attacked him in front of his home at 9132 Laflin street. He escaped fatal wounds by dropping to the ground.

Although the wounded contractor protested that he knew of no reason for the attempted assassination, police said that labor difficulties probably were involved. In that connection they brought out the name of William [Three Fingered Jack] White, hoodlum and union strong arm man.

Shot with Machine Gun.

The shooting occurred as McCarthy was alighting from his automobile. Another car containing several men drove by slowly. One of them thrust a submachine gun through the window and fired a burst of bullets. The shots were aimed high, evidently at McCarthy's head. He threw himself to the pavement as one of the shots struck him. The others crashed through the side of his car. Police later counted fifteen holes. Evidently believing they had killed their man, the gunmen sped away.

McCarthy drove with one hand to St. Bernard's hospital, and was questioned there by Capt. Michael Lee of Gresham station. His brother, George, with whom he operates the McCarthy Brothers Cartage company at 3130 Wabash avenue, also was questioned.

Tied Up by Strike.

Police learned that the cartage business of the brothers is at a virtual standstill, due to the strike of the Ash Wagon Drivers' union, said to be one of the teaming organizations dominated by "Three Fingered Jack" White.

The wounded McCarthy told police that the drivers went out on strike some months ago because he owed them back wages. This was due, he said, to the failure of the city to pay him for his work. At that time McCarthy had seven trucks in operation for the city. At one time he had as high as twenty.

FORMER BEAUTY QUEEN CRUEL, SAYS HUSBAND

Arthur Wentz, 6317 Magnolia avenue, a shoe salesman, testified yesterday that his wife, Dolores, 21 years old, whom he married in 1927 after she had been chosen "Miss Michigan" in a beauty contest, often threw pots and pans at him. Wentz is suing for a divorce on the grounds of cruelty in Circuit Judge Frank Bicek's court.

Mrs. Wentz, who lives at 4132 Washington boulevard, contested the divorce bill, denying the charges he made. She said that he had given her no money to keep up their household, and since their separation he had failed to pay her $10 a week for support of herself and her 4 months old son, as ordered by Judge Philip Finnegan.

After hearing evidence Judge Bicek attempted to effect a reconciliation. Mrs. Wentz refused to return to her husband, stating that she would file a cross bill again him. Judge Bicek then continued the hearing until March 25.

DOCTOR ADDS THUMB TO A FARMER'S HAND WITH BONE GRAFTING

New York, March 1.—[Special.]—A 22 year old farmer, born without a left arm and with only two fingers on the right hand, now has a thumb, enabling him to do strenuous work. The operation was performed at the Post-Graduate hospital by Dr. Fred H. Albee.

In creating the thumb Dr. Albee removed a piece of bone from the patient's leg, then attached the bone in the thumb position, grafting it on with skin tissue taken from the young man's abdomen. Blood circulation and nerve connections were established.

The patient thus had a thumb against which the two fingers could react by firm contact. He worked so hard, however, and a second operation, in which the thumb was reinforced with another bone graft, was performed.

SPECIAL NIGHT COURT SETTLES LICENSE CASES

A special night court for the handling of persons who have not yet procured their 1933 licenses—automobile and other kinds—was opened in room 1128 of the city hall last night, with Judge Robert Jerome Dunne presiding.

Eighty one cases were considered. Eight defendants who announced a willingness to buy their licenses immediately were promptly served, the city collector's office being open to midnight for the public convenience and particularly for such cases as these eight.

Some other defendants wanted more time to raise the necessary money and were granted two week continuances. Twenty-seven cases were of sellers of malt beverages, whose annual license fee is now $300. Thirteen others were of cigaret dealers, fifteen of food purveyors, and a like number of restaurant owners. Several laundry owners were included.

ASKS STATE LAW AIMED AT CICERO SCHOOL BOARD

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—(AP)—Illinois legislation "to make impossible the repetition" of school board practices at Cicero, Ill., and censuring its members, was suggested today by the department of secondary school principals of the National Education association.

The resolution was a result of controversy over direction of the J. Sterling Morton High school and Junior college at Cicero.

Charges of financial extravagance and board interference with the school administration were bandied about and H. V. Church, principal, was discharged.

Church is executive secretary of the secondary school principals department, which held its annual meeting today.

The resolution, introduced by William E. Wing, Portland, Me., said:

"Resolved, That the department of secondary school principals believes that the type of administration which has been exhibited at the J. Sterling Morton High school and Junior college is so indefensible and harmful to the educational system of this country that it points out the desirability of immediate measures through state legislation or otherwise to make impossible the repetition of such practices as have been indulged in by the board of education of that school or any other school."

The principals elected Robert B. Clem of Louisville, Ky., president, and C. F. Allen of Little Rock, Ark., and H. C. Lyseth, Augusta, Me., vice presidents. New executive committee members are W. E. Burkard, Philadelphia; D. A. Morgan, Merriam, Kas., and W. W. Haggard, Joliet, Ill., retiring president.

ATTACKS FRILLS

Because the taxpayer's purse has been squeezed flat to support various governmental activities it will be necessary to eliminate fads and frills from the nation's public school systems, in the opinion of Frederick L. Redefer, executive secretary of the Progressive Education association. Mr. Redefer made preparations at the Palmer house yesterday for the first session of the association's annual conference this afternoon.

Lists Fads and Frills.

"Among the fads and frills," asserted Mr. Redefer, "are college preparatory courses for all students in high school whether they intend to go to college or not. A lot of money is spent for this kind of education which has no real value." Among the courses that should be eliminated for pupils who are not preparing for college, he declared, are higher mathematics, some branches of history, and foreign languages.

Much Time Wasted, He Says.

"Too much time is wasted, for example," he continued, "in telling the story of the Pilgrims, their landing, first winter and first Thanksgiving, in a course of American history. The result is that oftentimes the high school students are never told about the great events of recent times and their significance in our modern life."

Mr. Redefer was superintendent of the Glencoe schools for three years and left last July to work for the association, which has a membership of more than 7,000 persons, including college presidents, professors, teachers, and social workers.

POOL WILL PAY TEACHERS 99% FOR WARRANTS

Sixty teachers at the Morgan Park High school yesterday announced a plan by which they expect to realize 99 per cent cash on the 1931 tax warrants being distributed to school employés in lieu of cash for back salaries. The teachers have pooled their tax warrants with an aggregate face value of $15,000.

According to George F. Lorentz, assistant principal of the school, the teachers will start a campaign to have property owners pay their 1931 real estate taxes at specified local exchanges. The exchanges will give temporary receipts to the taxpayers and turn the revenue over to the town collector, utilizing teachers' warrants as part payment.

Since tax bills can be paid with the warrants to the extent of 21 per cent, 21 per cent of all tax money paid at the exchan[illegible] will go back to the teachers' pool for an equal amount of warrants, less 1 per cent which is the commission to be retained by the exchanges for their services.

RITES TOMORROW FOR H. T. BENTLEY, 71, RAIL OFFICIAL

Funeral services for Harry T. Bentley, former general superintendent of motive power on the North Western railway, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Grace Episcopal church in Oak Park. He died of pneumonia at his home at 819 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, two days ago. Burial will be at Forest Home. Mr. Bentley retired in 1927 after nearly 50 years of railroad service here and in England, where he was born 71 years ago. Surviving are his widow, Emily, and four children.

KEEPING HOME FIRES BURNING YIELDS PROFITS

Insurance Firms Protest It's a Racket.

A new swindle, through which, it is alleged, fire insurance companies paid twenty times for one set of well scorched furniture, was exposed yesterday by Sergts. Thomas McLoughlin and John Doherty of the state's attorney's office.

Two men, said to be the leaders of the racket, were trapped yesterday as they were starting one of their fires for profit in a flat at 2230 West 22d street. They are Robert Brace, 43 years old, 111 South Home avenue, Oak Park, and Fred Coba, 40, of 4334 West Division street.

Prisoner an ex-Adjuster.

Former experiences of Brace while he was an insurance adjuster aided him in formulating and carrying out his plots, according to Assistant State's Attorney Frank Donoghue and Paul Bertram of the state fire marshal's office. As described by Mr. Donoghue, the swindle was worked as follows:

Brace would obtain the name of a householder who had insurance but was short of cash. The householder would be approached with a suggestion that it was easy to have a fire and collect on the furniture.

"We'll move our furniture in," Brace would say, "and move yours out. Then you start a fire with a pile of old newspapers in your living room. You scorch up a wall and make things look bad. The neighbors turn in a fire alarm. That proves you have had a fire. All you have to do when the firemen arrive is to say the fire is out. The insurance company then sends out an adjuster and pays the damages."

Goods Survive 20 Fires.

Once a deal was closed, it was said, Brace would put the well burned furniture in. After the adjustments were made the householder would get his unburned furniture back, Coba and Brace would haul theirs to another flat, and everybody, except the insurance company, would be happy.

"The 20 complaints we have against these men do not exhaust the field," said the prosecutor.

Bomb Blast Damages Ogden Ave. Tailor Shop

Residents of the midwest side were awakened this morning by a bomb explosion at the shop of Brown the Tailor at 1567 Ogden avenue, just south of Madison street. The front windows and doorway of the store were wrecked and damage was estimated at $250. A clock in the store stopped at 1:28, indicating the exact time of the bombing. Police were seeking Frank Zid and Frank Callis as owners of the place to question them. No motive for the attack was found by police.

LEAVES ESTATE OF $80,000.

ANNOUNCE PLAN TO REORGANIZE 'GARLAND COURT'

New 5% Bond Issue Is Contemplated.

BY AL CHASE.

Plans for the reorganization of the $1,640,000 outstanding bonds against the leasehold estate and twenty-four story building at 65 East South Water street were mailed yesterday to the bondholders by the bondholders' protective committee, of which Newton P. Frye of the Central Republic company is chairman. The plan provides for the issuance of new 5 per cent bonds in exchange for the present securities and it is hoped that foreclosure proceedings will not be necessary, according to Mr. Frye.

NEWTON P. FRYE.

"Pending the consummation of the plan it is contemplated that all of the available income of the corporation will be deposited with the trustee for the payment of taxes, ground rent, and other proper outlays by the trustee," said Mr. Frye, "and that upon the consummation of the plan the entire net earnings of the corporation shall be applied to the discharge of tax obligations until such time as the corporation owning the property has discharged all past due taxes and has accumulated deposited reserves equal to the taxes which have accrued but are not then due.

$55,657 Cash on Hand.

"In conformity with the provisions of the plan the Garland Court Building corporation has deposited part of its accumulated cash funds and has been depositing its current earnings with the trustee and there is now on deposit with the trustee the sum of $55,657. The total amount of accrued taxes (exclusive of penalties) to Feb. 1, 1933, as computed and estimated by the management, giving effect to recent payments made thereon, is $161,382."

Mr. Frye points out that the final decision of the committee after considering various reorganization possibilities was that a contested foreclosure would involve greater hazards to the bondholders' investment than a friendly reorganization of the corporation which would "recognize all existing securities, but clearly maintain the senior position of the bonds."

Coöperation Necessary.

"It's always difficult to secure the maximum return from a mortgaged property pending final completion of a reorganization plan and the interests of the bondholders will be best served by the consummation of the present reorganization plan without delay," said Mr. Frye. "If all the bondholders assent to the plan it'll probably be unnecessary to acquire the property through court proceedings.

"If coöperation of all bondholders is not obtained the plan contemplates the acquisition of the mortgaged property through foreclosure proceedings and the vesting of title in a new building corporation. In any event the period of time necessary to complete the reorganization will be determined by the promptness with which the bondholders deposit their bonds under the plan."

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle, yet it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water for a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, put it into a pint bottle, and fill up with your sugar syrup. The pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is the most effective remedy that money can buy. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and clears the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The Irish Players, as we fondly and correctly nickname the Abbey theater company of Dublin, now well established as the hit of the winter at the Harris theater, swung into one of their characteristic double bills last night. They offered as the latest chapter in their repertory a three act comedy by Lennox Robinson, managing director of the organization and one of its leading playwrights, "The Whiteheaded Boy," and for curtain raiser, a sketch by Lady Gregory, founder and patron saint of the troupe, called "Spreading the News."

"The Whiteheaded Boy" is a product of the Abbey's middle period, when the players stayed at home after the early American tours and diligently cultivated the movement in Irish drama that Yeats and Synge had brilliantly begun. "Spreading the News" represents the first period of the Abbey when Lady Gregory, feeling that her school of poets was not getting close enough to the comic aspects of peasant life, took up her unpracticed pen and wrote a series of merry one act pieces in the dialect of her favorite village of Kiltartan.

A family of the lower middle class in a small town is depicted with warm and intimate touches of realism in Robinson's comedy, which served Arthur Sinclair and Maire O'Neill for an American tour about a dozen years ago. Here are the plain home folk of Ireland, not the fantastic peasants of the rural dramas—people in fairly comfortable circumstances with ambitions to rise in the world.

Mrs. Geoghegan, a chatty, gentle old lady, has a brood of six grownup children to look after, but the one whom she dotes on the most, her youngest son, is a thorn in the flesh of the others. Denis, the gentleman of the family, studying to become a doctor in Dublin—and failing in his examinations—is the whiteheaded boy of Mrs. Geoghegan's affection, and all the others must make sacrifices for him.

The flunking of Denis, the rebellion against him of his brothers and sisters, led by the hard-working, hard-headed George, the family's meal ticket; the sentence of exile to Canada, the wiles of his adoring mother to protect the pampered lad, and the eventual triumph of the family pet over the insurgents who cannot resist his charm—this is the course taken by the story. "The Whiteheaded Boy" is the Abbey's best achievement in the normal comedy of manners, dealing with average middle class folk, and is a sound, clever, diverting piece of literary craftsmanship.

It is admirably acted, with Eileen Crowe as the soft-hearted mother; F. J. McCormick, his comic makeup put aside, as the serious elder brother; Denis O'Dea as the hero of the title, Maureen Delaney as a comic aunt from the country, and Barry Fitzgerald as the indignent father of a jilted girl. It becomes apparent that this is a company with a wide range of talents.

"Spreading the News," dealing with the Irish peasant's propensity to create myths out of thin air, gives amusing employment to ten members of the company, with Michael J. Dolan and the ample Mis Delaney in the center of the picture. The assignment of rôles places the versatile McCormick in the rôle of a solemn British magistrate.

Tonight's bill will be Synge's "Playboy of the Western World," preceded by Lady Gregory's "Rising of the Moon."

"Katinka," Rudolph Friml's operetta, first staged sixteen years ago, was placed in revival by the light opera company at the Civic Opera house yesterday afternoon. Leading rôles are played by Greek Evans, Electa Leonard, Helen Ornstein, George Sweet, and Patrick Burns. Performances will continue through this week and next week.

There has been a reorganization of the executive phase of this venture in light opera revivals. The original title, Chicago Operetta company, has been changed to Chicago Municipal Operetta association. David Erwin Russell has retired as managing director and has been replaced by Herbert M. Johnson.

Liquidators of Bank Ask Action on Will of Ziegfeld

White Plains, N. Y., March 1.—[Special.]—An order to show cause why the will of Florenz Ziegfeld, theatrical producer who died last July in California, should not be probated and an administrator appointed was signed today by Surrogate George A. Slater, on the petition of Carl J. Austrian, attorney for the Bank of United States now being liquidated. The petition states that the liquidators of the bank hold two notes of the late Ziegfeld on which there is due more than $30,000. Liquidators of the bank have been informed that the Ziegfeld estate is insolvent, the court was told, but they said efforts to get at the Ziegfeld records have thus far been unavailing.

Miss Barrymore Gets Aid of Trust Fund to Provide for Son

New York, March 1.—(AP)—Ethel Barrymore today obtained permission from Surrogate James A. Foley to spend $2,700 this year for the expenses of her son, John Drew Colt, 15 years old.

The actress said in her petition that her income "consists solely of her earnings in her profession as an actress, and in view of present conditions in the theater" it is impossible for her to provide for him from her own funds.

The $2,700 is the annual income from a $50,000 trust made to young Colt in the will of his paternal grandfather, Samuel P. Colt, which he cannot receive until he becomes 21. In the petition Miss Barrymore said that she and the boy's father, Russell Griswold Colt, are divorced, that the decree provided no alimony, and that the father is providing nothing toward the support, education, and maintenance of the son.

Taffeta Gives Stylish Swish to Dance Hour

New After 5 Frocks Will Win Followers.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

New after five frocks have arrived, crisp, whispering clothes of that slick swisher, taffeta! Until you have slipped your head through the high necklines of one of these new hissing silks, you will not have realized just how much you have craved something different. And these dance dresses are different with all the distinction imaginable. How you will like a breezy plaid, a red and blue duet of crossed and criss-crossed squares of sapphire blue and crimson, with an occasional fine lined square of white. Or you can have a blue and orange creation that is the best looking thing you will gaze upon in a season.

The dresses are naïve affairs with full swishing skirts that flare around the ankles . . . the necklines are high and straight across the center of the throat, and the back V's are satisfyingly deep and flattering. The separate coats fit tight around the ribs, have huge puffed half-sleeves and buttons as fit, as trim, and snug as a mess jacket. But the best is yet to come . . . the jackets are fashioned for double duty . . . a red plaid affair can be worn over a red chiffon dress or a white crêpe with equally devastating effect, and the price tag that includes both plaid jacket and frock is as amazingly modest as the entire outfit is unusual.

Another frock that will stop dancing traffic is one of starched lace and for your information, perky stiffened laces are staging a comeback that is something to write home about. A delectable white costume of this starched lace fits you like a sheath from shoulderline to long hipline, where it bursts into flares that make an unforgettable picture gown. Again the neckline is high and demure in front and rather wicked in back, and the inevitable detachable jacket of white lace covers the exposure and some of the arms with tiny puffed sleeves. Every jacket is usable . . . a knowing clothes collector uses jackets with a diplomatic zeal to fool every one about the date line of a dress.

The grandest collections of separate evening jackets in captivity are available in the special sections devoted to the interests of dance dresses. Look for the silk pique beauties, one in particular, a soft bon bon yellow, with puffed sleeves, two tailored pockets, a skin hugging silhouette and a lining of pale yellow silk.

There is an azure blue affair of taffeta, with a puckered neckline, a coquettish bow and a double breasted closing . . . or the longer model of oyster white quilted silk, with tricky sleeves with a slit for the arm, a wide and handsomely high neckline and a soft bow on the right shoulder. This particular model is a bit warmer than the taffetas and silk piques and much cozier for spring breezes than the gala array of spanking white mess jackets of pique or waffle weave materials.

The white cottons have been designed primarily for organdies and thin silk crêpes . . . with a slinky black satin or heavy lustrous crêpe you will decide on the man tailored corded silks and bengalines. Later in the season they will have a lot of man tailored cotton mess jackets with short sleeves that make them a bit more feminine than the straight long sleeved models.

Other evening jackets are ingeniously fashioned of shirred chiffon in a color to match the dress, also of chiffon. These are made simply with flat unpuffed sleeves, a soft turnover collar and a longer waistline . . . they are most effective as jacket contrast for soft clinging chiffon frocks for the dance hour.

Good Painting Gets Boost at Carson Gallery

Thirty Artists in Show You Should See.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The cause of good painting is far from lost so long as our artists can put on as interesting and brilliant an exhibit as that which opened yesterday in the Carson Pirie Scott galleries.

Approximately thirty painters are represented, and they number among them many of our strongest figures in conservative art today. There is nothing decadent, or morbid, or degenerate about the show; it is a clear sweep of fine, vigorous work such as one would hate to miss.

Rudolph F. Ingerle offers three outstanding landscapes, remarkable for the richness of their color and the mellow, creamlike texture of their surface. The view of the valley in autumn, with a river cutting between the sloping hills heavily treed in russet and gold, looking into the sunset just before the sun has quite decided to leave the sky, is a persuasive piece of painting. His other scene of still lake and wooded hills duplicates the feeling of pleasure the first arouses.

Othmar Hoffler in poetic and colorful vein gives us the harbor at Concarneau with its fishing fleet spreading their brilliant sails.

Marguerite Pearson offers a delicate and charming study, "Golden Light," a girl at the piano. John Spelman is represented with several characteristic and fine landscapes. J. Theodore Johnson shows interesting studies of flowers and Francis Chapin a bit of the river bank along the Seine, with the world at the spring and moving rapidly.

The exhibition features "moderate prices" and is well worth seeing. It will continue through March.

Abandon Plan to Build Music Temple at Fair

Hold Time Is Too Short to Complete Job.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Having come to the conclusion that it is too late to hope to have a permanent Temple of Music completed in time for the opening of the Century of Progress Exposition, a condition insisted upon by exposition officials, the Chicago Friends of Music issued a statement yesterday saying that they will continue their campaign for memberships, devoting their efforts to the furtherance of good music in Chicago.

The Friends of Music add that such members as have joined for the express purpose of seeing the permanent building erected this summer may have their dollar subscriptions refunded by calling at the Friends of Music headquarters, 1119 Monroe building.

Just what musical activities will be carried on by the society this summer has not yet been made public. It was indicated that there might be a temporary structure during the exposition, or that there might be the promotion of concerts of various types, but that in any event it would be for the cause of music.

"At a meeting of the Chicago Friends of Music it was decided that, owing to the pressure of time and the impossibility of meeting the condition generally required by the World's Fair management that all projects within the fair grounds be completed by the date of the opening, the erection of a permanent Temple of Music originally contemplated by the Chicago Friends of Music could not be carried out.

"Chicago Friends of Music, which now has 29,867 members, will continue its membership campaign for additional members, and it is believed that this society with its large membership will be a very important factor in the promotion of good music in Chicago.

"Frederick Stock, president of the society, has appointed Mrs. Frederic W. Upham chairman and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, and Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy vice chairmen of the membership committee, and in order to broaden the scope of the society representatives of the various nationalistic and professional groups will be appointed to this committee.

"The entire expenses of operating the campaign to date have been paid by the directors personally, and the society now has the entire amount of $29,867 collected from membership fees deposited in a separate account for the promotion of good music in Chicago, which may possibly be by the erection of a permanent Temple of Music at some more opportune time.

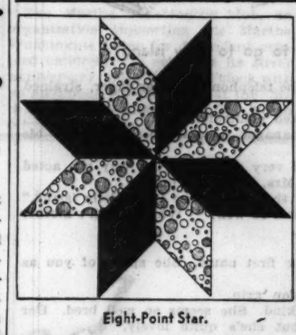

"Mr. Stock feels that some of the members may have joined the society only for the purpose of erecting a permanent Temple of Music at A Century of Progress, and arrangements have been made whereby those members, upon presentation of their receipt for dues at the office of the Friends of Music, room 1119, 104 South Michigan avenue, will be refunded the amount of their dues between the dates of March 6 and March 18 inclusive."

Eight-Point Star.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The "8 Point Star," originating in Maine about the year 1832, is one of the simpler, plainer members of the large star family. It is an easy quilt to make, as compared with some of its brothers and sisters.

Formerly each star was pieced in a different printed fabric, but a quilt made of one color on a white background would not be lacking in distinction. If you follow the illustration, alternate points of the star will be cut from plain and printed materials. A star with each point made of different print also could be worked into an attractive quilt.

For a pattern of this quilt design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street.

Omit Toast to King at Lunch for Emma Goldman

LONDON, March 1.—The traditional toast to the king was omitted at a luncheon at fashionable Grosvenor house today to spare the feelings of the anarchist Emma Goldman, who threatened to leave if the toast were given. The king's health is always drunk before smoking is permitted and the speakers are introduced at public functions in England. The affair was a literary luncheon for Miss Goldman and tributes were paid to her by the distinguished journalist Henry W. Nevinson, Rebecca West, and Paul Robeson, who sang two Negro spirituals, "Sometimes I Feel Like a Mournin' Dove" and "Roll de Chariot Along," as expressive of Miss Goldman's philosophy of life.

Trowbridge to Show Paintings at School Fete

Lake Forest Academy Plans Winter Festival.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN celebration of the annual winter festivities at Lake Forest academy March 10 and 11, Cornelius M. Trowbridge Jr. is to hold his first one man exhibit of the water colors and oils he did last winter in Italy. There has been report of the promising young artist's exhibit for several weeks, but it wasn't until yesterday that he verified the rumor.

Mr. Trowbridge will take at least a dozen canvases over to Reed hall at the academy and they will be on display both days. Mr. Trowbridge painted all of them last year during his seven months of European travel. It was just upon his return, you will recall, that his engagement to Miss Catherine Foster Crane of Boston was announced, but as yet no plans for the wedding have been made.

While he was studying art in Chicago a couple of years ago he made a number of sketches of bread lines and queer sights in his comings and goings about town. I remember the interest they aroused at a party the Laflins gave one evening for Faustin Wirkus when he was visiting in Chicago. Unfortunately these works will not be included in this exhibition.

It is appropriate indeed that Mr. Trowbridge is to have his first exhibit at Lake Forest academy, for the Trowbridge family has been intimately associated with the school for several generations. Henry Durand, the granduncle of young Mr. Trowbridge, gave Durand cottage as a memorial to his daughter, Miss Annie Durand. Cornelius Trowbridge Sr. was graduated from the academy in 1885 and in later years sent both of his sons, Calvin and Cornelius, to study there. And only recently was the announcement of the engagement of Miss Katherine Trowbridge to Edward Arpee, who is a master at the academy, made.

Class Reunions to Be in June.

For the celebration of the 75th birthday of the school in June, there will be a class day pageant that will unfold many of the stories concerning early graduates. Horace Farwell Ferry Jr., whose father, uncles and granduncles attended the academy; Clayton Mark III, who is also following in his father's and grandfather's footsteps, and other sons of well known graduates will dress up in high hats and antebellum suits and take off a classroom of the late '50s.

Then it is planned to select at least two of this year's debutantes to take the part of professors' wives of that time.

Many of the debutantes of this season and more of the subdebs will go out to Lake Forest for the winter festivities which will have a flair of spring this time, postponed as they are from Washington's birthday. One of the big events of the two day house party [one of the dormitories is turned over to the girls] will be the musical clubs' follies—a razz on the faculty—Friday evening. "Andy" Rebori Jr. is to appear as a young maiden, but that is ALL the members of the cast will tell to date.

On Friday evening there will be a dance in the gymnasium, a basketball game Saturday morning, the presentation of "Outward Bound" by the Gargoyles at the Durand Art institute that afternoon, and a midwinter dance to wind up the week-end Saturday night.

Tomorrow Dr. Lewis Perry, headmaster of Exeter academy, who came west last week to speak to the Chicago alumni of the eastern school, will be the guest of Headmaster John Wayne Richards at Lake Forest academy. And there will be coffee after lunch for Mr. Perry and the faculty in Mr. Richards' office. The theory is that the students are too young for coffee so it is never served at breakfast, luncheon, or dinner.

Two Lectures Hold Interest.

Those who belong to both the Antiquarian Society of the Art Institute and the Arts club had to choose yesterday morning whether to hear a lecture on "The Decorative Unity of Art in the Middle Ages" or one on "Reminiscences of Proust, Gide, Cocteau and Others," for the former was at 11 and the latter at 11:30 o'clock. Some tried to take in both, thus missing the last half of Francis Henry Taylor's learned and witty discourse of the former subject in the Goodman Studio theater and the first half of Maurice Sachs' delightful talk on the latter at the Arts club.

Mrs. Potter Palmer, president of the Antiquarians, introduced Mr. Taylor, who is the director of the Worcester Art Museum and formerly was associated with the Art Institute of Philadelphia, where his family is an old and socially prominent one.

Some of those who listened to Mr. Taylor with keen interest were Mrs. William K. Kenly, Mrs. Robert H. McCormick, Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. William P. Hunt, Miss Marie Rozet, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Mrs. Edward G. Pauling, Miss Clara Gilbert, Mrs. E. Harris Brewer, Miss Elizabeth McCormick, Mrs. Tracy C. Drake, Mrs. Lorado Taft, Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson, Mrs. Gabriel F. Slaughter, Miss Agnes Foreman, Mrs. Edward A. Leight and Mrs. C. Barney Goodspeed, who had to rush away, however, very near the start to attend the lecture at the Arts club, of which she is president.

Mrs. Goodspeed did not introduce M. Sachs, however, probably going on the theory that having spoken there last week he needed no introduction. How

FOLLY ISLAND

By Wallace Irwin

SYNOPSIS.

Bart Burgess is marooned in a catboat on Peconic bay, fifty miles from his Long Island home in Wyattville. His companion, Ingralls Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new-made fortune, known as "Nosey Ingy," rows to town and sends Bart help and taxies home. A girl in a canoe invites Bart over to her family's island. Bart learns that she is one of the Bayleys, who have lived in seclusion on the island fifteen years. The father travels. He invites the girl, Alice, to visit him in Wyattville. Less than a week later Trevor Burgess, Bart's father, dies suddenly from a heart attack. He confesses in a letter left for Bart to being a bigamist. The Bayleys of Folly island are his second family. They know him as Matthew Bayley. He asks Bart, for his invalid mother's sake, to guard the secret, and leaves a fortune to provide for the Bayleys. Bart calls on Mrs. Bayley, posing as a lawyer, and finds her a lovely woman, not the harridan he expected. Bart is happy to learn from her mother that Alice isn't Matthew Bayley's daughter. But to keep her from visiting his home and seeing his father's picture is now a problem. When Bart realizes he loves Alice he resolves to stay away from Folly island. He sees a lot of Lora Sackett, a distant relative and recent divorcee and soon finds himself unexpectedly engaged. The Bayleys visit New York and Bart sees them. Ingy Warren has been visiting the island and has invited Alice to Wyattville. Bart tells Alice of his engagement. Alice and her mother are guests of the Warrens for the annual Wyattville flower show. Alice wins first prize. Mrs. Burgess has the Bayleys in for tea. Alice sees a photograph of Trevor Burgess, although Bart had locked the drawing room door, where a life size portrait of his father hung.

INSTALLMENT XL.

A TORMENTED MIND.

When Bart stepped into the big hall with the single object of going to his room and using his own telephone, he was met by Aunt Augusta, triumphantly flourishing the key to the drawing room door.

"Where do you think I found it?" she asked in a low, secretive voice. "Over there on that console table, in plain sight!"

"How stupid of us all," said Bart, well knowing that he had put it there as he went out with Lora.

"We weren't stupid," whispered Aunt Augusta, like an elderly female Philo Vance. "Somebody locked that door and hid the key. Then, when the time came, he or she put it in plain sight, where it could be easily found."

"Much ado about nothing," he grumbled.

"There's more behind it than that," breathed Aunt Augusta. "I think one of those Bayley people did it."

"What would they want to lock our door for, and steal our keys?"

"That's what we ought to find out," she said dramatically.

Bart hurried upstairs, but on the first landing he found his mother, a little figure in soft negligee. He knew that she had been waiting for his return.

"Darling, I wanted to talk to you," she said.

"How did you ever happen to go to Folly island?"

He was mad to get to his room and the telephone, but her eager, strained look arrested him.

"What about the Bayleys?" she asked pointedly.

"Well, what about them?" He managed a crooked smile, but his mother's eyes were anxious.

"Augusta says there was something very odd about the way she acted—Mrs. Bayley, I mean—when she met Mrs. Farnham today."

"Remember," said Bart woodenly, "that they come from Folly island."

"Bart, how did you come to know them so well?" Why wouldn't mother leave him alone?

"I don't. Not so very."

"But Mrs. Bayley calls you by your first name. She spoke of you as 'Bart.'"

"But she's not at all the pushing kind. She seems so well bred. Her daughter doesn't have much to say, but she's quite lovely."

They sauntered back to mother's room. Maybe it was quite natural that she should be so inquisitive. But if only she would let him alone now, not keep digging, digging at the sore.

"I wish you had told me about that wonderful island," she insisted. "And the house you've been building there."

"Mother, you're a jealous cat." He laughed boisterously.

"Nothing of the sort." She colored prettily. "But if I had known, she wouldn't have taken me so by surprise. I'm glad you like to build, dear. I was thinking you and Lora might take those twenty acres down by the shore——"

"What's all this fuss about?" Harshly.

"Bart!"

"How did you ever happen to go to Folly island?"

"Business. Mr. Bayley was insured in our office, and there was the question of some bonds that had to be delivered before his estate was settled. It's sort of balled up, mother. But that's the general idea."

"How did Mr. Bayley die?" Suddenly he had the impression of mother groping for the key, almost touching it.

"He was drowned."

"O." A note of sadness and sympathy. "I'm glad you were kind to her, dear. "Bart"—she hesitated, trying to be tactful—"please don't be offended. You know your wedding is only a few days off. Lora is a woman of the world in spite of the funny things she says; but it wouldn't be nice to have anything come between you just now——"

"You mean——"

"That Bayley girl is very beautiful, and I think Ingy Warren is trying to imply something. When a young woman is engaged, Bart, she's always sensitive about such things. Even when I was engaged to your father—and heaven knows he never gave me any real cause for jealousy—I was foolish two or three times. I might have made the mistake of my life."

Inspirationally Bart suggested, "Then you think I oughtn't to see the Bayleys any more?"

"I wouldn't go so far as that. But don't see them so pointedly."

"I won't see them at all." Gruffly. "Mother, will you do me a favor?"

"Why, yes, dear." Surprise.

"Would you mind not asking Mrs. Bayley to come to the house again?" Her look seemed to say, so it has gone as far as that with you and Alice!

"Of course I won't ask her, if you don't want me to. But Mrs. Bayley seems so nice."

Now he struck a true blow against Mrs. Burgess' prejudice. "We don't know anything about them, really. I don't say the Bayleys aren't all right. They're charming. But in our position here, mother, we can't afford to pick people up the way the Warrens do."

He hated himself for this artificial, snobbish argument. But it had the force he intended.

"I see what you mean," said Mrs. Burgess. "I won't ask Mrs. Bayley until I know more about her."

This, too, was like a threat. But affectionately he patted his mother on the back, then carried his heavy load away with him. He went to his room, locked the door, snatched up the cradle telephone and secretively called the Warrens' number.

"Charles, this is Mr. Burgess. Mr. Barton Burgess." Bart had recognized the official voice of the Warrens' English butler. "I want to talk to Miss Bayley."

A moment's hesitation. "Mr. Ingalls asked that neither Mrs. Bayley nor Miss Bayley should be disturbed."

Lamely Bart hung up and threw himself on his bed. Now he saw himself as an assassin; a very tired one, worn out with going here and there, dreading the hand that was sure to clutch his shoulder. He thought wearily of storming the Warren house, making a scene, demanding to see Alice. There came to him a ridiculous picture of himself breaking into the big, formal house, baldly shouting the secret which Ingy Warren had been patiently trying to patch together, a piece at a time.

Levee Scores Movie Chiefs for Big Waste

Claims Incompetents Are Menace to Industry.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 1.—The speech with which Michael C. Levee, movie producer and former president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science, resigned from the producers' branch of the academy today, included some outspoken Leveeisms that didn't please many of Mike's brother magnates and pals.

"The motion picture industry has been milked dry by parasites and incompetents, and the stockholders have been left holding the sack," Levee declared. "The depression is only an incident, and a convenient alibi for sending one of America's greatest businesses into wholesale bankruptcy. We are facing a new deal, and the relatives and incompetents who have been guzzling at the trough of gold will be lost in the shuffle. But it is unfortunate that we came to this realization at such terrific expense. The industry, if it had been conducted along businesslike lines, could have avoided the current receiverships which it is falsely claimed are the justifiable result of general conditions."

Levee also said: "The producer is not wholly to blame. The bankers helped the industry. Then they helped crucify it. 'Money minds' caused vast sums to be spent for nothing more than overexpansion."

Levee said the last downward step was "the growing practice of glorifying smut and immorality on the screen." He said: "We must either disinfect the 'master minds' who select our film themes, or else displace them entirely." Levee is producer for Mary Pickford, and also manages a number of stars and film directors. He recently tried to launch an enterprise known as the Motion Picture Guild, which would produce films on a basis in which actors, actresses, writers, directors, cameramen, all would be paid off partly in percentage of net profits.

Shirley Chambers, young actress who recently "arrived" or at least reached the threshold in "Half Naked Truth," is teamed with June Brewster to play through the Mark Sandrich musical at Radio. The two girls will play through the story in a pair of teddy bears, somebody having stolen their clothes on the ship.

It may not be the "Ould Sod," but at least several hundred pounds of grass seed from a Mayo county fishing village have been imported by MGM studio, with special loam here put in readiness to grow it for an outdoor location spot in "Peg o' My Heart."

M. Sachs made those who do not know Proust feel that they are missing something not only worth while in literature but something amusing, we must tell of what we overheard a young bride say after the lecture. "My brother has read all of Proust's books and he has tried to interest me in them, but I never wanted to read them until today. I'm going straight home and borrow them." And since her husband is a budding doctor serving his internship in a hospital, she probably has plenty of time for reading and may be a Proust "fan" soon.

After the lecture Mrs. Goodspeed entertained at luncheon for M. Sachs some of the other guests being Henry Dibbels, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, Arthur Meeker Jr., Miss Peggy Hambleton, Miss Alice Roullier and Arthur Heun. Among others who heard the lecture were Mrs. Shreve Badger and her sister, Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, and their mother, Mrs. John H. Winterbotham; Mrs. Frederic C. Bartlett Jr. and her sister, Mrs. Arthur D. Bissell; Mrs. Philip Maher, Mrs. Harold E. Pynchon, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mrs. Philip Guedalla, Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Mrs. John Storrs. Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg, Mrs. Otho F. Ball and Miss Clara Lake, just back from a visit with Mrs. William Wrigley in Phoenix and enthusiastic about that part of the country.

Third Grandchild of Mrs. Williamson.

Mrs. Charles S. Williamson's friends, who have been sympathizing with her in the loss of her husband, Dr. Williamson, who died suddenly about two weeks ago, are rejoicing with her now on the arrival of a third grandchild, born to Mrs. Lewis Andrew Day [Isabel Williamson] at St. Luke's hospital last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Day and their two year old son, Williamson, live in Glencoe, where Mrs. Day and Baby Deborah will be going from the hospital in about another week.

Mrs. Williamson's other grandchild, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hammond [Betty Williamson] of Peterborough, Ont., Can., celebrated his first birthday on Feb. 28 in his own home, for he and his mother returned to Peterborough last Friday after an extended visit with Mrs. Williamson.

"It's a fine baby, but another girl," said Frank G. Logan in telling about the fourth great-grandchild he and Mrs. Logan have now, a daughter born last Saturday to Mrs. Herbert Lloyd of Greenwich, Conn., the day after the funeral here of Mrs. Lloyd's mother, Mrs. Charles A. Munroe, who was the Logans' only daughter. The baby is to be named Josephine Logan Lloyd after her great-grandmother and is to be called "Mimi," which is the name by which her grandchildren call Mrs. Logan.

Baby "Mimi" has an elder sister, Joan, and also a cousin, Joan, the baby of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Moore Jr. of New York. The other great-grandchild of the Logans is tiny Gladys Terbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Terbell, who recently have moved from New York to St. Louis. Mrs. Lloyd and Mrs. Moore are sisters and Mrs. Terbell is their cousin, the eldest daughter of Stuart Logan, who also has two younger daughters, Shirley and Loraine. Mr. and Mrs. Logan only had the one daughter and four sons, Howard, Spencer, Stuart, and Waldo, but of their eleven grandchildren only two are boys, Logan Munroe, who is eighteen, and Frank Granger Logan II., the year old son of the Spencer Logans, who also have a little daughter, a year older than her brother, who was christened Mimi. Spencer Logan has an older daughter, Carolyn, who is in school. Waldo Logan has a little daughter, and Howard also has a daughter, so there are plenty of girls in the second and third generations, but not many boys, which probably accounts for Mr. Logan's remark.

Ickes Family to Leave Today.

There isn't a more official party going to Washington from Chicago this week than the one that will leave today. For it is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Ickes and their two sons, Raymond and Robert. Mr. Ickes, officially announced last week as secretary of the interior in President Roosevelt's new cabinet, will remain in Washington, but Mrs. Ickes, with the boys, is coming back Sunday to resume her duties as one of the state's representatives at Springfield. Raymond is a student this year at the University of Chicago and Robert is enrolled at Lake Forest college. While in the nation's capital the Ickes will stay at the Mayflower.

Mrs. McPherson Tells of Fishing.

Mrs. Donald F. McPherson returned to her home in Winnetka on Tuesday with news of the gay times Chicagoans are having in and about Useppa island where she has spent six grand weeks sunning and fishing.

"The weather has been simply divine," she reported. "There's good golf and fishing is excellent. It's nothing to have 30 catches a day, tarpon, kingfish, and sharks. Yes, I did catch a shark."

Mrs. McPherson took a cottage at Useppa this winter. She knew of the island's delights from previous visits. And Mr. McPherson went down for the first part of the six weeks' holiday. The McPhersons' daughter, Fanny, is expected home from school abroad for the summer months. In the fall Mrs. McPherson will probably return with her to France.

The Sterling Mortons, according to Mrs. McPherson, are living in a house near Miami and Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour have just left Useppa for a trip down to Miami with the Albert Blake Dicks on their yacht.

And speaking of Useppa Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman and Mrs. Harry B. Clow Jr. arrived unexpectedly last week for three days of fishing. They are vacationing at Sarasota.

Mrs. Laird Bell and her sister Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, left Tuesday night for three weeks in Phoenix, Ariz.

John E. Hughes has come back from a month of hunting in England and Ireland, arriving in New York Tuesday. Mrs. Hughes went down to meet him and they will be in Washington over the week-end and back in Lake Forest Monday.

Champ Carrys Go to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Champ Carry and their children left yesterday for Mexico City. They will leave their children in El Paso with Mrs. W. Irving Osborne, Mrs. Carry's mother, who will take them to her Santa Barbara home. After the Carrys have been in Mexico City a week or two Mr. Carry will return to Chicago and Mrs. Carry will join Mrs. Osborne and the youngsters for a visit in Santa Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Landon Hoyt Jr. of Winnetka have left to spend two weeks in Green Cove Springs near Jacksonville, Fla., with Mr. Hoyt's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Thorne arrived home yesterday from a month of winter sports around Quebec where they had plenty of snow and ice and loads of fun.

Mrs. John Wentworth, who returned last month from a trip around the world, has left Chicago again, but this time she did not go quite so far. At present she is in Florida, staying with her aunt, Mrs. Stanley Field, in Sarasota.

Frank Mannheimer, the celebrated pianist who is to appear with the Woman's Symphony orchestra on March 12, is to be the guest of the Woman's Board at tea two days previously—the afternoon of March 10—at the home of Mrs. Edwin J. Mosser in Stratford place. Pouring tea on this occasion will be Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. William W. Dixon, Mrs. Gerhardt F. Meyne, and Mrs. Henry B. Vanzwoll. And in the receiving line with Miss Ebba Sundstrom, conductor of the orchestra, will be Mrs. Arthur E. Byfield, Mrs. Wallace F. Grosvenor, Mrs. Louis M. Anderson, Mrs. Samuel Moist, and Mrs. Jerome D. Farrell.

Woman's Club Federation Opens Horticulture School

Their first school of horticultural instruction opened yesterday for the garden department of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs at the Hotel Sherman. Among the speakers at the opening luncheon were A. Erlinger, who discussed the horticulture at A Century of Progress, and August Koch of Garfield park conservatory. Mrs. William A. Farrell, president of the federation, presided. The school, which contains exhibits of horticultural hobbies, will continue through tomorrow.

Paris Agrees That Cotton Blouses Shall Add Color to Spring Suits

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Blouses made of cotton are being worn with spring suits in Paris. These blouses are, in most cases, any color except white. The fashionable world agrees to use the blouse as the best means of adding a bit of color to the sober toned suit, and one sees blue blouses, red blouses, and blouses of green, brown, black, and all the pastel colors.

If the suit is light, the blouse is dark usually and if the suit is dark, the blouse comes in pastel shades or bright colors.

The Schiaparelli blouse, shown in the upper half of the sketch, is made of hyacinth blue cotton crinkled crepe, and like all good blouses is simple with plain long sleeves and a straight body, tucked near the waistline where it tucks under the skirt. The collar is draped and round, and is fastened by buttons at the back.

On the lower figure is shown a Goupy blouse in pin striped cotton material much like that used for men's shirts. It is ale gray and has fine stripes of green and red. The round neck comes up close around the throat, and the blouse is fastened by two curved bands, one buttoning at the right side of the neck and the other just below on the left side. The striped material is amusingly worked, partly vertical and partly horizontal.

Reason Why Some Wives Leave Rooftree

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"If I need a pair of shoes or a dress I have to beg and beg for it until I get so mad I lose my temper and then there's the very devil to pay. If I were extravagant, if I didn't keep our home up well, take every care of the children I'd think there was some excuse for my husband's attitude. But he won't part with a nickel for clothes or anything for me. He says I'm married now—so what does it matter what I wear?

"I'm only 31, though married seven years. It isn't the depression, either. He hasn't been hit a cent. It's the depression, however, that's keeping me here at his side. The minute it lifts and I can get a job—I'm off and out of his life. Mrs. D. B."

It's too bad the depression didn't hit Mrs. D. B's. man. It has taught many a husband that letting the wife in on the financial spoils in the good days was more than a paying investment. In this current struggle she's turned around, almost to a woman, and returned the kindness in scrimping, saving, stretching the lean dollars in a masterful way, and with a cheerful spirit. Where she is sour, resentful, it's where there's just reason for believing she was not treated fairly in the prosperous days.

Some men are just plain fools on this money feature. They hang themselves by their own mean purse strings. What good is money, anyway, if you can't share it? As a straight business proposition, isn't it better to invest a few dollars in dresses and shoes when the woman needs them than to spend a lifetime paying alimony?

But this is beside the point. We don't want to see Mrs. D. B. leaving home if there's any way of converting that husband of hers into a more open-handed creature. Too often this leaving home means leaving one scene of battle only to be confronted with a more trying one.

scrub and scrub to keep a toilet clean

SCOURING toilet bowls is old-fashioned. There is a cleaner, neater way to keep the porcelain white and bright. Just try the Sani-Flush way! Instead of scrubbing, you just sprinkle a little Sani-Flush. It does all the work for you. Does it better than any scrubbing will.

Try Sani-Flush in your toilet. (Follow directions on the can.) Flush. See stains and film vanish. See the toilet sparkle like new. Germs are killed. Odors go. That unseen trap is purged and purified. Sani-Flush can't harm plumbing.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Interviewing visiting celebrities in their hotel rooms sheds an illuminating light on that wayward talent known as personality. [Wayward because where it exists it can't be curbed.]

Hotel rooms are pretty much hotel rooms the world over. With a difference, yes, in texture of carpet and hangings and color of wood. And address! With some of the "celebs" the atmosphere still remains that of the hotel room. With others a bit of the polite drawing room is achieved.

But with Mary Garden a hotel suite suddenly becomes a salon vibrant with suggestion that a highly interesting hour is on. What does this to a room, I don't know. Anyway, Mary Garden's suite is drenched with her rare personality. Perhaps it was the leopard robe thrown lightly over one end of the blue divan, a pillow of like material nestling in the farm arm. Perhaps it was the tall bowl of striking rubrum lilies, or the large bowl of lavender tulips flowing over one piano end, or the deft arrangement of the yellow roses on the low table flanking the couch.

Anyway, as you sat and waited for the famous diva you were keyed up to an expectant pitch. And Mary doesn't let you down. The mere act of entering the room is electric in effect. Staged, timed, so it seems, but all of the Garden personality. She's talking about how awful it is not to have time enough to get your hair done and the thousand and one other things a well groomed person must attend to, which is ingratiating if obviously not true of the prima donna herself.

As a matter of fact, she'd just come from a famous salon where Miss Garden said there passed in review the smartest women you'll find anywhere in the world. "No one," says the diva, "can put clothes on her back like the American woman."

And speaking of backs, Mary's own is something to hang clothes on. She sits beautifully erect. Her shoulders and back are perfect. Her famous hipline has lost none of its streamline grace. She's small—only 5 feet 4, has yellow gold hair and bright blue eyes.

Mary's message to women who'd keep on glowing 'til the final curtain falls contains three S's: Swimming, sunning, and self denial. [I, not Miss Garden named the last. This, when the diva told me she eats one meal a day, and only one!]

The only cheating done on the one a day is a cup of coffee on rising to greet the morning's rehearsal strain. From 10 to 1 the vocalizing and rehearsing goes on. Then the big spread of the day. It may be anything so long as it is good, nourishing, and digestible. About six, a cup of coffee au lait is taken—and this closes for the day Mary's obligation to the cook.

MINUTE MYSTERY

CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE DEATH WATCH.

Dr. Lyman, police surgeon, gave the report of his postmortem findings on the body of one Pat O'Brien to Prof. Fordney.

Eric Swanson readily admitted he had killed O'Brien but—in self-defense!

Stepping into the warehouse on his way home to pay Pat a visit he had apparently taken the old watchman by surprise as he sat dozing in his chair. Upon Swanson's entrance he turned his flash light on him and grabbed his gun. Swanson called to him but either through confusion or because he didn't recognize him, O'Brien fired twice; one shot going through the cuff of his overcoat.

It was then that he had fired and before he realized what he had done to his old friend, he pulled the trigger three times!

WHY DID FORDNEY ARREST SWANSON FOR O'BRIEN'S MURDER?

Bread Troubles Often Traced to Temperatures

28° C. or 80° F. Correct for Rising Stage.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a Saturday morning radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 9:45 for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

"Just what," asked a weary writer in recently, "is the matter with my yeast rolls. I always have the same luck—sour or 'yeasty' tasting, yellow, and not-so-light rolls. It can't be the recipe, for I've tried at least ten different ones."

If you are having the same sour dough troubles with your bread or rolls I suspect your difficulty—and that of Mrs. B.—is much the same, namely, too long periods of rising, or rising at too high temperatures, or both.

The best temperature for bread dough to have during the rising stage is about 28 degrees C. or 80 degrees F. At that comfortable warmth the yeast plant in the bread can grow just the right amount and be fed properly by the sugar and restrained just the right amount by the salt to give us the best volume, flavor, and color. If this temperature is too low the yeast will not grow and lighten the loaf, or else the rising time must be much longer. If it is too high a flavor which we call "yeasty," but which isn't really from the yeast but from the growth of undesirable organisms, develops.

When cooks have made bread for years it becomes second nature to know just the temperature of water to combine with the flour to raise the dough to just the proper heat, and no further. But that doesn't help the struggling amateur with a sudden flare for yeast breads. So here is a bit of a formula which is really just arithmetic and will give you always the same results in temperature:

If your thermometer registers in centigrade degrees, take the temperature of the room and of the flour. Add the two together and subtract the sum from 84. The result will give you the temperature of water to use to bring the dough to a temperature of 28 degrees C. Or if your thermometer is marked in Farenheit degrees, subtract the sum of the flour and room temperatures from 240. The result is the temperature of the water that must be used to bring the dough to 80 degrees. Maybe that sounds a bit complicated. But read it over again, it isn't, really.

Then another danger is in letting the dough raise over too long a period. This really produces the same result as when too much heat overhastens the growth of the yeast in the dough. You find yourself with a sour smelling, coarse, heavy bread of rather a small volume. The time for this rising can't be dictated off hand. It depends too much on the proportions of yeast we have used and the temperature at which the dough has risen. But as a rule, the first rising should double the dough in bulk which should spring back readily when pressed with the finger. We then punch the dough and work very lightly to get rid of the gas.

The second rising of yeast bread takes less time than the first to double its volume. This time when it is punched it can at the same time be formed into loaves and placed in the pans. Once more it's covered and allowed to rise till double in bulk and then baked.

Common Bad Habit Often Has Several Causes

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"I try and try to stop biting my finger nails," said the 10 year old girl. "I just hate the way they look, but I can't seem to stop."

"I've been biting my finger nails for so long," writes a 13 year old, "and I cannot seem to break myself of the habit."

"Those finger nails are getting to the point now where they're dangerous," a mother complained to her 9 year old the other day. "They simply must be cut tonight! You know cutting them when you let them get so long is what gives the ends of your fingers that horrible feeling you say you hate so. I hope your teachers don't think I neglect you."

"Well, mom, how would you like it if I bit my nails right down to the quick? In our class there's Greg and Ernest and Sam and Pete—they all bite their nails."

His mother capitulated. "Thank goodness, you don't," she said. "I really am awfully glad you haven't any of those little habits. You never have had. But let's strike a happy medium."

There are various reasons for nail biting. Sometimes they're uncovered by skilled persons. Sometimes they're not. Emotional disturbances may be at the root of them. Sometimes lack of the right playthings and enough manual activity will show itself in nail biting.

One little girl who spent all her days with an adoring family of grown-ups and who had little to satisfy her need of activity and to use her native deftness arrived in kindergarten a nail biter and a behavior problem. A skillful teacher who first saw to her need af activity and after a while made the appeal to pride accomplished a cure of the habit.

Scolding a shaming, nagging and bad tasting applications are not the cure for nail biting. Correcting what may be wrong in a child's life or your management, plenty of use for growing muscles and an appeal to pride are constructive measures to use. Further suggestions are contained in our leaflet on the subject, which will be sent on receipt of a stamped self-addressed envelope.

CUB REGULARS, YANNIGANS TO BATTLE TODAY

Late Comers' Speed Prompts Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 1.—Members of the second squad of Chicago Cubs, who arrived here yesterday noon, got along so well in their training didos today that Manager Charley Grimm reinstated the Regulars vs. Yannigans contest originally scheduled for tomorrow. The intraclub clash was planned before the arrival of the second squad, but cancelled yesterday when the boss got the notion it would be too strenuous an enterprise for the soft muscles of the newcomers.

The Regulars and Yannigans also will play Friday and the two battles are expected to have the artists in fine fettle for the games with the New York Giants here on Saturday and Sunday.

Manager Grimm Pleased.

After a workout today Manager Grimm expressed himself as well pleased with the progress of the pitchers and the ability of the sluggers to hit the ball properly. The line drive hitters, such as Stevie, Koenig and Jurges, were socking line drives, while the long range artillery—such fellows as Babe Herman, Gabby Hartnett, Kiki Cuyler and several others—insisted upon breaking limbs off the eucalyptus trees which ornament the areas beyond the outfield fences.

The Cubs are confident they can spank the Giants Saturday and Sunday with much the same verve they exercised during the 1932 regular season, when they thrashed the proud New Yorkers no fewer than 15 times in the 22 games played.

Look for Hubbell, Bell.

Carl Hubbell and Herman Bell were the only Giant pitchers who could show the Cubs any pitching last season, and it is held probable that they will get a chance to look at both of them, inasmuch as the Giants, like the Cubs, will use at least six pitchers in the two encounters. The Cubs, on account of the Pacific ocean, have not scouted the Giants, and their mainland agents have been kept from a view of the Gotham lads by Manager Bill Terry's closed gate practice rule.

There has been no revision of the earlier estimate that 6,000 mainland visitors will be over on the island to see the opening of the exhibition season. Since the White Sox have no game scheduled for Sunday, it is expected that a group of Lou Comiskey's protégés will come over for a visit and to see the game Sunday afternoon.

Among the visitors to the Cub camp today was Freddy Miller, featherweight champion boxer, who last night defended his title against Baby Arizmendi. The pugilist, a resident of Cincinnati, is a friend of Babe Herman and Gink Hendrick, who played with the Reds last season.

Newsom's Corns Improve.

With the exception of the fluctuating condition of Buck Newsom's soft corns, there now is no subject matter for casualty bulletins. Today was one of the days that Buck was able to work out, but there is no way of telling how long it will last. Every effort is made to keep razors, pocket knives, can opener, and other sharp implements away from Buck so he won't monkey with the corns himself. But the lad is cunning, and despite the most aggressive surveillance outwits his watchers, with the result he is able to practice only one day out of every three or four.

KNOX, HEAD OF U. S. TENNIS, TO LEAVE CHICAGO

Chicago's hopes of having a United States Lawn Tennis association president for A Century of Progress year were blasted yesterday with the announcement that Harry S. Knox, newly elected head of the organization and the first middle westerner to gain the honor since the war, will presently move to the state of Washington, either at Aberdeen or Hoquian.

Mr. Knox, who now resides at 1300 Hyde Park boulevard, said yesterday that he probably will move within the next ten days, thereby giving the Pacific coast its first U. S. L. T. A. president in history. He is in the lumber business, and explained that a transfer to the coast was necessary because of business reasons.

A resident of Chicago for 35 years, Knox has been the guiding spirit in local tennis for more than a quarter of a century, having served as vice president of the U. S. L. T. A. for two terms, and also as secretary of the western group and president of the Chicago Lawn Tennis association.

LEHMAN CLEARS N. Y. COMMISSION IN SCHAAF DEATH

Albany, N. Y., March 1.—[Special.]—Gov. Lehman today gave the New York athletic commission a clean bill in connection with the death of Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, who died after a bout with Primo Carnera.

"Neither the law nor the boxing commission regulations have been broken. I do not intend to take further action," Gov. Lehman said.

THE GUMPS—SAY IT ISN'T SO

Quick, Boy, the Liniment! Sox Players Are Suffering

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 1.—The inevitable spring camp soreness had a stranglehold on the White Sox today. The third practice of the year was limited so as not to cause too much annoyance to a flock of athletes who appeared to have only about two good pairs of legs among them.

AL SIMMONS.

Batting practice, fungo chasing, and the time honored hi-lo bunting game made up the program, which was run off in about an hour. After that the boys were told by Manager Lew Fonseca that the ban on golf had been lifted with the consent of President Louis Comiskey, and a few of the addicts promptly forgot their aches. This concession will be withdrawn as soon as the exhibition games start, the theory being that by that time the boys should forget about everything except their profession.

Simmons Arrives in Week.

The matter of Al Simmons' detention at Hot Springs, Ark., became a heated subject today, so the Sox officials were on the long distance phone trying to determine if it wouldn't be possible for the star slugger to get into camp in another week. Simmons had promised to reach here by March 12, but both Manager Fonseca and Vice President Harry Grabiner would appreciate having him on hand now.

The phone conversation revealed that Simmons was ready to start except for treatment to the last of five teeth extractions. He intended to remain at Hot Springs long enough to have the departed molars replaced with synthetic ornaments, but at the request of the club bosses he has consented to have that part of his troubles fixed up here.

Simmons said that as the result of his daily workouts he is in the best physical condition he has enjoyed since 1929. The soreness in his right wrist, presumably caused by infected teeth, has almost disappeared. He laughed at the general impression that he was simply stalling to avoid making the long journey to this part of the country.

Puzzles Over Batting Order.

Fonseca and Grabiner do not fear that Simmons' ailments will keep him out of action the early part of the regular season, but they would like to have him on hand because with his presence more can be accomplished. The team's entire attack naturally will be built around him and the sooner he gets into uniform the sooner Fonseca can start experiments on the batting order. Another reason for desiring Simmons' presence is that the exhibitions with big league clubs are not far distant. The Sox chiefs want to present their choicest talent for those affairs.

It is a pretty fair bet that Simmons will draw the fourth hole in the batting order, but it will take some figuring to find the best spots for the other regulars. The leadoff rôle will be simple if Elias Funk can win the right field job, but he has Evar Swanson and Red Kress to contend with. Mule Haas probably will swing second, the same place he occupied while with the Athletics. Fonseca is supposed to have an idea of batting himself third. Jimmy Dikes may swing fifth, followed by Luke Appling, Jack Hayes, and the battery pair.

Fonseca Beats Fat Men.

If the training progresses at its present rate the pitchers will be able to bear down a bit early next week and games then will be staged between two picked teams. One more infielder is needed to make up two lineups, but by that time the Sox officials hope to locate Joe Chamberlin, the Waterloo, Ia., shortstop who lives in San Francisco.

Just to prove that there is nothing wrong with his legs, as yet, Fonseca put on a series of three 50 yard races today and scored a clean sweep. However, he picked his oppenents, which accounts for the victories. He outstepped Charley Berry, Frank Grube, and Chad Kimsey, the giant relief pitcher obtained from the Browns. All three of them are in the fat men's class and by racing them Fonseca figured he could hurry the reduction of excess poundage.

Every One on Pirate Roster Reaches Camp

Paso Robles, Cal., March 1.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates' training camp squad reached full strength today with the arrival of a second group, numbering 13 infielders and outfielders.

Those reporting to Manager George Gibson included Floyd Vaughan, Gus Suhr, Tony Piet, Floyd Young, Pie Traynor, Wilbur Brubaker, and Tommy Thevenow, all infielders, and Paul Waner, Lloyd Waner, Freddie Lindstrom, Forrest Hensen, Adam Comorosky, and Kenneth Vaughn, outfielders. Kenneth Vaughn is an older brother of Floyd and is up for his first trial.

YANKS BATTLE COLD.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1.—[Special.]—With overcoat weather prevailing, Joe McCarthy, manager of the World Champion Yankees, today sent the batterymen through their first workout. He had eleven pitchers and two catchers in uniform and Coaches Art Fletcher, Cy Perkins, and Jimmy Burke and Scouts Paul Kirchell and Johnny Nee to assist him.

With the exception of Pitchers Walter Brown and Don Brennan, none of the players brought weight problems into camp. Brown confessed to "about 265" and Brennan to "about 225." But their robust proportions do not worry McCarthy.

"They're just naturally big," he said, "and the bigger they are the better they pitch." Brown weighed 235 when he scored three victories for the Yankees last year—after they had won the pennant.

RED SOX HEAD SOUTH.

Boston, Mass., March 1.—(AP)—The vanguard of the Boston Red Sox got off today for spring training at Sarasota, Fla. Six men, including Marty McManus, manager, entrained in a flurry of snow while 1,500 well wishers cheered them on their way.

GIANTS GET WORKOUT.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 1.—(AP)—The remainder of the New York Giants squad answered roll call at spring training camp today and Manager Bill Terry took advantage of the situation by sending the club through a long workout.

Hughie Critz, second baseman; Sam Leslie, Terry's understudy at first base, and Mel Ott, Joe Moore, and Leonard Koenecke, all outfielders, were today's arrivals.

MORE BRAVES ARRIVE.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1.—(AP)—An immense reception committee, including the 232 pound Frank [Shanty] Hogan, welcomed the arrival of the Boston Braves' special today. The special carried only four young pitching prospects besides the training staff and newspaper correspondents.

Manager Bill McKechnie was on the station platform along with the other early arrivals, Ed Brandt, Tom Zachary, Walter Betts, Fred Frankhouse, Ben Cantwell, Bill Knothe, Bill Hargrave, Bobby Brown, and Eddie Falenstein, formerly of the Phillies.

Braddock Disqualified in 4th; Ettore Wins Verdict

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—(AP)—Al Ettore, Philadelphia heavyweight, was awarded a victory over Jimmy Braddock, Jersey City, N. J., tonight after Referee Joe McGuigan disqualified Braddock in the fourth round of an eight round final of a boxing card. McGuigan said Braddock was not trying. Each boxer weighed 179.

IT'S TONIGHT OR NEVER FOR HAWKS AND AMERICANS

It's About Last Chance for Both.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Custer's last stand, the battle of the Alamo, and the Lost Battalion of the Argonne all will pale at the Chicago Stadium tonight, when the Blackhawks and the New York Americans engage in the outstanding life and death struggle of the National Hockey league season, with both playing the rôle of the besieged.

The situation in the league standings has become such for both the Hawks and the Americans that they just about have to win tonight to earn places in the playoff series for the Stanley cup. A tie, even though it carries a precious point for each, will not be of much ultimate value. The Americans now are in third place in the international division with a lead of exactly two points over the revivified Canadiens of Montreal.

The Flying Frenchmen will entertain the world champion Maple Leafs of Toronto at Montreal tonight, after having whipped the titleholders, 2 to 0, at Toronto Tuesday night. It is plain to be seen what will happen to the Americans if they lose to the Hawks while the Canadiens are doing away with Toronto for the second time in three nights.

Tonight Is the Night.

The Hawks are in an even more precarious position than the invaders of the evening, for they are now six points, or three full games, away from the third place Boston team in the American division, due to the tie the Bruins achieved with Ottawa Tuesday. A victory would do the Hawks a lot of help since the Bruins are idle until Sunday night, when they play the Rangers at New York, which is not the best place in the world to play the Rangers.

The Americans' last visit to Chicago was especially gratifying to Blackhawk fans and disastrous to the New Yorkers, for the black and white lads came away with a 6 to 0 victory, their best of the season. This terminated a winning streak of nine games for the Americans. It was in that contest that Rabbit McVeigh, a Blackhawk alumnus, suffered a charley horse, and tonight's battle will be his first appearance since then.

There will be other new faces on the visitors' array this evening, since Manager Joe Simpson, not content with bringing the Americans to their present position, has done considerable juggling with his help since his last trip in these parts.

Regan Bolsters Defense.

Among the strangers who will be present tonight will be Doggy Kuhn of the New Haven club, Eddie Burke, former Philadelphia Arrows' center; Wilf Starr, late of Springfield, Mass.; Chuck Klein, who came up from the Boston Cubs, and Bill Regan, formerly with the Bruins and the Rangers. The appearance of Regan in a defense job makes the Americans one of the best defensive teams in the league.

The Americans have one of the best goalies, year in and year out, in the diminutive Roy Worters, who has won the David Hart trophy as being the most valuable player to his team, the only doorman ever to capture that honor, and also the Vezina trophy for goalies, although, strangely enough, he did not take them both in the same season.

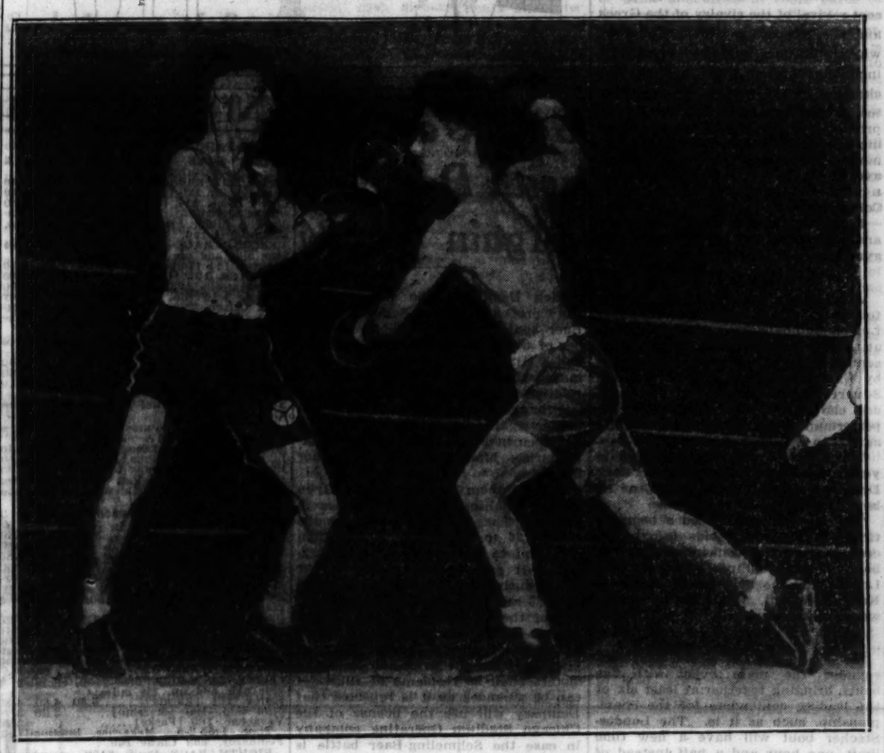

Speaking of the Vezina trophy, a new leader popped up Tuesday night in Tiny Thompson of the Bruins. Chuck Gardiner hung on to second place, as a result of the work of the Maroons, who pushed the puck past John Ross Roach, leader of the league most of the season, six times. Thompson now has had 77 goals scored on him, Gardiner 78, and Roach 81.

Minnesota House Passes Pari-Mutuels Race Bill

St. Paul, Minn., March 1.—(AP)—The Minnesota house of representatives voted 69 to 50 today to pass the pari-mutuels wagering proposal that provides for legalized betting and a 28 day horse racing season in Minnesota.

WHEN NOVICES DIDN'T PUNCH LIKE NOVICES

Gordon Goes Home; Hard Luck Champ

BY ARCH WARD.

Probably the chief hard luck fighter of the current Golden Gloves fisticuffs was Snooks Gordon, Springfield lightweight, who won his opening night fight by a knockout, but was ruled out of further competition because of a head injury sustained in the bout. Snooks spent a day recuperating in the hospital and left for home with the rest of the Springfield boys yesterday.

The Cleveland party, consisting of boxers and officials, will leave for home by motor bus this morning. This year's tournament was the first in which the Ohio city was represented, and every one was enthusiastic in their praise of how affairs were conducted. In addition to the fighters the Cleveland group consisted of Sam Otis, sports editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer; Alex Zirrin and Joe Zucker of the Plain Dealer staff; L. H. Bloom, vice chairman of the Nation Boxing committee, and James Lee, secretary of the northeast Ohio A. A. U.

The eligibility status of Ralph Carnegie, 147 pounder from Benton Harbor, has been questioned by the Central A. A. U. Ralph entered the tournament as a member of the South Bend team and was eliminated by Billy Miller of Milwaukee. The doubt concerning his amateur rating was based on a professional fight he is alleged to have engaged in. He has received the O. K. of the Michigan A. A. U. His case will be placed before Daniel Ferris, national secretary of the A. A. U.

Nearly all the sports writers from towns entering Golden Gloves teams announced that they will be back for the finals next Wednesday even if they do not have any fighters still in the running. The interest in all communities sending boys to the tournament is such that they desire complete reports of the progress of all the fighters.

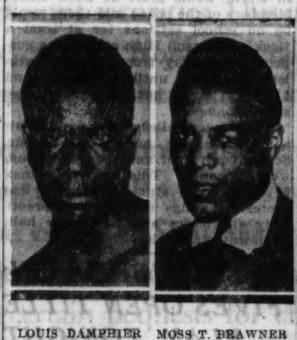

Those attending the annual banquet given by THE TRIBUNE to the visiting sports writers are still praising the quartet which entertained so handsomely. Few realized that the members of the quartet were all sports writers, including Deke Noble and Ray Dieden of Kokomo, Ind.; Fred Stage of Lafayette, and A. J. Brix of Streator. Their impromptu appearance resulted in many encores, finally ending with their promise to be back again for next year's affair.

NOTRE DAME IS 42 TO 41 VICTOR OVER BUTLER

Butler led at the half, 18 to 14, and a long shot by Baird tied it at 36 to 36.

As the second half ended Notre Dame cut down a Butler ten point lead which the Bulldogs had taken near the three-quarter time. Baldwin's foul enabled Davis to make it 37 to 36.

However, Newbold tied it again on Parrish's foul. Krause added a field goal, but Davis matched it and then counted again. Newbold made only one of two shots on Baird's foul, but scored a field goal immediately after.

CAMPBELL SAILS; EAGER TO RETURN FOR NEW MARK

New York, March 1.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, the only man alive who has sped over land at more than 200 miles an hour, headed homeward tonight with his five-ton Bluebird racer, eager to get back to England, but even more eager to return for another spin over the sands of Daytona Beach, Fla.

He came into New York less than a month ago just after recovering from an attack of influenza. He left tonight on the Aquitania with a heavy cold and a still badly bruised left forearm, a land speed record of 272.463 miles an hour, and his speed mania still unsatisfied.

"I most certainly will try to get back next year for another go at it," he said as he packed. "I know now that old Bluebird will do 300 miles an hour under favorable conditions and I never shall be content until I sit in with her and give her the chance."

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Thirty-two boxers, nineteen of them from the Golden Gloves centers outside Chicago, qualified at the Stadium last night for the climax of the sixth annual tournament next Wednesday. From this group the best boxing talent in six central states, from Cleveland to the Mississippi, and from northern Wisconsin to the Ohio, will come, with few exceptions, Chicago's intercity Golden Gloves team of twenty-four which will meet the New York boys at the Stadium, March 29.

These figures show clearly the increasing span of Golden Gloves. Six years ago Chicago's first intercity team was chosen from one metropolitan team with barely 300 entries. This year 5,000 boys in twenty-four cities entered the Golden Gloves. And Chicago, instead of dominating the competition, has yielded to the boys from other cities in proportion to the increase of out of town interest.

Look Out, New York!

Eleven thousand watched the quarter-finals of the tournament last night, a total of thirty-one fights, which produced the greatest show in history of the tournament. From these boys and in particular from those now eligible for next week's finals can be chosen a team which will be far superior to that which fought in Madison Square Garden last year.

Last night's program also included the semi-finals and finals of Chicago's first novice tournament. The semi-finals were contested in the two rings, starting at 8 o'clock, and then shortly after 11 o'clock the winners came back for their last bout. As each match was decided the winner received a gold medal and the runner-up a silver medal.

The novice champions, acording to the rules of the competition, are eligible for choice on Chicago's intercity team if they are superior, in the opinion of the judges, to the best three boxers in open division class. The intercity team will be chosen next week after the open division finals.

Peoria Qualifies Three.

Peoria leads the 13 out of town Golden Gloves centers in the number of semi-finalists. Three boys, Jack Smith, 118 pounds; George Dungey, 126 pounds, and Keith Graves, 135 pounds, will represent Peoria. Four cities, Joliet, Cleveland, Davenport, and Rockford, each qualified two boxers.

Three of the champions of the Chicago Catholic Youth Organization reached the final night of competition. They are Bud Ginter, bantamweight; Henry Rothler, welterweight, and Max Marek, light heavyweight.

Description of the individual bouts in the quarter finals is difficult. Each bout, certainly as far as the boys themselves were concerned, was a head line attraction.

By last night many of the amateurs had become favorites with the fans, in that their abilities and chances as

Two games will open the quarter final round of play for the Chicago Public High School league lightweight basketball championship today, Wendell Phillips meeting Fenger and Hyde Park playing Bowen. Both games will be played at White City, 63d street and South Park, the first starting at 4 o'clock.

Phillips will be seeking its fifth lightweight title. It entered the quarter finals by winning the central section championship with seven victories and one defeat. Fenger captured the south division title.

Harrison Faces Marshall.

Harrison Tech heavyweights will meet Marshall at the latter's gymnasium today for second place in the west section. Harrison qualified for today's game by defeating Tuley, 26 to 25, in the first contest of the playoff for the runner-up position in the section yesterday on Harrison's court.

Crane Tech won the west division championship with ten consecutive victories. Harrison, Marshall, and Tuley finished their sectional schedules tied for second place with six triumphs and four defeats. The heavyweight quarter final round will start tomorrow with two games. Crane Tech will play Lane Tech of the north section at Loyola university gymnasium.

Harrison Wins in Final Minutes.

Lake View, north division runner-up, will meet the winner of the Harrison-Marshall game. The site of the contest has not been selected. The other lightweight games also will be played tomorrow. Roosevelt will meet McKinley at Roosevelt and Austin will play Lane at Loyola gymnasium.

Harrison scored in the final minutes to defeat Tuley yesterday. With several minutes to play, Tuley led, 25 to 23, but Lazarus tied the score, 25 to 25, when he sank a long shot. Then Switack scored a free throw. Lineup:

Cut Rate for Tourist Fisher Is New Plan

BY BOB BECKER.

For the purpose of harvesting more sportsmen's dollars, some states this year will offer bargain, short term tourist fishing licenses, according to a survey made recently by an eastern conservation organization. Realizing that touring, nonresident fishermen bring cash to vacation lands, the tendency seems to be to reduce seven fifteen, or thirty day licenses to a reasonable figure. While this movement is on, conservation departments are hard pressed for money to carry on their work and are confronted with the problem of how to restock streams and lakes without increasing license fees.

There has been a need in some of the central states for short term, reasonably priced hunting and fishing licenses. For example, last fall Wisconsin would have been wise to have inaugurated a cut rate bird shooting license when the grouse season was opened. Many sportsmen could take advantage of low railroad fares for a week-end in the north. To pay $25 for a nonresident bird license for just a couple of days shooting is out of line.

Will Result in Larger Income.

Authorities point out that in such cases a short term "special" license good for only a few days and costing $5 or $10 will result in a larger income and fewer violations of the law than when a stiff license fee is in effect.

Arkansas has its eye on the tourist dollar by offering a special nonresident 15 day fishing license for $1.10. For the season the charge is $5. In Kansas you can get the same license for $1. Missouri charges $3 for a nonresident angler's full season license and $1 for a 15 day permit.

States Pressed to Keep Up Supply.

While this cut rate movement is under way, Haskell Noyes, chairman of the Wisconsin conservation commission, points out that with the automobile making hunting and fishing grounds so accessible, and with more and more sportsmen going into the open, it now is difficult for states to raise enough fish and game to meet the demand.

In order to keep pace with the demands for more fish and game, Mr. Noyes is undoubtedly correct in his statement that increased revenues from fishermen and hunters are needed. This means reasonable increases in the license fees.

4 QUINTETS SEEK PLACE TONIGHT IN A. A. U. TOURNEY

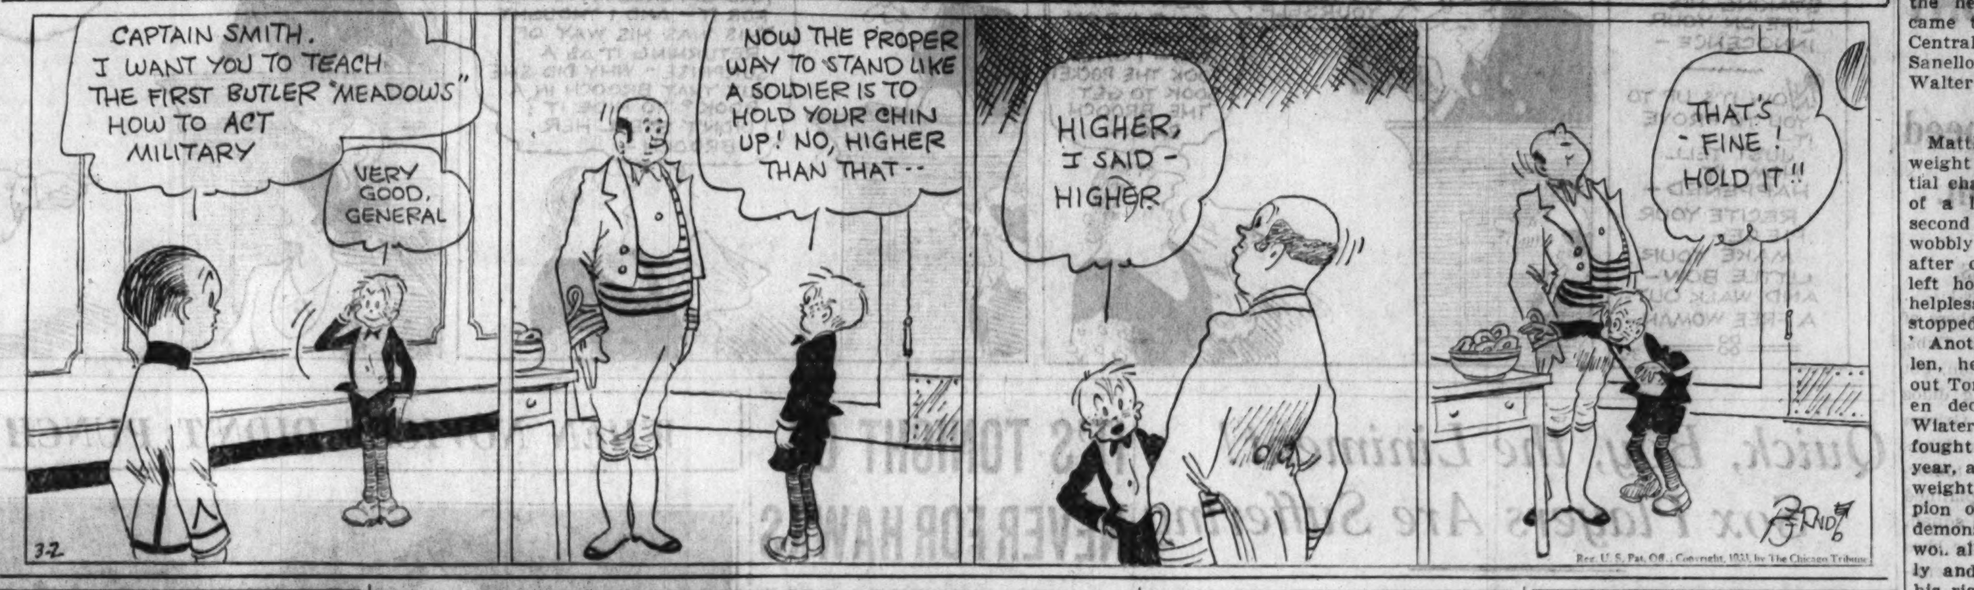

Two games tonight will determine the representatives of the central states in the National A. A. U. basketball championship tournament. The Rosenberg-Arveys will meet the Special Troops and the Schuessler Athletic club will play the Kenosha, Wis., Y. M. C. A. team at the 132d regiment armory, Rockwell and Madison streets.

Bob Gruenig, former star at Crane Technical High school, will be in the Rosenberg-Arveys lineup. The winners in the two contests will enter the national meet at Kansas City. The Schuesslers last year reached the finals of the tournament.

LONDOS-STECHER MAT DRAMA GOES ON BOARDS AGAIN

The second 1933 showing in Chicago of the Jim Londos-Joe Stecher wrestling number, familiar to followers of the grappling pastime at intervals during the last decade, will be presented at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night before what is expected to be a record crowd at a local match.

The match was prompted by the recent revival of the rivalry of the Greek and the Nebraskan at the Coliseum, wherein Stecher surprised everybody, including himself, by holding the claimant of the world's championship to a draw within one hour. Doc Krone, promoter of that exhibition, now acting in the rôle of matchmaker for Promoter Joe Foley of the Stadium, averred that no less than 2,000 customers were turned away from the Coliseum doors.

That Belt Is at Stake.

After their first meeting Stecher followed up his moral victory over Londos by challenging Jim to a match at the Stadium, with the title belt presented to the Greek three years ago by the Millionaires' club of Madison Square Garden to be at stake. Londos, claiming to be dissatisfied by his performance against Stecher, readily agreed to a second match.

The Illinois Athletic commission said yesterday it could not permit Jack Dempsey to referee the match, as he is not a resident of the state.

The meeting has caused a boom in ticket selling which bids fair to exceed that of the last important mat bout at the Stadium, that between Londos and the bald headed Russian, Kola Kwariani, when nearly 18,000 were in attendance.

Hour and a Half Limit on Bout.

Mr. Foley and Dr. Krone have surrounded the main event with five bouts, bringing together at least six of the leading contenders for the championship, such as it is. The Londos-Stecher bout will have a new time limit, one hour and a half instead of the hour which held during the Coliseum match. In the other bouts Ray Steele will meet Pat O'Shocker, George Zaharias faces Abe Coleman, Jim McMillen engages Hans Steinke, Joe Savoldi wrestles Cox, and Jack Smith meets Lou Plummer.

SHIFT ANDERSON MEETS; STUDENTS STILL ON STRIKE

Anderson, Ind., March 1.—[Special.]—The sectional and regional basketball tournaments of the Indiana High School Athletic association scheduled to be held here next Friday and Saturday and March 11 were ordered transferred today by the Anderson board of education. In all probability the sectional will be sent to Alexandria and the regional to Indianapolis.

The board also decided that spring vacation, usually held the first week in April, would start at noon today. Members of the board said there would be no school sessions for at least a week. Anderson High school was suspended Saturday from the state athletic association until Feb. 1, 1934, and a student strike has been in progress since Monday.

Police were called this noon to halt a demonstration by striking pupils. School equipment and the gymnasium were damaged. This was the climax of 60 hours of student parading and protest meetings that stopped practically all classes and frequently halted downtown affairs.

Getz Confers with Dempsey Again Today

Jack Dempsey, who will promote the proposed Max Schmeling-Max Baer bout, and George Getz, a member of the Illinois Boxing commission and A Century of Progress sports committee chairman, conferred yesterday relative to making Soldiers' field the site for the contest in June. They will confer again today, after Getz, who has been in Florida several weeks, familiarizes himself with a few minor obstacles.

One of them is the Graham-Ryan bill to legalize 15 round matches in Illinois. The bill was passed by the senate, 36 to 3, on Feb. 9, and then was sent to the house of representatives. It passed first reading in the house during the session which ended Feb. 23 and is expected to be reported out of the legislature at the present session which convened yesterday.

The latest objection in the 15 round law—omitting the provision that promoters shall be residents of Illinois—can be amended as it is reported that Dempsey will use the license of the Chicago Stadium Operating company in case the Schmeling-Baer battle is held here.

Dempsey will be here until Monday when he will go to Omaha, Neb., to referee a wrestling exhibition between Jack Vincent and Ray Richards.

Boxers from the Evanston Athletic club will meet an amateur team representing the Belle Plaine club tonight at the latter's gymnasium, 3943 Lincoln avenue. Eight matches are scheduled. Art Swanson, Ernie Newgart, Bob Iverson, and Jack Logan will appear. Charles Evans will meet Clarence Smith in a wrestling bout.

The winner of the six round contest between Harry Schuman and Puggy Weinert at the Cicero stadium tomorrow night will meet Young Walker, south side welterweight. The match is proposed for the Washington boulevard arena on March 10 when Johnny Pena and Varias Milling meet for the second time.

Jackie Sharkey, Minneapolis, Minn., featherweight, will arrive tomorrow for his eight rounder against Joey Bozak at White City next Monday. . . . The N. B. A. has suspended Prince Saunders, Chicago boxer, until March 10. . . . Gen. John V. Clinnin, former chairman of the state boxing commission, yesterday moved into the Illinois state civil service commission. . . Otto Von Porat is in Tomahawk, Wis., where he is recuperating following his bout with Tuffy Griffith last Friday.

Gophers, Illini, Maroons to Vie in Gymnastic Meet

Minnesota, Illinois, and Chicago, the three leading contenders for the conference gymnastics title, will hold a triangular meet in Bartlett gymnasium tomorrow night.

Hockey Heads O. K. Calder as President

New York, March 1.—(AP)—Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey league for 16 years, tonight was more firmly entrenched than ever as head of hockey's major circuit following upon a stormy session of the board of governors.

Calder, whose recent decisions aroused the ire of Charles F. Adams, president and chief stockholder of the Boston Bruins, was given a unanimous vote of confidence by the board after several hours of argument, during which the resignation of Adams as a governor was accepted. Robert R. Duncan, director on the Boston club, was appointed to succeed Adams.

Vote Against Committee.

A committee of three, Maj. Frederic McLaughlin of Chicago, Leo Dandurand of Montreal and William F. Carey of New York, appointed to iron out the difficulties, presented a report suggesting the resignation of Adams be refused. The governors, however, voted to accept the resignation after Adams had said the pressing duties of other business made his withdrawal from the board advisable.

Playoffs to Open March 25.

March 25 was set as the date for the opening games between the winning teams in each division and the two second place clubs. The third place clubs will meet in the first of a home and home series either the same night or March 26. The two first place clubs will play three out of five games and the others two games, with total goals to count.

The second series, involving the winners of the second and third place series, will be played March 30 and April 1, total goals to determine the victor. The Stanley cup finals will get under way April 4, with the second game scheduled for the following night, providing the New York Rangers win the privilege of selecting the ice. If another team, the second game will be played April 6 and remaining three games, if necessary, on the rink of the opposing club.

ing in the early rounds, was disqualified from the quarter-finals last night because of an ear injury received Tuesday evening. The only other boy who failed to pass the physical examination yesterday was Mike Krizhas, C. Y. O. novice welterweight. He also was ruled out because of an ear injury.

Good fellowship and good natured kidding was most prominent yesterday during examination of the boxers by the staff of physicians and clerks. Clerk Otis Taylor remarked to Max Marek, at one of these intervals: "Well, Max, we're going to give you Vernon Miller of Davenport, Ia., tonight," and Marek came back with: "That's fine. I had two setups last night and I'll be glad to get another." Miller whipped Max for the light heavyweight Golden Gloves championship last year.

Jack Allen, Cleveland, O., heavyweight, entertained other members of his team before the bouts with a harmonica. He played several numbers, of which the best were "St. Louis Blues" and "O Solo Mio." Allen played so enthusiastically that perspiration poured down his face.

Fred Caserio, National A. A. U. middleweight champion and captain of the 1931 Golden Gloves team, fought under a handicap last night. His left eye was swollen and bruised. He was butted by Julius Denny of Rockford on Tuesday.

Probably the most surprising result of the tournament was the brilliant victory of Adolph Wiater of Green Bay over Jack Allen, Cleveland heavyweight champion. Allen had been rated an almost certain winner. Wiater was a member of the 1932 Chicago Golden Gloves team.

GOLDEN GLOVES FIELD IS CUT TO 32 FINALISTS

The first to drop out was Ted Kara, the Cleveland flyweight champion, who Monday night had beaten the C. Y. O. champion, Henry Fuscaldo. Kara lost a decision to James Kinney, Joliet, in a splendid fight. Hard on the heels of this apparent reversal came the technical knockout of the Central A. A. U. titleholder, Frankie Sanello, of Trafton's gymnasium, by Walter Matthies of Chicago.

Matthies Is a Surprise.

Matthies was the surprise in the flyweight class. He boxed like a potential champion and hit with the power of a lightweight. As early as the second round Matthies had Sanello wobbly. Then, in the third round, after catching Sanello flush with a left hook, and straightening him up helpless along the ropes, the referee stopped the bout.

Another Cleveland boxer, Jack Allen, heavyweight, who had knocked out Tony Susnis of Chicago, was beaten decisively last night by Adolph Wiater of Green Bay, Wis. Wiater fought one of his best fights. Last year, as an inexperienced light heavyweight, Adolph won from the champion of Germany, but last night he demonstrated greater skill. Wiater won all three rounds, jabbing effectively and countering or punching with his right. He also had a decided advantage in weight.

Johnny Baltzer of Davenport, Ia., and Lennie Cohen of Trafton's Gymnasium, Chicago, complete the quartet still eligible for the flyweight championship. Both are mighty good.

Ginter, Rodak Win.

Bud Ginter, the C. Y. O. champion, went into the finals by easily defeating Johnny Walker of Vincennes, Ind. Jack Smith, Peoria's hard punching bantamweight, stopped Paul Stedina of Gary, Ind., to win a berth among the four survivors in his division. Dick Baker, Lafayette, Ind., and Robert Averson, Belle Plaine Athletic club, complete the list in this weight.

Leo Rodak, captain of the 1932 Golden Gloves team, won a place in the featherweight class last night. Rodak beat Lorenzo Lovings, a Chicago Negro, who made an excellent showing against Rodak. George Van Der Heyden of South Bend, Ind., defeated Harry Booker in three rounds. This was one of the best matches of the night. After two rounds in which neither could outpoint the other Van Der Heyden finished with a spurt which carried him to victory. Irving Goldstein of Chicago and George Dungey complete the list in this class.

The lightweight upset was the defeat of Witt Sparks of Milwaukee by Bruno Galvanoni of Rockford. Sparks has had only ten fights and his defeat last night was his first. Galvanoni was too experienced for Sparks, who, however, never was in danger of being knocked out.

Rothier Marches On.

Henry Rothier, C. Y. O. welterweight champion and 1932 Golden Gloves champion in the lightweight class, qualified last night by whipping Billy Marshall of Nashville, Tenn. Billy Celebron, Trafton's gymnasium, soundly whipped George Holden, who as a lightweight two years ago fought and won against New York. King Wyatt of Fort Wayne qualified and George Baratko, Cleveland, drew a bye when one of the best welterweights, Billy Miller of Milwaukee, was turned down by physicians because of an injured ear.

Fred Caserio, 1931 Golden Gloves team captain and present National A. A. U. titleholder, qualified in the middleweight class by whipping William Nurczyk of the C. Y. O. Billy Treest of St. Charles, Ill., representing Joliet, defeated Walter Palm of the Swedish American A. A. Jim Cummings, winner over Fred Tyrus of Peoria, and Ellis Bradley complete this division. This is one of the greatest groups of middleweights in the history of Golden Gloves.

Big Fellows Superb.

Max Marek, the third of the C. Y. O. champions to qualify for the semi-finals, whipped John Ebers of Grand Rapids, Mich., last night. It may be too much to say that Marek is the best of the light heavyweights, but he won't be beaten badly, if at all. Harvey Diesch of Milwaukee, Edward Yde of Dubuque, Ia., and Vernon Miller, the 1932 Golden Gloves champion, remain in the race. Miller defeated Marek in the finals last year, and now these two are ready to settle the question of supremacy all over again.

Consider these heavyweights: Adolph Wiater, conqueror of Jack Allen; Jack Kranz, winner over Morty Harloff of Milwaukee; Ario Soldati of Rockford, who whipped Walter Karpinski of Grand Rapids, and Chicago's John Pacek, who beat Owen McCarthy of Joliet. The four winners, and, for that matter, several of the losers, form a wealth of material heretofore unknown in Golden Gloves.

Soldati, like Allen, is a tremendous hitter. Kranz was the light heavyweight Golden Gloves champion in 1931. Pacek also has whipped some mighty fine boys. Then there's Wiater. From this list should come two heavyweights capable of whipping the boys from New York on March 29.

ORDER HEARING ON SOLVENCY OF MIDDLE WEST

Creditors Defeat Stockholders' Plea.

Hearings to determine whether the $2,000,000,000 Middle West Utilities com is solvent or insolvent will begin within a few days before Jacob I. Grossman, special master in chancery.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson entered an order to that effect yesterday over the strenuous protest of Middle West stockholders holding a $210,000,000 equity in the company. The judge acted on motion of attorneys for the petitioning creditors and noteholders, who insist the company is insolvent.

Attorney Lewis F. Jacobson, whose petition for bankruptcy has been before the court since last April, made the first plea that the question of Middle West solvency be adjudicated. He was joined by Attorney Robert N. Golding of counsel for a committee representing the holders of $40,000,000 of Middle West notes.

Would Quiz Bankers.

"We want to question the bankers who took the securities of this company for collateral on loans," said Mr. Jacobson. "We want to show that this company was insolvent last April and thereby lay the ground for recovery of all collateral pledged within four months prior to its insolvency."

Attorney Orville J. Taylor, representing the common stockholders, opposed Mr. Jacobson's plea. A hearing in bankruptcy would serve no useful purpose, he contended.

"The banks have already supplied the creditors all the information they could possibly get through a hearing to discover assets," he said. "To go through such a hearing would only mean the raising of old issues and recriminations. It would mean the dissolution of the company with a total disappearance of the stockholders' equity."

Gets Court Report March 28.

Attorney Jacobson averred that all the information the creditors were seeking could be obtained in two days. Attorney Taylor countered that the stockholders would oppose the hearing "to the last gasp," adding that the hearing would require two months.

Disregarding Mr. Taylor's plea the judge announced he would assign the case to Master Grossman. He set March 28 for a hearing in his own court at which he will determine whether, on the basis of the evidence before the master, the company is actually insolvent.

"There is no question of its insolvency," Mr. Jacobson declared in conclusion. "All things considered, its liabilities exceed its assets four to one. The fact that its notes are selling on the market for 5 cents on the dollar is evidence enough for that."

STEEL OUTPUT FALLS TO 17% OF CAPACITY

Steel production fell off sharply last week, with the average ingot output rate reaching 17 per cent of capacity. There is a possibility of a further slight decline in the balance of the week. This is the summary of conditions in the industry set forth by Iron Age in its weekly review.

The Cleveland producing area was the hardest hit, declining to 23 per cent of capacity from 35 per cent last week. Automobile tonnage is an important factor in that district. The falling off in the business was ascribed to the unsettled banking situation.

Chicago activity was down 2 per cent to 16 per cent of capacity.

S. W. Robinson Promoted by Invest. Protect. Bureau

Standish W. Robinson has been named assistant manager of the Investors Protective bureau, 10 South La Salle street, to succeed Leonard D. Karcher, who has assumed the duties of state security commissioner in the Chicago office. Ruppert Bippus, holdover commissioner, will continue with the department until the outcome of security legislation now pending before the state legislature. Robinson is a former assistant manager of the bureau. Mortimer Grover is manager.

Three Insull Utilities Start a "New Deal"

BY HOWARD WOOD.

During the last few days Chicago's three big operating utilities, Commonwealth Edison, People's Gas, and Public Service company of Northern Illinois, have removed some of the few remaining links with the old "Insull" régime.

The new management of these companies is doing its utmost to convince the public that there is a new deal. Investors were satisfied that this was the case as early as last autumn and the refinancing bonds were successfully marketed. The complete confidence of customers is now sought by the companies.

Among the new policies adopted is that of choosing as directors leading Chicago citizens instead of packing the board with company officers as was done under the old setup.

New Men on Boards.

This week Commonwealth Edison added to its directorate L. E. Block, chairman of the board of Inland Steel; Joseph M. Cudahy, member of the packing family; Thomas E. Donnelley, president R. R. Donnelley & Sons; and Albert H. Wetten, president Albert H. Wetten & Co.

Peoples Gas chose as new directors Sewell L. Avery, chairman of the board, Montgomery Ward & Co., and president, U. S. Gypsum company. Howard W. Fenton, president, Harris Trust and Savings bank; Charles B. Goodspeed, manufacturer; Donald R. McLennan, head of Marsh & McLennan, insurance, and Melvin A. Traylor, president, First National bank of Chicago.

Public Service has the following new directors: John T. Pirie, president, Carson Pirie Scott & Co.; Joseph H. King, president, National Regulator company; John J. Mitchell and James Simpson, chairman of the company.

Assert Rates Fair.

Along with the announcement of these changes the management seeks to prove to the satisfaction of customers that rates are not excessive.

"In the times through which we are passing it seems to me to be the part of wisdom to preserve those of our institutions that are still solvent, and no good purpose will be served by destroying the solvency of those which are yet sound," Chairman James Simpson said in his talk before shareholders of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

"From time to time recently you may have heard or read of attacks being made on your company. For the most part they are not warranted, are not helpful, and may, if persisted in, result in injury to the credit standing of the company, the maintenance of which is as vital to the consumer and the public as to the company itself.

"The management will oppose vigorously those actions which are unjustified.

Rates "Low as Any."

"The company's rates for electric service are as low as or lower than those of any other middle western companies supplying service to a wide area."

This week's action on the three directorates definitely squelches any suspicion that eastern interests may have got control of the management of Chicago's utilities through the acquisition of stock that eastern banks had taken as security for loans to Insull Utility Investments, Corporation Securities, and Middle West.

Every director of the three companies is a Chicagoan.

ADDRESS O B 68, TRIBUNE

BANKS COMBAT BIG NEW LOANS BY TREASURY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Banks, especially those of New York, are fighting any large new borrowing by the government when the treasury does its regular March 15 refinancing.

Arguments between the banks and the treasury over the issue now being planned, are regarded as the first skirmish between the financial interests and the incoming administration over the shaping of the Democratic fiscal policy.

The banks are making a particularly vigorous stand on the question of the March 15 operations because of existing financial conditions. Banks are anxious to keep as much of their cash on hand as possible. Therefore, they want the treasury to keep its March 15 issue close to its refinancing needs, about 694 million dollars. Large borrowing would deplete the banks' reserves.

Interest Rates Firmer.

Hardening of the current market for government securities has already been demonstrated by the discount rate on treasury bills, as well as by the price trends of longer-term issues. The discount rate on bills jumped from .23 per cent to .99 per cent in two weeks as the large banks, called upon to furnish cash to their correspondents, became less interested in the new offerings.

William H. Woodin, incoming secretary of the treasury, will have to settle the size of the March 15 borrowings. It is believed that Woodin himself is sympathetic with the banks' attitude and that he wants a balanced budget, with no supplementary borrowing for public works.

Treasurer Faces Dilemma.

Incidentally, the announcement by Secretary Mills that Woodin would announce the new financing of March 15, has been taken as assurance that the offering will be in the form of either notes or certificates. No bond issue could be announced and floated between March 4 and 15, it is said.

Discussions between the banks and treasury over the pending issue are regarded as inevitable in the face of present conditions. Woodin and the new administration must take their choice between borrowing for relief and other extraordinary expenditures and a flat balancing of the budget.

CHICAGO POWER OUTPUT SHOWS SMALLER SPREAD

The output of electricity in the Chicago district for the week ended Feb. 25 totaled 90,171,000 kilowatt hours, a decline of 5.2 per cent from the 95,154,000 total for the same week in 1932. The February results made the best showing in seventeen months, or since September, 1931, according to the Commonwealth Edison company.

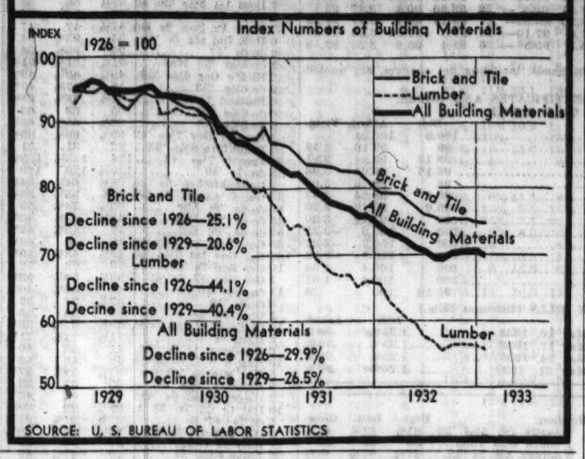

For the country as a whole the output of electricity totaled 1,425,511,000 kilowatt hours for the same week, a decline of 5.7 per cent from the same week last year.

The declines in the various districts were as follows: Atlantic seaboard, 4.1 per cent, against 4.6 per cent in the preceding week; central industrial district, 9.4 per cent, against 6.9 per cent; Pacific coast, 5.4 per cent, against 7 per cent; New England, 5.5 per cent, against 5.1 per cent.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Both houses of congress acted today on legislation aimed at the relief of debt burdens.

By a vote of 207 to 26 the house agreed to the senate version of a bankruptcy reform bill providing for voluntary railroad reorganizations, and permitting individuals, particularly farmers, to compose or extend their debts. The measure now goes to the White House, where its early approval by the President is expected.

Favor City Bankruptcy Bill.

Shortly after this action in the lower body, its judiciary committee reported favorably a bill under which municipalities may secure a bankruptcy decree enabling them to postpone principal and interest payments on their bonded indebtedness. A similar measure has been introduced in the senate by Senator George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.]. The house bill was sponsored by Representative Clarence J. McLeod [Rep., Mich.] and is understood to have excellent changes of passage in the closing hours of this session.

Meanwhile, the senate passed and sent to the house, the so-called Hull-Walcott bill providing for a two-year moratorium on foreclosures of mortgages on farms and small urban homes. A half billion dollar fund would be loaned by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, under the bill, to farm and small home mortgage holders on the condition that they agree to suspend foreclosures for two years.

Expected to Help Farmer.

The bankruptcy measure approved by the house is designed to enable individuals and farmers to scale down their debts or to extend payment, without incurring the stigma or loss of assets incidental to bankruptcy under the present laws. As it was approved today, however, the measure does not include corporations, being limited to individuals and railroads. The provisions applying to corporations were regarded as so controversial as to endanger the passage of the bill and were eliminated by the senate.

The McLeod bill applies to cities of more than 50,000 population with a bonded indebtedness of more than one million dollars. Under its provisions, municipalities found by the court to be insolvent and unable to meet their obligations would be granted a decree permitting a two year postponement of interest, principal, and sinking fund payments on their bonded indebtedness. If necessary, the decree could be extended for additional two year periods up to a maximum of ten years.

SENATE TO PROBE EFFECT OF ENDING WHEAT PIT CURBS

Seek Names of Bears in Futures Trading.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—(AP)—A resolution by Senator Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] asking the secretary of agriculture for a report on the effect of wheat prices of the suspension of some Chicago Board of Trade restrictions in October was agreed to today by the senate.

The resolution also directed that the secretary of agriculture give the names and addresses of all persons and firms that have held a speculative short position in wheat futures in amounts of 1,000,000 bushels or more in the last two or three years.

The resolution was agreed to without discussion and without a record vote. It calls on the secretary of agriculture to report:

What was the purpose of suspending reports from Board of Trade members on accounts of speculators and short sellers.

R. F. C. REFUNDS COVER MOST OF NEW BANK LOANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—[Special.]—Banks and trust companies during January repaid or canceled the call for almost as much money as they borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. That was disclosed today in the corporation's monthly report to congress.

Bank loan authorizations amounted to $46,915,255 during the month according to the report. Repayments totaled $22,461,181, while cancellations of loans authorized but not collected by the borrowing institutions amounted to $8,608,197.

A total of $134,001,082 was authorized to be lent by the corporation during January, the report showed, but actual cash disbursements amounted to only $77,251,570. The record of authorizations and disbursements to each class of borrower is as follows:

Type of borrower.	Authorized.	Disbursed.
Banks, financial institutions and railroads	$74,554,064	$42,601,131
States, for relief	50,016,116	40,179,570
Self-liquidating construction	9,149,100	2,600,000
Agricultural marketing	281,802	32,302

In addition to these loans, the corporation allocated another $8,500,000 to the secretary of agriculture for crop production loans under the R. F. C. act. The new allocation brought the total thus far set aside for this purpose to $139,500,000, of which $75,000,000 had been paid over to the secretary at the close of January.

Buys Home Loan Stock.

The corporation also paid in 2 millions more as capital for the regional agricultural credit corporation at Salt Lake City, the report showed, and purchased another $1,700,000 worth of federal home loan bank stock.

During the month, the report stated Illinois received a total of $6,000,250 in relief money from the corporation; Iowa obtained $87,800 which was later canceled; and Michigan received $5,595,191.

No state in the north central area obtained a self-liquidating construction loan during the month, according to the record. The Michigan elevator exchange received a loan of $200,000 under the section of the emergency relief act authorizing advances to institutions engaged in the carrying

Jump Rates on Bankers' Bills and Call Money

An abrupt advance in bankers' acceptances took place yesterday when rates were increased a full 1 per cent. Ordinarily, changes in this form of commercial paper have been at a rate of ⅛ of one per cent.

The call money rate also advanced, going from 1 to 2 per cent.

Bankers' acceptances are a form of commercial paper issued mainly against staple commodities, which either may be held in storage or may be in transit. They are also issued against manufactured articles or commodities in transit between foreign ports—either going or coming—and the United States, or they may be issued against manufactured goods in storage in foreign countries.

Acceptances bear the stamp of the owning company and a recognized bank, each of which guarantees payment. Prime acceptances are eligible for discount by the federal reserve bank and as such are rated about next to United States government issues as securities.

Sell Acceptances, Gain Cash.

Banks looking for a safe place to invest their funds have taken acceptances in considerable amounts. With the demand for currency as a result of bank difficulties in some parts of the country, banks in affected areas have been letting go of their acceptances. As a result, the supply is greater than the demand. In order to make them more attractive to buyers, rates are advanced, thereby giving the purchaser a greater return on his money.

Acceptances have been selling at all time low prices, those for 30-60-90 days being quoted a few weeks ago at ⅜ bid and ¼ aked. That is, a dealer in acceptances—there are about five major houses in the country—would offer to take acceptances at a discount of ⅜ of one per cent. He would then offer to sell them at ¼ of one per cent discount. The ⅛ of one per cent would be his profit.

When the banking situation developed in Michigan, acceptances began rising in price and last week there was a sharp upturn of ¼ of one per cent.

Rates Highest in Months.

Yesterday's advance puts the rates at the highest figure since April 8, 1932. During the heighth of the bull market in 1929, acceptances were quoted around 5 per cent because a great part of available funds were going into the call money market.

Rates quoted yesterday were 2¼ to 2⅛ per cent on 30-60-90 day maturities; 2⅜ to 2¼ on 120 days, and 2⅜ to 2½ on 150-150 days.

The last change in the call money rate was on Oct. 13, 1932, when the rate was reduced from 2 to 1 per cent. This is the first time that the rate on call money has advanced since Dec. 30, 1931, when the rate was increased to 3½ from 3 per cent.

PLAN TO REOPEN DETROIT BANKS UNDER NEW LAW

DAY'S NEWS OF BANKS

Banking holidays and legislative or executive edicts authorizing restriction of withdrawals in various states yesterday were as follows:

Gov. Rolph of California last night proclaimed a three day bank holiday.

Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, and Arkansas have in force measures authorizing banks to restrict demands of deposits, in most cases 5 per cent.

Gov. Olson of Minnesota signed an emergency measure giving the state commissioner of banks power to authorize state banks to suspend business for short periods.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 1.—Just as soon as the Michigan legislature enacts laws establishing the legality of the limited withdrawal plan, banks of Detroit will be privileged to reopen for business.

This was apparent tonight when leading bankers of the state met with legislators in Lansing and sought to terminate the argument that has waged over legislation for the last two months. In the meantime, Senator James Couzens, who hurried here from Washington today to hold several conferences with bankers and prominent financiers, and who had rushed a relief measure through congress last week, remained in Detroit awaiting developments at Lansing.

It was authoritatively stated that Senator Couzens has consistently op-

When tax-exempt securities are taxable

Many people believe that there will be no tax problem for their heirs if the estate consists of tax-exempt securities. This is not the case, for all securities, even those exempt from Federal income tax, are subject to Federal estate and State inheritance taxes.

Another common misconception is that moderate-sized estates are not affected by the Federal estate tax. Prior to June 6, 1932, there was no Federal estate tax on estates of $100,000 or less, but now all estates of $50,000 are subject to this tax. In Illinois, single bequests of over $20,000 (except certain bequests for charitable, religious, and educational purposes) are subject to the State inheritance tax.

The taxes involved in leaving property should be carefully investigated by everyone who is making a will. Much can be done during your lifetime to minimize the effect of these taxes on your estate. We shall be glad to discuss this important matter with you and your attorney at any time.

New York, March 1.—Bond prices continued on the downgrade today, with the onus of selling falling on high grade utility issues. Losses extending from fractions to more than a point were the rule, as investing institutions liquidated their positions in further reflection of general banking difficulties.

While most the selling in utilities, according to traders in the outside market, came from commercial banks in areas affected by banking difficulties, some part of it was ascribed in some quarters to the marked stiffening of money rates now taking place.

U. S. Issues Guide Utilities.

Also contribunting to the decline has been the weakness in United States government securities, whose yields are something of a yardstick for measuring the relative position of utilities.

Weakness in United States government securities of both long and short maturities was definitely related to the growing tightness of money. Moreover, the prospect for large government financing for March 15, which will require an attractive rate, is depressing to the entire treasury security market.

Speculative Bonds Easier.

A check to the decline was met in mid-afternoon, following passage of the bankruptcy bill, although the pressure of necessitous liquidation weighed heavily upon bonds of all types.

Prime utility bonds to lose ground included such issues as Brooklyn Union Gas 5s, Consolidated Gas of New York 4½s, New England Telephone 4½s, New York Gas, Electric Light, Heat and Power 5s, and others.

Assoc. Tel. Util. Extends Deposit Date to March 31

Associated Telephone Utilities company has extended to March 31 the time for deposit of its 6 per cent secured gold notes due April 1, 1933, under the plan, recently outlined, providing for the extension of the maturity date for two years, or until April 1, 1935.

Wilson & Co.

I shall greatly appreciate any information on bonds and stock of Wilson & Co. A report will help me greatly, as I wish to invest in the concern. —S. T. J.

Wilson & Co., Inc., the third largest meat packing concern in the United States, was originally established in 1853. It now serves almost every important city in the United States. It has a large export business [7½ per cent of gross] from which substantial profits are normally derived. Most of the foreign business is handled through two South American plants.

Tonnage volume of business in the year ended Oct. 29, 1932, was "satisfactorily maintained." Constantly declining prices of meat and meat products were responsible for lower dollar volume of sales in comparison to the two preceding years.

Approximate sales for the year totaled $143,000,000, against $212,000,000 for the 1931 year, $270,000,000 for the Nov. 1, 1930, year, and $310,000,000 for the year ended Nov. 2, 1929.

Net income for the year ended Oct. 29, 1932, was $51,000, or 22 cents per preferred share [including discount of $325,000 on purchase of its own bonds]. Net loss for the preceding year, including $4,000,000 inventory loss and $1,000,000 loss on foreign exchange, was $2,017,000. Net income for the 1930 year was $2,543,000, or $1.52 per class A share, against net of $2,305,000, or 85 cents per class A share, for the 1929 year.

On Oct. 29, 1932, current assets were $28,507,000 and current liabilities were $2,450,000. Cash assets were about $9,700,000. Working capital was $26,057,000, against $27,894,000 the year before.

The release of considerable capital because of lower prices and reduced receivables enabled the company to reduce its funded debt from $18,968,000 to $17,667,000 and its preferred stock from $26,525,000 to $23,445,000. In addition, there are outstanding 334,386 shares of $5 cumulative convertible no par class A and 534,983 shares of no par common.

Nothing is being paid on the preferred. Accumulated preferred dividends amounted to $21 a share on Feb. 1, 1933, and accumulated class A dividends totaled $11.25 per share.

The first 6s, due 1941, are secured by a first mortgage on all properties of the company. They are a business man's investment.

WHEAT FIRMER; MUCH ACREAGE IS ABANDONED

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

May wheat acted more or less congested yesterday and persistent buying of the nearby future against sales of the deferred deliveries, presumably a changing over of hedges on cash grain for northwestern mills, disclosed a lack of pressure. This buying, in connection with bullish private crop estimates and firmness in stocks and cotton, resulted in a rally of ⅞ to 1⅛ cents from the early low and the finish was ⅝ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower, the former on May, which was 47½ to 47⅝ cents at the last. July was 47⅞ cents, and September, 48¾ cents at the close.

The possible abandonment of 6,257,000 acres, or 28 per cent of the winter wheat seeded last fall in Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, and Texas, was indicated by the Miller-Bennett March returns, leaving around 16,218,000 acres for harvest in the four states, or 2,000,000 less than in 1932.

Condition was given as 45 to 59 in the various states, compared with the government Dec. 1 figures of 48 to 70. Nebraska was given a condition of 54, against 70 last December, while Kansas was placed at 45, against 57 late in 1932. The report was construed as decidedly bullish.

Wheat Belt Needs Rain.

A pessimistic view of the probable outcome of the winter wheat crop in the west and southwest was taken by the monthly report of the Santa Fé railway. About half of the seeded acreage in western Kansas is expected to be abandoned and the yield on the balance seriously reduced, while in the eastern counties the yield may run from half to two-thirds of normal with favorable spring weather. Abandonment in western Oklahoma will also be heavy and the same applies to eastern Colorado and Nebraska. In Texas there has been some damage, but Missouri and Illinois appear to have suffered comparatively little. Rains would be beneficial in all sections covered by the railroad.

May wheat in Chicago, which has been around ¾ cent under July recently, went to only ¼ cent under the new crop future at one time yesterday, and there was also a narrowing of the May-September difference. There was buying here against sales in other markets by spreaders. The bulge was checked by selling against offers.

Winnipeg wheat market refused to follow the upturn in Chicago and finished ⅛ to ¼ cent lower, while Liverpool gained ¼ to ½ cent for the day.

Corn Has Closing Rally.

Corn was easy early, but rallied toward the close in sympathy with wheat and closed unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. May finished at 24¼ cents; July at 25¾ cents, and September at 27¼ cents. Trade was largely of a local character and it was impossible to confirm any export business in domestic grain, although there were intimations of sales having been made at the seaboard. Country offerings were distinctly limited and the shipping demand was slow. Cash corn, however, gained ¼ to ½ cent on the May, owing to small offerings.

Oats were dull and closed unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. Rye followed wheat and closed unchanged. Barley was ⅝ cent higher.

SENATORS HEAR THEORIES ABOUT STOCK MARKET

Whitney and U. S. Lawyer Argue Regulation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 1.—The system of individual responsibility and the system of government regulation clashed today at the senate's investigation of stock exchanges and banking in the persons of Richard Whitney, president of the New York stock exchange, and Ferdinand Pecora, committee attorney.

It was Mr. Whitney's handicap that he had to admit that the crash and the depression had happened under his system.

"We were all fooled," he confessed when the attorney inquired why nothing was done to curb the undue inflation of stock prices in 1928 and 1929. But he added: "The New York stock exchange didn't put the prices there."

Argue Duties of Exchange.

Nor would he agree, argue as Mr. Pecora would, that the Stock exchange had any duty to set prices or say when they were too high or too low.

"If you'll tell me how to do that I'd be glad to follow your advice," said Mr. Whitney. "As a matter of fact, if I had tried in 1929 I would have been laughed at."

It was the duty of a stock market, said the witness, to see that companies issuing securities gave to the public full and complete information; that a free and open market was maintained, and that improper trading practices were not indulged in.

"If proper and frequent information is given," he said, "no one in the world can dictate to the individual whether he shall buy or sell. If the condition is put before him it is the individual's duty to study it. It is virtually impossible to find what you call the 'real' value of a security. That is a matter of opinion. The stock exchange cannot set itself up as an oracle. The value of a stock varies from day to day and from week to week."

Decries Government Regulation.

Mr. Whitney did not believe that any government regulation could improve on the stock exchange's practices.

Though the distinction was "delicate," he did not consider speculation in its "true and proper sense" to be gambling.

"I think that speculation, sir," he declared, "has built this country."

At the committee's morning session the senators learned how the National City company, through the National City bank of New York, "loaned" $10,020 to John Ramsey, manager of the Port of New York authority, and charged the sum to its expenses in floating a $66,000,000 port authority bond issue in 1931.

H. C. Sylvester Jr., vice president of the company, and Edward F. Barrett, vice president of the bank, insisted the money was a loan, but admitting that no payment had ever been made.

AVOID THE INEXPERIENCE TAX

INHERITANCE and estate taxes exact their toll from estates—but inexperienced management may prove the heaviest tax of all.

Consider your investments, your insurance money, your real estate, your business interests;

These and many other problems reach far beyond the experience, ability and time of the average individual. They must be handled with foresight and judgment—by experts.

Ask your attorney to revise your Will in the light of present conditions.

STOCKS MOVE HIGHER DESPITE BEARISH NEWS

Railroad Issues Continue to Lead Advance.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 1.—The bulls carried off the meager honors on the stock exchange today. The further spread of the banking holiday movement, the stiff money rates resulting from the moratoriums, and the growing seriousness of the situations in Germany and the far east were the chief handicaps of the forces working for better prices. Further weakness of government bonds and estimates of a moderate decline in the railroad carloadings for the week ended Feb. 25 were other drawbacks of some effect.

Having started their "display of confidence" in the afternoon dealings of yesterday, however, the bulls stuck to their guns and absorbed the offerings as fast as they were put out. For a while around midday the rally began to look really promising, but the absence of public participation and the general gloominess over the banking situation were too much for it. A fair sprinkling of gains of a point or so held out to flavor the closing tables, with lesser gains holding the balance of power in the remainder of the list. The turnover was lower than yesterday at 790,000 shares.

Rails Continue in Van.

Railroad stocks again showed the way, thanks in some measure to the house approval of the revised bankruptcy bill, which is expected to result in railroad reorganizations throughout the country without the necessity of receiverships. Atchison, Lackawanna, New York Central, Norfolk and Western, New Haven, and Southern Pacific were best liked for the lot.

Since the carriers have led most of the market moves of importance for the last three and one-half years the swings of the group are watched with eager interest by tape followers as a clew to the tendency of the general list. Most commentators seem to think that the outlook for the roads is improving on the whole.

Short covering was apparent in such pivotal issues as American Telephone, United States Steel, Aviation Corporation, and Goodyear, and the gains among them ranged to more than a point. The short selling in Aviation was predicted on uncertainty over the air mail subsidy.

Farm implement shares had one of their best days in weeks, Case rising 1⅝ points on buying which grew fairly heavy toward the last. International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, and Sears-Roebuck ignored the hesitancy in the wheat market to move into higher ground.

The public utilities group was unable to share wholeheartedly in the improvement of the general list, Consolidated Gas, Public Service, and one or two others running counter to the trend for losses of from a fraction to a point. American Waterworks was offered rather freely throughout the earlier dealings, but firmed up toward closing time.

The oils were also heavy, Standard of New Jersey selling down to a new low on the move. A slash in crude prices by the Humble Oil company was no great help to the petroleums.

Motors were irregular and dull and the tobaccos looked rather disconsolate most of the session. Gold mining shares loomed up, Homestake advancing more than two points.

Loans on Old House in Elgin.

TO THE EDITOR: So far we haven't had any luck getting any loan in Elgin and even now can't find out the two building and loan associations mentioned in a letter from the Evanston Home Loan bank. Do you think it makes a difference if our home was built over fifteen years ago? They told us at the Home Loan bank that our home had to be less than fifteen years old. We've lived here twenty years and it must be thirty or thirty-five years old, but is in good condition. Five years ago we spent $2,000 in modernizing it. G. A. H.

ANSWER: There are two building and loan associations in Elgin, neither of which is a member in the Home Loan bank. For that reason the Evanston Home Loan bank doesn't give their names and addresses. You can easily get that information in your own town. Your thirty-five year old, modernized home might be in much better shape than a ten year old house cheaply constructed. The question of age is contingent on construction and other matters. There is no definite rule that a house must be less than fifteen years old.

TO THE EDITOR: Can you tell me if the Federal Home Loan bank at Evanston is making loans direct to individuals for renewing mortgages? I know they make loans to building and loan associations, etc., and have been told they have made a few loans to individuals. P. S. S.

ANSWER: The Federal Home Loan bank at Evanston has not yet made any loans direct to individuals, an official of that institution stated yesterday. This should answer many other persons who have asked the same question. When the Evanston Home Loan bank was opened it was officially stated that under certain conditions individual loans might be made, but only when the applicant had failed to get funds from member institutions. In other words, he was to try every building and loan association in his area which was a member of the Home Loan bank before he applied at the Evanston bank.

EGG FUTURES LOWER

Egg futures declined, despite fairly favorable statistical news on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, closing ¼ to ⅝ cent lower. Butter closed unchanged. Eggs came in for considerable selling pressure and, while new buying was present, caution continued. Receipts were sharply under last year, and the movement of storage stocks into storage was less than last year. Butter news improved, and after an early decline March rallied to the previous close. Liquidation appeared at the opening. The four markets reported a better movement than last year. Sales: Butter, 75 cars; eggs, 78 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 5 cars. Prices follow:

COTTON'S TONE STRONGER; CLOSE HIGHEST OF DAY

Cotton had good support on all weak spots and the market showed an improved tone as leading interests took offerings whenever the speculators became anxious to sell. While there was a good break at one time it was all recovered at the last.

Gains in Chicago were 7 to 11 points on futures and other markets 7 to 12 points. Spots in New York were up 10 points to 6.15 cents; New Orleans also up 10 points to 5.95 cents, being the same as Galveston, while Houston was 5.90 cents. Liverpool closed 1 point net higher.

Operating Revenue Lowest Since 1914.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway was operated at a loss of $9,956,800 in 1932, according to the annual report to stockholders made yesterday by Charles Hayden, chairman of the board, and J. E. Gorman, president. The loss in 1931 was $386,544.

Total railway operating revenues were $70,780,026 for 1932, which were the lowest since 1914, and $28,000,000 under the gross revenues for 1931.

"The decrease in operating revenues was due to the continuance through 1932 of the depression in general business that developed in the latter part of 1929 as a result of which traffic and earnings of the line, in common with those of all other carriers, have been severely affected. The revenues of the company were likewise largely affected by the continued use of public highways by trucks and buses."

Operating Expense Cut.

The report stated that total operating expenses in 1932 were reduced $18,185,445, or 24.4 per cent. These reductions were made largely through reducing wages and salaries of all officers and employés, consolidations of divisions, shops, and offices; discontinuance of unprofitable trains, reductions in force; closing stations, and economies in plant maintenance and operation.

Total pay rolls of the company were lower than at any time since 1916. Expenditures for materials and supplies were lower for any year since 1902, at which time the system was organized.

"By agreement between the various labor organizations of the carriers and the company, the 10 per cent reduction in wages agreed on in 1932 has been continued in effect until Oct. 31, 1933. This agreement applies to practically all class one roads and affects about 90 per cent of our employés. Negotiations will be in progress during the year for a further reduction in wages of all organized employés."

R. F. C. Borrowing 10 Millions.

The report states that the company borrowed $10,000,000 during the year from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to meet maturities.

The Rock Island paid $6,530,000, or 6.6 per cent, of its gross debt in taxes during 1931. In 1932 it paid $5,890,000, or 8.3 per cent, of its gross revenues.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1932, shows current assets of $13,409,508, compared with $17,789,114 in 1931. Current liabilities were $27,490,596 as of Dec. 31, 1932, compared with $20,147,858 in 1931.

BANKS TO BENEFIT BY LAWS FROM CRISIS—MELLON

LONDON, March 1.—(AP)—The banking crisis in the United States is only temporary and is not an unmixed evil, United States Ambassador Mellon said today in an address to American newspaper correspondents.

"I am fully confident that this is a temporary crisis," he told the guests at a luncheon, "and that American banking will benefit by the reforms which undoubtedly will come as a result of the difficulties through which we are passing.

"I have lived through similar crises in the '70s and the '90s. I heard predictions of disaster then just as we hear them now, and I saw those predictions followed by complete recovery.

"Certainly it would be very rash indeed to doubt the future of a country which possesses the territory, the climate, the raw materials, and the industrious population which make up the United States."

Plan to Reopen Detroit Banks Under a New Law

posed the setting up of two new banks in Detroit, and has frequently told Detroit bankers "you can work this out for yourselves" without the new banks as proposed. Henry Ford would have owned the new bank.

The proposal of Senator Couzens is concurred in by many officials of the First National bank, while some directors of the Guardian National have also expressed preference for his suggestion over others that have been made in the two weeks since the holiday was proclaimed. It was toward legislation to make such a plan possible, that the bankers worked at Lansing tonight.

Gov. William A. Comstock, whose proclamation closed the banks on Feb. 14, has agreed to get behind the proposed bills and to use executive pressure to push them through the house and senate. He is convinced that immediate action is desirable.

Couzens and Ford Confer.

These developments followed on the heels of a midday conference between Senator Couzens and Henry Ford at the Dearborn offices of the Ford Motor company. Neither man would say what transpired but tonight's developments indicated that they could not agree on plans for lifting Michigan's bank moratorium.

Although not officially announced, it is generally understood that Senator Couzens suggested to the Detroit bankers earlier in the day that they reopen their institutions under similar provisions as those contained in the Broderick law, which was signed last week by the governor of New York. Since the banking holiday was declared in Michigan on Feb. 14 several states have adopted laws similar to the one in New York, but Michigan has passed no emergency legislation.

This law provides for the opening of banks upon a limited withdrawal basis, liquid and frozen assets being segregated, and frozen assets liquidated as rapidly as possible. The banks themselves would handle the release of the frozen assets and thus avoid a federal receivership.

Differs from Ford Plan.

The plan proposed by Henry Ford, and tentatively accepted by the directors of the First National Bank and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce on Sunday, contemplated federal receiverships for both institutions and for the liquidation of the frozen assets. It was pointed out by large depositors that this would have resulted immediately in a sharp depreciation of the assets of the banks.

Senator Couzens was understood to have been opposed to the proposal to establish two new banks from the time the holiday proclamation was issued by Gov. Comstock. He believed that the institutions could work out of their own difficulties, with some assistance from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Senator Couzens stated, following his meeting with the Fords, that as far as he knew there had been no change in status of the loan of the R. F. C., announced Sunday, which calls for $54,000,000 to First National bank and $24,000,000 to the Guardian National Bank of Commerce.

Indiana Trade Jogs Along.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—(AP)—Business continued to jog along in Indiana today despite deposit withdrawal restrictions put into effect by approximately half of its state and national banks. Reports of the Indianapolis clearing house showed that the limitation of withdrawals had produced no serious restraint on exchange.

Alabama Bank Holiday.

Birmingham, Ala., March 1.—[Special.]—All Alabama banks were closed at noon today as the state joined ranks of a number of other states in declaring a banking holiday.

The order, made through a proclamation by Gov. B. M. Miller, is scheduled to be effective until noon of March 10.

The governor's proclamation said he had been informed that "the banking structure of the state is fundamentally sound," and that the bank holiday had been made necessary by similar holidays in other states, "which may result in serious contraction of free commerce between them and this state to such an extent as to unnecessarily embarrass banking operations."

H. H. Montgomery, state superintendent of banks, said the latest reports on state banks showed deposits of $45,000,000, with total resources of $64,000,000.

The three banks of Mobile will disregard the 10 day holiday, their officials saying they did not consider such action necessary here.

Kentucky Banks on Holiday.

Frankfort, Ky., March 1.—[Special.]—Many banks in Kentucky today took advantage of the four day banking holiday proclaimed by Gov. Ruby Laffoon and remained closed. In some cities, however, banks stayed open. The governor's proclamation is not mandatory.

Banks may reopen during the last three days of the holiday period and limit withdrawals to five per cent of deposits at the close of business Feb. 28. One five per cent withdrawal for the four day holiday would be permitted.

Maryland Holiday Extended.

Baltimore, Md., March 1.—[Special.]—Although the emergency banking bill for protection of depositors and to strengthen the weaker financial institutions was being pushed through the legislature tonight, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie again extended the holiday over tomorrow.

Minnesota Has New Law.

St. Paul, Minn., March 1.—[Special.]—A bill was signed today by Gov. Floyd Olson giving the state banking commissioner authority to permit a bank to suspend business for not longer than fifteen days. Under this new law the banking commissioner would be in active charge of arrangements for possible reorganization under such a suspension. The law is effective until Jan. 1, 1935.

Order Holiday in Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn., March 1.—(AP)—Tennessee's six day banking holiday, proclaimed early today by Gov. Hill McAlister, was only partly observed and the governor said observance was not mandatory.

All banks here displayed "legal holiday" notices and those in Memphis declared a "one day holiday." Jackson took similar action. The Chattanooga banks and those in Knoxville and other east Tennessee cities were open for business as usual.

Bank Holiday in Oklahoma.

Louisiana Takes Holiday.

New Orleans, La., March 1.—(AP)—Gov. O. K. Allen tonight issued a proclamation declaring a three day holiday throughout Louisiana for "all public business, including banks and other public enterprises." The three day holiday begins tomorrow and lasts through Saturday.

Nevada Pushes Bank Bills.

Carson City, Nev., March 1.—(AP)—The state board of finance, under a bill introduced in the state senate today, would be permitted to authorize any bank in the state, upon application, to restrict the percentage of withdrawals from all accounts.

The assembly, meanwhile, sent to its banks and banking committee a bill which would, if enacted, give the governor power to proclaim bank holidays when, in his opinion, the necessity arises.

Idaho Passes Holiday Bill.

Boise, Idaho, March 1.—(AP)—Authority was granted today by the Idaho legislature for the governor to declare a moratorium on mortgage foreclosures and suspensions in other business operations through proclaiming "legal holidays." Gov. Ben Ross said he would sign it.

The holidays may be declared for 60 day periods, the periods to be renewed "as the governor may deem necessary."

Mississippi Limits Withdrawals.

Jackson, Miss., March 1.—(AP)—Effective tomorrow, withdrawals from Mississippi banks will be limited under a decree issued tonight by State Superintendent of Banks J. S. Love. The action was taken for the protection of state banks and their depositors and does not reflect on their financial condition, Mr. Love said.

East St. Louis Imposes Limit.

East St. Louis, Ill., March 1.—(AP)—Describing their action as a "temporary" measure, the three banks of this city today announced they had limited withdrawals of deposits to 5 per cent. The restrictions do not apply to deposits of today or later, and do not apply to checks drawn for payment of taxes.

The banks are the First National bank of East St. Louis, the Union Trust company and the Southern Illinois Bank and Trust company, which had total deposits of $13,200,000 on Capital Curbs Withdrawals.

Washington, D. C., March 1.—(AP)—Limitation of withdrawals to 5 per cent of balances on account was imposed by the District National bank, with officers announcing it was to protect the interest of depositors. Several savings banks invoked the right to require sixty day notices on withdrawals.

Pennsylvania Law Used.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—[Special.]—Four banks here today restricted withdrawals of deposits under the new law passed by the legislature. They are the Commercial National bank, Sixth National bank, Northwestern National bank, and the Kensington Security Bank and Trust company. No rate of withdrawal has yet been set, it was stated.

Georgia Shuns Holiday.

Atlanta, Ga., March 1.—(AP)—R. G. Gormley, state superintendent of banks, said tonight a banking holiday "is not deemed necessary" in Georgia.

LIVE STOCK PEPS UP AND PRICES RANGE HIGHER

Live stock fared a trifle better in yesterday's session. Prices in several divisions of the yards tilted upward as the day ended. The hog trade pepped up rather suddenly after it had gone through part of the forenoon at Tuesday's slow pace. At the close all hogs were in good demand at 10 to 15 cents advance, heavy stock getting just a little the best of the competition.

The extreme top for load lots advanced 5 cents to $3.65, but one small lot of 31 hogs averaging 210 pounds sold at $3.75, the highest mark since Feb. 14. Prices averaged $3.45, or 10 cents above Tuesday's average. Extremely heavy butchers comprised a greater part of the supply. Several full loads of prime 325 to 400 pound averages cashed at $3.25 to $3.40, while one exceptional load of 616 pound butchers sold at $3.00. These were the heaviest hogs seen here in some time. The 46 head brought $852.

Light Cattle in Demand.

Light steers and yearling stock attracted most of the buying orders in the cattle alleys and prices in the better grades averaging 1,100 pounds and lighter were strong to 25 cents higher. They cleared early in the day, with the peak price at $3.70 highest since the second week of January, when $7.35 was paid.

Fancy 1,069 pound Nebraska steers brought $7.30, but only a a very small portion of the total receipts were eligible to more than $6.25. The majority of steers cashed from $4.25 to $6.25, some 1,000 pound cattle of beef merit selling as low as $3.50 and thin ill bred stock of low yield at $3.00 and less.

Lambs Recover Loss.

The lamb market was slow to respond yesterday, but a mild recovery was made in the better grades and before the session ended costs of droves were generally a shade above the average prices of Tuesday. City butchers paid a 10 cents higher top of $5.65 for two carloads of Wisconsin and Colorado lambs. Packers obtained the bulk of the crop at $5.50 and below.

Matured sheep held firm, with light ewes at $3.00. Average costs of old sheep are at the highest point since last April and have been for several weeks.

ASSETS LISTED BY TRAVELERS INSURANCE CO.

The Travelers Insurance company reports total assets of $674,493,000 at the close of 1932. Of the total, $85,000,000 is represented by investments in United States government bonds.

L. Edmund Zacker, president, said in his report that the company disbursed 460 million dollars in policy benefits, including policy loans, during the last three years. The performance is evidence of the ability of insurance to adjust itself to changing conditions, he said.

Travelers Indemnity company reports assets of $20,120,000, including United States government securities of $1,714,000. Travelers Fire Insurance company showed assets of $16,055,000, including $3,025,000 in United States government bonds. United States government securities constitute 12.2 per cent of the assets of the three companies and 13.3 per cent are in other public securities.

BORDEN CO. HAS 1932 EARNINGS OF $1.71 A SHARE

The Borden company earned net profit of $7,525,000, or $1.71 a share, in 1932, against $16,089,000, or $3.66 a share, in the preceding year.

Sales were $212,349,000, against $284,587,000 in 1931, a 25 per cent decrease. Tonnage sales were off 12 per cent.

There were outstanding 4,396,754 shares of capital stock with a par value of $109,882,000 at the end of the year. There are no senior securities out. Working capital stood at $39,727,000. This was a decrease of $3,920,000, which is explained by reductions in inventories and inventory values.

SOLUTION TO THE DEATH WATCH
Because the pieces of pipe stem extracted by the police surgeon from O'Brien's hand proved conclusively that he, O'Brien, could not have (as Swanson stated) grabbed his revolver and flashlight. See it?

It was later proved that Swanson shot O'Brien in cold blood but unfortunately for the murderer O'Brien, at the time, was holding his pipe in his hand, the bullet driving pieces of the stem into his palm.
